After the presentations the troop was disbanded.

On Tuesday evening about forty cub

sat down to a very enjoyable supper

prepared by their cub-master and some of the senior scouts. After supper the cub engaged in some cub games, after which they broke up, all voting the meeting a grand success.

Birch Bark and its Uses.

Few materials used in the woods and utilized by the Indians, are capable of more numerous uses than birch bark.

This is very widely found throughout

North America, northward of the Arctic and southward to Pennsylvania and Iowa, though not equally so in all localities. The Indians, or Six Nations, some of whom still live in New York and Southern Ontario, found birch bark much more abundant and made canoes and household utensils of the latter, but were delighted to trade corn and other products for the light and beautiful birch bark canoes made by the Algonquin tribes further north.

The white bark of the white or canoe

birch is removed from the tree more easily in the latter part of June or July,

having a tendency to stick at other times. The tree is girdled in two places, a vertical cut being made between the two circular cuts and the bark peeled off

carefully. The Indians sometimes succeed in getting a sheet fifteen or sixteen feet long, thus forming a bottom for the canoe in one piece. Generally, however, two pieces have to be taken. The canoes are sewn with spruce root, which is pulled up in long pieces in the woods, split into slender strips, soaked to make them flexible, and used for sewing by punching holes in the bark with an awl. The last step in canoe making is to cover the seams carefully with spruce gum, which has been boiled to thicken it, and sometimes blackened by adding powdered charcoal.

The sewing and gumming are here mentioned since exactly the same materials are used in making of birch boxes and trays. If the latter are not intended to hold liquids, the gumming may, however, be left out. The tops of the best made baskets are strengthened by sewing around them hoops made of the slender branches of various shrubs.

"An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth a Pound of Cure."

A disturbance of the even balance of health, which often occurs in these trying days of reconstruction may cause serious trouble. Nobody can be too careful to keep this balance up.

When people begin to lose appetite, or to get tired easily, the least imprudence brings on sickness, weakness, or debility. The system needs a tonic, craves it, and should not be denied it; and the best tonic that many people recommend is Hood's Serravallo's.

What this medicine has done in keeping healthy people healthy, in keeping up the even balance of health, gives it the same distinction as a preventive that it enjoys as a cure. Its early use has illustrated the wisdom of the old saying that "a stitch in time saves nine."

Preventive treatment now and then calls for the use of a good cathartic or laxative, like Hood's Pills, which are purely vegetable and act quickly and thoroughly.

RECENT DEATHS

The death of Andrew Kady, formerly of this province, is recorded in the Kansas Optimist of Jamestown, Kansas. He was born in Suabury county, May 25, 1858, and was married in 1882, going to Kansas in 1877. He is survived by six children, twenty-two grandchildren, and twenty great-grandchildren. He also leaves two sisters.

The death of Miss Mary Elizabeth Peatman occurred at her home in Moncton on Tuesday. She was a native of Greenwich, Kings county, and was born in 1846. The funeral was held today.

The body of Mrs. Daniel Taylor, whose death occurred at her home in Cherryfield, on Tuesday, was taken to Hillaboro on Thursday for interment. She is survived by her husband, six children and two sisters.

The death of Mrs. Thomas Frankland occurred at Grand Manan on Saturday, May 7. Besides her husband she leaves to mourn her parents, two sisters and two brothers. The funeral took place on Sunday.

LESS BEGGING THAN IN 1914

Theft in France, However,

Has Increased—More Crime

Amongst Women and Children.

Paris, April 12.—(Associated Press, by Mail).—There is 60 per cent less begging in France than previous to 1914, according to police statistics, but theft has increased in about the same proportion. The police explain this phenomena by saying that the temptation, constantly held out to the gaily inclined to enjoy themselves appeals to those who cannot afford it as well as to those that can.

Criminality among women and children has notably increased. Among a hundred persons found guilty of crime before the war there were 12 women and five minors; there are now 60 women and 14 minors in every hundred convicted.

Besides the temptation to have a good time, the police say sensational moving pictures have had a good deal to do with the development of crime among women and children.

Cases of assault and battery and other offenses which are largely credited to alcoholism, have decreased. This is attributed to the suppression of absinth and to abetment habits acquired when war-time restrictions made it impossible to drink at all hours of the day.

SUBSTITUTE RATIONING FOR PROHIBITION

Copenhagen May 14.—The Norwegian government, says the National Tidende, will soon introduce in parliament a bill proposing to substitute the present temporary system of absolute prohibition with a system of rationing similar to that adopted in Sweden. The measure also will provide that all profits derived from the sale of alcohol will be employed for the furthering of social reforms.

THE CATTLE TRADE

Montreal Gazette:—As a compensating set-off against slackness in ocean cargoes this season, the port of Montreal is beginning to benefit by a renewal of cattle traffic to the United Kingdom and the continent of Europe. The traffic died down during the war, and is only beginning to revive. Since the opening of navigation this year about 2,000 head of cattle, all from Western Canada, have been shipped overseas, the traffic being divided so far between the Furness, Withy Company, the White Star-Dominion Line, the Canadian Government Merchant Marine, the Anchor-Donaldson Line and the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services.

A piano recital was given last evening at the Queen Square Sunday school by four pupils of Mrs. H. C. Rayworth, Evelyn Harrison, Helen McKay, Mary Roderick and Victoria McLaughlin, assisted by Miss Bertie Campbell, soprano, and Miss Ethel McKinley, reader. A large audience enjoyed the excellent programme given, and the work of the musicians was highly praised. A silver collection was taken for the Ladies' Aid.
