BAPTISTS MEET IN 3 GATHERINGS

German Street Y. M. A. Has Banquet at Admiral
Beatty

Central Church Function Also is Held—Ludlow Street Has Harvest Supper.

Officers for the coming year were elected and a banquet and social evening in the Admiral Beatty Hotel enjoyed last night by the German street Baptist Y. M. A. The reports for the last year were read, solos were given and toasts were drunk by the members, who attended in good numbers.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, J. Neal Dow; vice-president, D. L. McRoberts; secretary-treasurer, V. B. Collins. Committee chairmen, social, J. B. Hamm; music, David Thomson; religious work, P. C. Manning; membership, H. E. Magnusson; publicity, F. W. Ennis; committee to administer ministerial student's fund, A. G. Gunter.

MR. GUNTER IN CHAIR.

Mr. Gunter presided at the meeting. Rev. Dr. S. S. Poole said grace. Chorus were sung by the company under the leadership of Dr. P. L. Bonnell, and Dr. Bonnell and Paul B. Cross sang solos. A saxophone solo was given by Cedric Flewelling. Toasts were proposed and responded to as follows: "The Church," Dr. W. P. Bonnell and Rev. Dr. S. S. Poole; "The Y. M. A.," F. W. Ennis and A. G. Gunter; "Our Leader," M. V. Matthews and W. C. Cross.

Rev. E. R. McWilliam gave an address on the underlying principles of success. He called attention to the wide gulf between outstanding success and failure, but declared that, in spite of all that was said to the contrary, there were far more successes than failures.

CHARACTER ESSENTIAL.

Character was a great builder of success, he said, but self-control was the chief thing. Other factors were secondary in importance to this. The Greeks had a saying, "Know thyself," he said, and he thought proper self-study would lead to self-mastery.

The man looking for success should not wait for opportunity to come to him, but should go out and make opportunities for himself. He must learn to control his tongue if he desired to succeed. He concluded by saying that courage was another vital item that could not be overlooked.

The Men's Bible Class and the Philathea Class of the Central Baptist church assembled together in the Sunday school last night for an excellent banquet which marked the opening of the new season. The gathering was one of the largest and most enthusiastic there in recent years. Rev. James

PLANE WEIGHS ONLY 320 POUNDS

Here's the "Bumble Bee" plane, so called because it weighs only 320 pounds ready for flight. It is driven by a motorcycle air-cooled engine and is capable of flying 100 miles an hour for eight hours. On a recent test, despite its light weight, the plane, which will be the entry of the Johnson Airplane Co., of Dayton, in the Mitchell Field trophy races, carried 185 pounds.

Dunlop, pastor, presided and referred to the purpose of the men's class. He said that the men were not coming together merely to repeat prayers and to sing hymns, but that religion and education were to fit the men for service in the community. He believed that the test of the Men's Brotherhood was the service that it loyally rendered to the church and to the community.

C. R. Mercereau sang very pleasingly. Kenneth Wilson, for the men guests, and Mrs. Ellsworth Scott, for the women guests, expressed good wishes. Mrs. M. McKelvey gave a delightful vocal solo; Walter Chase made a plea on behalf of the men's class. Mrs. W. H. Downie, president of the Philathea, welcomed the new teacher of the class, Mrs. Edith Stevens, and referred to the class as being thoroughly organized, representative and united. Mrs. Stevens spoke briefly in acknowledgment.

The hearty thanks of the banqueters presented on motion of Archie Gillis. Mrs. W. H. Downie was convener for the banquet, which the Philathea Class provided. Miss Beryl Blanch was programme convener. The purveyors were Mrs. W. G. Sanction and Mrs. L. Saunders. The committee in charge of the banquet included Mrs. B. A. Smith, Miss Emma Smith, Miss M. Myers and Miss Maud Logue. The girls of Mrs. H. S. Wanamaker's class were efficient servers. The table was arranged in the form of a Maltese cross, and the pretty decorations were in the colors of the Philathea, orange and blue.

LUDLOW STREET.

A very successful harvest supper was held last night in the Ludlow street Baptist church rooms by the Ladies' League of the church and realized a satisfactory sum for the funds of the church. Mrs. C. E. Belva is the president of the league and Mrs. William Gray is secretary. The convener for the supper were Mrs. J. J. Merryfield and Mrs. Gray. The tables were very attractively decorated with autumn leaves and red berries, and the excellent supper, which was nicely served, was well patronized.

Next Sunday to be Featured by Addresses in Anglican Pulpits

Meetings in All Parishes to Follow During Week—
Objects Told.

The laymen of the Church of England throughout the province of New Brunswick are forming themselves into a laymen's association for the purpose of helping the work of the church in a way which has not been attempted before.

In Saint John on Sunday next the Anglican churches will observe "Laymen's Sunday," which will be featured by an address in each church by a selected layman, speaking from the chancel steps. The origin and aims of this movement will be explained to the congregations with an appeal to all laymen to take an active part in it.

Addresses will be given in each of the following churches: Trinity, St. John's (Stone) and St. Jude's at both morning and evening services; St. Paul's and St. Luke's at the morning service; St. George's, St. Mary's, St. James', the Good Shepherd, Fairville, and the Mission Church of St. John Baptist at the evening service. The following laymen will make the addresses: W. S. Fisher, R. Frith, C. G. Kirby, Lieut.-Col. W. H. Harrison, H. Osher Miller, Col. B. Armstrong, W. L. Harding, S. G. Olive, F. Short, W. T. Lapralem.

MEETINGS ARRANGED.

Following the addresses on Sunday, meetings of laymen will be held in each parish during the same week, at which parish laymen's associations will be formed and officers elected.

The extension of the movement throughout the diocese will be proceeded with this fall and it is expected that an organization of laymen in each parish will be effected before Christmas.

A diocesan committee was appointed at the last synod with the following representation: Diocesan chairman—W. S. Fisher, Saint John; diocesan secretary, R. Frith, Saint John; diocesan treasurer, F. T. Short, Saint John.

Saint John deanery—C. G. Kirby, vice chairman; S. G. Olive, Lieut.-Col. W. H. Harrison.

Kingston deanery—C. Coster, vice chairman; Col. B. Armstrong, Dr. G. Acheson.

Shediac deanery—C. E. S. Robertson, vice chairman; E. P. Smith; G. A. Dodge.

Chatham deanery—C. P. Burchill, vice chairman; G. W. Ellis, E. J. Biss.

Woodstock deanery—Hon. W. P. Jones, vice chairman; Alexander Ritchie, H. F. Seely.

St. Andrews deanery—W. A. Holt, vice chairman; C. H. Maxwell, J. Flewelling.

The objects of the association are: "To bring home to laymen their responsibility for the success of the church's work, by organized study and consideration of what the work of the church actually is, and make every member familiar with the many and various activities of the church, by study, addresses and discussions.

"To consider the problems which have to be faced, and provide the means and methods by which they can be solved.

"To distribute the burden of the church work more evenly among laymen.

"To develop the special talents and knowledge of many laymen for the use of the church.

"To bring about a sense of corporate union between all parishes by means of which advice and assistance may be interchanged.

"To break down the present apathy to the work of the church now existing among laymen, which is largely caused by lack of knowledge of the work and therefore interest in it and also to overcome the disinclination to take an active part because it is not being generally done by others.

"To set an example to the rising generation worthy of one's churchmanship."

GAMMON IS FREED

Grand Jury Finds True Bill But Authorities Can't Produce Body.

HALIFAX, Oct. 8.—Duncan Gammon, of Pictou, N. S., charged with the murder of his wife, Sarah Gammon, an English war bride, was dismissed from custody this afternoon on nolle prosequi proceedings, following the return of a true bill against him by the Grand Jury, in the Supreme Court here at 12:30 this afternoon.

The theory of the police at the time of Gammon's arrest was that the woman had been murdered somewhere between Pictou and Truro, N. S., between the afternoon of September 5 and the morning of September 10. Since Gammon's arrest all attempts to find the body of his wife have been unavailing.

HAS GOOD WORD FOR HATCHERIES HERE

Ottawa Official Visits Loch
Lomond Plant and Expresses Strong Approval.

Andrew Halkett, associate zoologist of marine biology, of the Federal Department of Marine and Fisheries, was in the city yesterday on his way to Newcastle, and paid a visit to the fish hatcheries on the Loch Lomond Road.

He was enthusiastic in his praise of the work of the hatcheries and declared them to be a magnificent plant, especially rich in the variety of the fish propagated. Mr. Halkett visits the Maritime Provinces annually to carry out research work and this season he has been conducting his observations in Richibucto, Buctouche, Cocagne, Shediac and Cape Tormentine in New Brunswick and in Borden and Charlottetown in Prince Edward Island and at Mahone Bay in Lunenburg county, Nova Scotia.

He has been doing a great deal of microscope work this season and his research has been chiefly on the spawning functions of oysters, scallops, lobsters and smelts. In the preceding season he carried on similar work in regard to the habits of the quahog.

During his work in the Maritime Provinces this season he addressed a lobster packers' meeting in Prince Edward Island, giving the packers an insight into scientific facts concerning the lobsters.

His report on his season's work is to be submitted to the department, which he said, would be favorable concerning the scallop beds of Mahone Bay.

The fish hatcheries are outside of his own special work, but he had visited both the hatcheries near Saint John and at Newcastle.

In the Saint John fishery he specially approved the fine condition of the more mature fish under artificial culture. He thought it was remarkable that there should be speckled, rainbow, Loch Leven and brown trout and Atlantic salmon all under successful culture.

After his visit to Newcastle on leaving Saint John Mr. Halkett will return to Ottawa to carry to a further stage some of the research work he is engaged upon.
