the leaders of the other parties will escape contests.

There are many instances of fathers and sons appealing for election, mostly on the same tickets. Noteworthy among the parents whose parliamentary lead is thus followed are Prime Minister MacDonald, John Robert Clines and Arthur Henderson, and among the Liberals, former Premier Lloyd George and Sir Alfred Mond. A striking exception to family political striking exception to family political agreement is that of the Baldwins, the Conservative leader's son, Oliver, being an ardent champion of Labor.

Doll But May Die Los Angeles, Oct. 18—Wide-eyed Sara Balorsky, aged four years, is dying because she obeyed an instinct old as mankind.

When Sara's doll caught fire in her home the girl rushed to save it. Her clothing burst into flame, and before her mother could reach her sara had been burned so severely that hospital surgeons despaired of that hospital surgeons despaired of saving her life. "Mother, my dolly burn—I tried to save it," Sara had cried as Mrs. Balorsky swiftly wrapped a blanked about the fire-tortured body.

Belfast News Letter. Mr. Fisher is believed to hold nciliatory views, and not to support the extremist "Not one inch" party of the Ulster premier, Sir James Craig, which party is against any change which will take the slightest amount of territory from the northern area. It is believed the appointment nakes a deadlock less likely.

The Anglo-Irish Treaty provided for adjustment of the boundary between Northern and Southern Ireland by a Northern and Southern Ireland by a Commission of three members, one each to be named by Ulster, the Free State and the British Government.

Ulster objecting to any revision of the frontier, which might cut into her territory, repeatedly refused to name a representative. Amending legislation just completed by the British and Free State Parliaments authorizes the appointment of the third member of the British Government, the appointee being considered a representative of the Northern Irish Government.

GENERAL MANAGER Witness Testifies That Col. Mason Stopped Home Bank

Branch Inspection. Toronto, Oct. 18.—That he had been stopped from making an inspection of the liabilities in the Toronto branch of the Home Bank by the late J. C. Mason, General Manager, was a statement made in the witness stand yesterday by Sidney F. Stephens, Home Bank inspector, at the trial of Clarence F. Smith, Home Bank director, on charges of making false statements of the bank's affairs. Witness stated that Col. Mason had come to him and told him to discontinue the inspection. He made a report of a routine inspection only. Evidence taken from letters written by the accused to the General Manager of the bank showed that Smith had interseted himself in the Barnhard account with the bank, and endeavored to have Barnard put up more security.
