The New British Drive

London, July 14, 5.55 p. m.—Reuter's correspondent at the British front telegraphs that the British forces have captured Bazentin Le Petit and most of the village of Ovillers.

A subsequent despatch from Reuter's correspondent on the British front says that later reports tend to confirm the first accounts of the success of the British attack this morning. The German second line was carried with small loss, the correspondent says, and the Germans surrendered freely. He reports that one regimental commander and his staff, three artillery officers and about 150 infantry officers and men had been brought into one camp by 9 o'clock this morning. In addition to the villages already reported captured, the correspondent says Bazentin Le Petit has been taken by storm. Fighting also is proceeding against Ovillers and virtually the entire village is in the hands of the British. Several German counter attacks against the positions just won have been repulsed by the British, who are now consolidating their gains. The British troops are in high spirits over their success.

Exciting Game in St. Peter's League

Roses and Thistles Play Eleven Innings as Result of Score's

One of the most exciting games of baseball played in this city in years took place in St. Peter's league last evening when the Roses and Thistles clashed. The game went eleven innings owing to an error in scoring—the official scorer being absent. At the end of the ninth the Roses were in the lead 4 to 2, but as they were informed that they had played only eight innings the game proceeded. In the last of the tenth the Thistles tied the score and in the eleventh the Roses sent one runner across the plate and the Thistles two, making the score 6 to 5. The error was detected before the players left the field, and Captain McMurray of the Roses immediately entered a protest, claiming the game, as his team had been leading at the end of the ninth.

The game was one of the hardest and most evenly contested seen on a local diamond in years. There were four double plays, two by the Roses and two by the Thistles. Donnelly, who was playing short stop for the Roses, gave a fine demonstration of how Ty Cobb runs bases. His fielding was also of a sensational brand and he won well-merited applause. Milan played a star game in centre field for the Thistles, cutting off many runs and hits which would have gone into Marble Cove had they got away from him.

Hansen was on the mound for the Roses and Doyle for the Thistles. Both pitched well and were ably assisted by Jack O'Toole and Joe Dever on the receiving end. The other players in both teams played well and the game kept the fans keyed up until the last of the eleventh. The game did not end even at that time for the fans and players were replaying the game and going over plays for some hours afterwards.

"Bullets and Brown Eyes"—Master picture, Gem, this afternoon and tonight, 7 to 8.

Alleging that he was deprived of the ability to chew tobacco by injuries he suffered when a street car ran into the team he was driving, a teamster of Indianapolis is suing the car company for damages.

Fare (who has a train to catch): "I say, cabby, can't you reach the station any faster than that?" Ancient Jehu: "Oo aye! I could, but I'm no allowed tea leave me."

"Cy" Young Holds Pitching Record

Pitched 23 Innings of Hitless Ball and Retired 65 Batters in Order

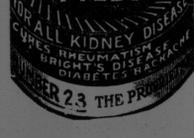

Detroit, Mich., July 18—Tom Hughes of the Boston Nationals, recently pulled off a nice stunt when he worked in sixteen consecutive innings without allowing a base hit to be made off his delivery, but it is hardly nice enough to be a major league record, although many papers published the feat as being the best record in this line. There are many records in baseball which have the performance of "Long Tom" fabled in minor leagues the mark of pitching sixteen consecutive innings of hitless ball is by no means common, but it has been accomplished on a dozen or more occasions. In the majors the real holder of this record is no less a personage than the Hon. Denton Teemich Young, of the Boston Doves.

Mr. Young better known as "Cy," is the holder of several other records in unusual feats in the pitching line. It was in 1904 that Young proceeded to shatter all records in this line, and before he got through he had created a new record in hurling hitless ball and one which was less clean-cut and without a spot or blemish and without a doubt the greatest feat of pitching the game ever witnessed. On July 30, 1904, against the Washington team Young took Winters' place in the third inning, no one out, and pitched out the game retiring the next twenty-one batters in order. Young's next game took place May 6, against the Athletic Club of Philadelphia in the days when Connie Mack sported a real ball game, "Cy" Young pitched the best game of his long and honorable career, and retired twenty-seven of these famous swatmen of Mack in a row. In a game against the Detroiters on May 14, Denton Teemich pitched his famous 16-inning one-to-nothing game against the Tigers, and in the first seven innings Young set them down without a base hit.

This would give the great "Cy" twenty-three innings of hitless ball, or other words, as far as the record shows, twenty-seven batters stepped to the plate and were retired in succession. In the same period, the big Oleonian pitched forty-eight consecutive innings, wherein his opponents failed to get a run across the plate. After his no-hit, no-run game against the Athletics, he pitched thirteen innings of runless ball, as mentioned, against the Tigers with Ed Killian opposing him. It was a battle royal, and the clever Killian met defeat by a score of 1-0.

Just as one pitcher in the history of baseball, that is, a hurler who was working in a league of recognized standing and class, is credited with pitching two consecutive games in succession, wherein the opposing batters failed to register a base hit. A big pitcher sailing under the name of Gene Wright, who pitched for the Dayton Club of the Western Association, back in 1901, on September 1, of that season, pitched a no-hit no-run game against Columbus. He followed this feat by turning the same trick against the Grand Rapids team on September 4. Adde Joss and George Mullen made their respective reputations in that league. Wright and Joss were signed by the Cleveland team, and G. Mullen was taken over by the Detroit Club.

Mathewson May Never Pitch Again

Famous Specialist Says He Has a Rib Detached from Spine—Tereau and Lobert Also on Injured List

Cincinnati, July 12—"Bonsetter" Reese, of Youngstown, O., on whom Mathewson, Tereau and Lobert called on Sunday, were thoroughly examined by the famous specialist and the result of it was startling. Mathewson was found to have a rib detached from his spine, and it is doubtful if he will be able to pitch another game this season, if ever.

The veteran was out on the field yesterday afternoon, however, taking light practice in hitting the ball to fellow players. It was against the advice of Dr. Reese. Matty has been troubled with his back for some time and it was noticed that in his last game on the Polo Grounds he was in pain. He has not pitched much since.

Fletcher is also on the injured list from a badly damaged right wrist, hurt on Saturday, when Pitcher Mammaux, of the Pirates hit it with a speedy inshoot. Arthur will be laid up for a week, Mike Doolan taking his place.

WILL THE WAR HALT ATHLETICS FOR MANY YEARS?

It has been the general impression in the United States that the war abroad has killed athletics in Europe, or at least among the conflicting nations which take up most of the space on the map, for a good many years to come. Reports of the death of one champion after another in every line of sporting activity have tended to deepen this impression until it has attained the force of conviction. In truth, the roll of fatalities among men who have been prominent in all the branches of athletics has been extremely heavy. It has seemed as though the machinery of modern destruction has taken an inanimate delight in scrapping the physical machines which were recognized as the finest embodiment of the power and skill of modern manhood. Statistics of wholesale casualties have become commonplace. People have lost the power of becoming shocked at them, but what man who remembers that life and gloriously powerful Australian who helped his country to an international championship at Forest Hills after the war had actually begun, can fail to experience the initial horror of life sacrificed which was forced upon him when the news came that Anthony E. Wilding had fallen on the plains of Flanders?

An interesting feature of the new list of the recipients of the Military Cross is the appearance in it of the names of two brothers, Lord Dunsany and Neil Primrose, M.P.
