NEW BRUNSWICK EXPORT CLUB IS WELL LAUNCHED

Business Men Endorse Organization to Promote Foreign Trade

OFFICIALS GIVE INSPIRING TALK

W. McL. Clarke and A. E. Bryant, Ottawa, Promise Assistance to Club

At a well attended meeting at the Board of Trade rooms yesterday afternoon it was decided to form an export club for New Brunswick and at a dinner last evening at the Union Club the first steps in organization were taken. Inspiring addresses were given at the afternoon meeting by W. McL. Clarke, director, and A. E. Bryant, inspector of the commercial intelligence branch of the department of trade and commerce. A concrete example of what could be done, even with the present inadequate shipping facilities, was given by Allan McLean of Connors Bros. Ltd., who told the meeting of some of the countries to which his firm was shipping cargoes.

The opinion was expressed by several of those present that an export club, in which the members would get together and discuss their troubles and successes, would go a long way toward solving some of the problems facing the manufacturers and producers of the province and they would be able to bring influence to bear to secure better steamer services.

W. S. FISHER PRESIDES
The chair was taken by W. S. Fisher, who briefly outlined the reason for the calling of the meeting, which was to hear Mr. Clarke and Mr. Bryant tell of the service rendered by the commercial intelligence branch of the Department of Trade and Commerce and to consider the advisability of forming an export club for New Brunswick.

Export was a subject, he said, in which this province was vitally interested, inasmuch as the markets of central Canada were practically closed to us. It was felt by some that the formation of an export club would help to find markets and thus stimulate production.

MR. CLARKE HEARD
He then called on Mr. Clarke to address the meeting. Mr. Clarke said he was very glad to visit this native city and felt the move to form an export club was one that would have a beneficial result.

In the cities in which such clubs had been formed they had stimulated interest in overseas trade. Canada was today, he said, one of the leading nations of the world in export and her standing in the family of nations was due to the balance of trade in her favor. In 1910 she had been exporting to 68 countries and today she was exporting to 108 countries.

SCATTERED THROUGH WORLD
Turning to the activities of the commercial intelligence branch, he said that 28 trade commissioners were located in different parts of the world and the office at Ottawa was equipped to furnish information about possibilities of trade in any part of the world. He pointed out that the exporter must be prepared to take a long view and not consider that all was lost if one transaction went bad. He expressed the opinion that the formation of export clubs in the various parts of the Dominion would tend to bring about a better understanding between the provinces.

A. E. BRYANT TALKS
A. E. Bryant, inspector of trade commissioners, said he was glad to hear there was a prospect of organizing an export club in New Brunswick as he felt it would do much to help the shippers of the province. He has just returned from Japan and gave some figures showing the growth of exports to that country from Canada since this country had kept a trade commissioner there.

To show that Canadian manufacturers can compete with the world he instanced a shipment of New Brunswick chocolates to Japan which stood up better than their American competitors and were landed in Japan at a cheaper price than the manufacturers in San Francisco were able to place theirs.

FAVORS MOVE
He urged co-operation between the exporters of the province and assured them they would have the support and co-operation of the commercial intelligence department.

TO GIVE ASSISTANCE
Mr. Clarke said that in order to help the club he would have his department furnish the Board of Trade with full information on the commodities in which they would be interested and this would be sent to them during March and April.

The chairman said that while the Board of Trade would undertake the detail work it was understood that it was not necessary to be a member of the board to join the export club and that it was hoped to have all manufacturers and producers in the province

Girl Bellringer

The Ladies' Guild of Change Ringers in England recently kept up the ringing of the bells at the Church of St. Clements, the Strand, London, for three and a half hours, and Miss R. Hawkesworth, in the picture, aged 18, rang the tenor bell, weighing 35 hundredweight. These are the bells which, according to the old English rhyme, sang "Oranges and Lemons, said the bells of St. Clements."

Interested in export became affiliated with it.
