With an ideal day in which to battle, the match was picked by the President and Vice-president met again on the local golf links Saturday. The match a week previous ended in a tie, but this time the Vice-president's men won by the narrow margin of one point. The individual matches on Saturday were fought out with the keenness and delight that have characterized all these contests and many congratulations were given to the Vice-president on his last securing victory over so many plucky fights. The match was followed by a capital dinner and excellent songs and speeches. Following are results of the individual matches:

BASEBALL STARS NOW ENGAGED IN GREAT WORLD'S SERIES STRUGGLE.

SECTION OF SHIBE PARK

The great series for the world's baseball supremacy is now on at full heat between the New York Giants and the Philadelphia Athletics. Two of the prominent players are "Rube" Marquard, the left handed finger from New York, and Jack Coombs, the sensational twirler of "Connors" Mack's team. Never has there been such interest taken in a series of this kind before and fans all over the country are interested.

COMMISSION LANDS ON THE MANAGER OF THE GIANTS

Repetition of His Action of Tuesday Last, McGraw is Squarely Told, Means Out of the World Series

The National Baseball Commission censured John J. McGraw, manager of the New York National League Club, for his conduct during the Athletics-Giants game in New York on Tuesday, Oct. 17, in the following terms:

"Mr. John J. McGraw, Manager New York National League Baseball Team, New York City:

"In the discharge of his duty to maintain order and discipline in the series now in progress for the championship of the world, as regulated by the rules and regulations jointly enacted by the National and American Leagues, on Feb. 16, 1905, for the control of this event, the National Commission has taken official cognizance of your unwarranted conduct and language while passing from the coach's line to your team's bench during the last few innings of the game played on Tuesday, Oct. 17, 1911. Notice is hereby served on you that a repetition of this misconduct on your part will at once be called to the attention of the umpire-in-chief in the game in which it occurs, with instructions to remove you from the field, and the commission will disbar you from all subsequent games, in addition to this penalty a severe fine will be inflicted upon you.

"The commission will not permit a manager or player to attempt to influence by word or deed public opinion against a capable and conscientious official of the game, and unless decisions are accepted by you in a spirit of sportsmanship, you will be dealt with as indicated in this letter. Respectfully,

ALFRED H. BERMAN,
"National Commission."

The text of this commission's letter to McGraw, imposing a fine of $100, followed by the following:

"Dear Sir:—You are hereby notified that a fine of $100 has been imposed upon you by the National Commission, for using improper and indecent language in the game played on Tuesday, Oct. 17, 1911, and you are warned that a repetition of this offense will result in your disbarment from the remaining games of the present World's Series by the commission.

"This commission is also signed by the three members of the commission.

McGraw took decided exception to several of the National Commission's decisions in Tuesday's game, and in the 10th inning, after Merkle was called out at second base on his hit, McGraw became unusually noisy and demonstrative.

MARQUARD.

COOMBS.

GAME IS AGAIN
OFF; EARLIER
NEXT SEASON

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 23.—It is now 9:45 o'clock. The fourth baseball game between Philadelphia and New York, in the series for the world's championship, was postponed today for the fifth time. The weather was fair, but the grounds were too wet to play on.

New York, Oct. 23.—According to baseball club owners who have been here during the last week, the major league championship season in future will not be expected to take in October 18. Columbia Day. It is planned to frame next year's schedule so that they will end not later than Oct. 1, which will give ample time for the world's series to be played under favorable weather conditions.

Such schedules had been revealed this year, there would have been no trouble. The Giants and Athletics were compelled to bill time for nearly ten days before beginning the big series, when as a matter of fact they could have started their games on Oct. 7, at the latest.

CHINESE FOOTBALL PLAYER.

TSUNG-FAH-LIU OF BROWN UNIVERSITY.

The first Chinese to participate in college football, and one whose activities on the gridiron will be witnessed by thousands of football enthusiasts this fall, is Tsung-Fah-Liu, of Brown University, Providence, R. ## When Fish Get Fever

Chicago News.

Owing to the abnormally hot summer, a new disease has broken out among fish. It kills not only salmon, but sea trout and brown trout as well, and so far no one knows its cause or origin. A blister, like that of some forms of fever, appears on the fish, and they die almost at once.

So deadly is it that, when the body of an infected trout was cut up and placed in a bowl of live goldfish, within two hours every single one of the goldfish was dead.

Fish are, on the whole, less liable to disease than any other class of living creatures. But now and then an epidemic will appear and slay them by the million.

The strangest case of the kind on record is afforded by the fish. Thirty years ago the fish were common along the Atlantic coast of North America, and were profitable to fishermen.

All of a sudden they became scarce, and huge areas of sea—one being 170 miles long by 25 miles broad—were found to be strewn with dead fish, many of them weighing as much as ten or twelve pounds.

McGRAW'S
LOOK AHEAD
TO 1912 TEAM

Philadelphia, Oct. 22.—The year 1912 is still a few stretches of time away. But, 1912 is not so far away not to figure out the Giant machine of another season the most formidable factor in another race.

"The life of a pennant machine," states John McGraw, "is four years or thereabouts. I have been five seasons building up this club, and I am confident that it will be better next year than it has been this season.

"There isn't a member of my machine beyond his prime. Meyers has caught only a few seasons and has many more years to go. He has improved this last season more than any ball player I have ever seen. I consider Meyers easily the best hitter in the National League today, and I am not excepting Wagner. He has picked up in his throwing, in his headwork and in his catching. Meyers next season will take his place as one of the best catchers at the circuit.

"My infield has at least four more years to go as a fast clip. Merkle has not yet reached his prime, and his work through the last six weeks has stamped him as one of the great first basemen of baseball. I wouldn't trade him today for any other first baseman in this league, and this goes straight.

"Doyle, at second, is still a young ball player. Fletcher is just beginning his career, and Herzog is just settling into his stride.

"In the outfield, Devore and Snodgrass have both barely now at full heat, while Murray is far from facing a trip to the home for the aged and infirm. Then there is Becker, another youngster, ready to step into the gap.

"Outside of Meyers I have a promising catcher in Wilson, who is just coming along and who will make his mark before he is through.

Pitchers Good

"In the box, the most important part of a machine, I can start the season with Matty and Marquard as the nucleus of my staff. Mathewson can't go on forever, but he isn't through yet by several seasons to come. It will take but a bit longer each year to get in shape, but this boy has his head too well and knows too well how to pitch to wear down quickly. Cy Young ran along for 21 years, and Matty has now worked but eleven. I figure that I can count upon him to help for at least five more pennant battles.

"Marquard was late in starting, but you can see how he has come forward since getting his stride. Next spring he will have all his experience and will be ready to fall back upon. He has as much today as any pitcher in the game, and as he takes the best possible care of himself, and is young and strong in addition, I believe that I can bank upon him for a long time to come as one of the great left-handers of the circuit.

"I will take no chance, of course, in letting my club run down. I have two infielders coming on who have led their respective leagues in batting and fielding. One is Buss, from Seattle, and the other is Grob, from Decatur, Ill. This last youngster hit .455 for Buffalo in the Eastern League before he was retired by typhoid fever.

Four Livey Recruits

"Altogether I have four recruits coming along who led their leagues, and two of these ranked out in front as base-runners. George Burn, of Utica, now with the club, led his team in batting, fielding and baserunning.

"I have picked up several young pitchers, and it is here that I will have to give most of my time for a year or two. If I could land another good young pitcher equal to Alexander, Gregg, O'Brien or several others who have come forward, I don't believe we would be headed for three years to come. It has taken us six years to fight our way back to the top.

"It has been a hard, long climb. But having gotten there, we intend to make a harder fight still to stay. There will be plenty of rough opposition in the National League next season, but I don't believe any of them will heat our club for some time to come, unless we are badly broken up by accidents and injuries."

BILL MINER HAS FUN
WITH PRISON OFFICIAL

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 23.—"Old Bill" Miner has been given a new assignment at the State Prison Farm at Milledgeville last Tuesday, having fun with the officers of the Georgia Penitentiary. From the highwayman, Chairman Robert E. Davidson, of the Georgia Prison Commission, has written to him as follows:

"My Dear Sir:—I write to thank you for your kind letter inviting me to Milledgeville. My dear sir, don't trust a prisoner, no matter how sick he is or makes out he is.

"Yours truly,
"B. MINER."

ONE ROUND IN THE SQUARED CIRCLE

Mark Connolly, of South Boston, one of the most satisfactory lightweights in the vicinity, will be put to the test of his career when he faces Freddie Kelly, Philadelphia lightweight, in the semi-final bout to the Leo. Houck-Jack Dillon match at the Armory A. A. tomorrow night. The Monck and Dillon match promises to be a hummer.

With every meeting of the New York boxing commission some new changes are brought about. In the future all boxers appearing in bouts in New York will be compelled to affix their signatures to articles of agreement, which is fair to the club and a good thing for the boxers. The commission on the other hand, is determined to have boxing at New York conducted in a proper manner.

The two English boxers, Matt Wells and Freddie Welch, are coming in for a lot of trouble through the New York promoters. Tom O'Rourke has asked the boxing commission to restrain Welch from appearing at any club but his while the Madison Square Club is in the city.

The top-notchers are going to find it hard keeping pace with both the promotion and the promoters. As a preliminary to his proposed meeting with Young Yelle at New Bedford on the 24th, Young Dyson, the clever Providence feather weight, will meet Willie Jones of Brooklyn in New York on the 24th.

The Buffalo promoters are making over-

AN INNING WITH THE BALL PLAYERS

Philadelphia, Oct. 23.—From the humble bat-boy of the Chicago White Sox, themselves victors over their bitter rivals the Cubs, to the Governor of the great State of Maine, the native state of the iron man, has homage been paid to Jack Coombs.

Stacks of letters and telegrams, piled high on the table of the desk in his home in the city, testify to the interest all over the country aroused by Coombs' feat of defeat in the first time in the big Six World Series career.

Included are letters from Gov. Plaisted of Maine, and Prof. Margaret Colby, where Coombs studied.

He was sixty-two years old. His first professional engagement was in 1871, with the Chicago National.

New York, Oct. 23.—Miss Lillian G. Oldring, sister of "Rube" Oldring of the Philadelphia Athletics, is dead of pneumonia at her home in Mt. Vernon, N. Y. The news of the death was first wired to Oldring in Philadelphia. Oldring lost his sister on Sunday last, when he went to Mt. Vernon and spent the day with her.

Observation and Deduction Cosmopolitan.
Senator McLean, of Connecticut, is a great fisherman and hunter. Last spring he invited two companions to accompany him to a shooting camp in the North woods. When they entered the little cabin their attention was attracted to the unusual position of a new stove, which was set on posts about four feet high.

One of the senator's companions began to comment upon the knowledge woods-men gain by observation. "Now," said he, "this man has discovered that the heat radiating from the stove strikes the roof and the circulation is so quickened that the camp is warmed in much less time than would be required if the stove were in its regular position."

The other was of the opinion that it was elevated to be above the window in order that cool and pure air could be had at night. Senator McLean, being more practical, contended that it was raised in order that a good supply of green wood could be placed beneath it to dry.

After considerable argument was made placed a five-dollar bill upon the table and agreed to let the guide settle the dispute.

"Well," said he, "when I brought that stove up there so as to let the heat reach through the roof."

He got the money.
