ADENOIDS EASY TO REMOVE

If your child is a finicky eater and is apparently undernourished there is a possible chance that he suffers from adenoids.

Adenoids are a superfluous growth, which form at the roof of the nasal passages.

Because of their location they prevent the passage of air through the nose, and the child breathes through the mouth.

Because the air does not pass through the nose the child possesses little sense of smell, and also suffers in the sense of taste.

Food that has no taste is disagreeable to the child, and does not stimulate the appetite.

Adenoids are not difficult to remove. A surgeon can take them out without seriously endangering the life of the patient.

In addition to the loss of smell and taste, adenoids tend to produce a croaking chin. This is a result of keeping the mouth open for breathing.

When the doctor examines the child for adenoids also have him examine the tonsils.

Decayed tonsils are the cause of many ills.

Adventures of the Twins

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON.

"Mrs. Kittiwake and Polly Puffin and little breeze sprang up. At first no one noticed it much, but by and by it blew so hard that it blew a shirup right out of the shirup dish.

"My goodness!" cried Mrs. Kittiwake. "It's going to storm. Are you sure those eggs of yours are perfectly safe, Mrs. Razor-Bill?"

"Perfectly," said Mrs. Razor-Bill calmly. "Have another prawn. They are quite fresh. I gathered them myself this morning."

"But if you had been there my dear," said Peter Penguin, "you wouldn't have wondered at the ladies being nervous. The eggs were rolling this way and that like marbles, almost on the edge of the very rock where they were sitting. And not so much as a leaf to keep them from going right over the edge onto the stones below!"

"How did you happen to hear about it?" asked Doctor Bill.

"I?" cried Peter Penguin. "Why, to tell the truth, I saw it all for myself. I was sitting on a high rock right beside them and saw and heard the whole affair. It happened exactly as I tell you."

"But this egg goes over!" asked Nick. "No," said Peter smiling. "They kept rolling around every time the wind blew until Polly Puffin and Mrs. Kittiwake got so nervous they could not eat another bite."

"But every time they said a word Mrs. Razor-Bill just said the eggs were all right and offered them another limpet or scallop and went right on eating herself, as though it didn't matter if a dozen hatchlings got smashed."

"Finally Polly Puffin could stand it no longer. 'I can't stay another minute, Mrs. Razor-Bill,' she screamed. 'I think you are a heartless mother!'

"Look here, ladies," said Mrs. Razor-Bill. "There is nothing to get excited about. My eggs are safe. They can't roll off. They are ship-like tops and will around in circles. They are perfectly safe."

"It was true," laughed Peter Penguin. "I knew it all the time. Just try to roll a top off a table and see what happens."

Bright Red On This Frock

FLAPPER FANNY

MAN is in love when he wants to give his sweetheart everything including himself.

Blackheads simply dissolve and disappear by this one simple, safe and sure method. Get two ounces of peroxide powder from any drug store—sprinkle it on a hot, wet cloth. Rub the face briskly—every blackhead will be gone.

To set the color in green fabrics, use four ounces of alum to a tubful of water.

BANDS of bright red kasha and red buttons trim this sport frock of natural colored kasha, that fulfills every requirement of the sportsman. A novel effect is achieved by the side panels which form the pockets and break the monotony of the plain expanse of cloth.

CURLED COQ FOR HATS

Curled coq is very much the vogue in Paris for hat trimming, particularly for the small turbans that seem to be molded on the head.

HAVE WIDE STREAMERS

Many of the new hats have wide streamers or scarfs about the crown that also wrap about the throat and have one loose end that falls below the waistline.

HEART WAS WEAK NERVES ALL GONE

Mrs. J. H. Hallenbeck, 117-12 Westland Avenue, St. Catharines, Ont., writes:—"I was in a gas explosion; it left me with a weak heart, and my nerves were all gone. I suffered everything; couldn't sleep, or endure any excitement, and when left alone I felt as if I could scream. I took Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and bought me a box, but having taken so many different kinds of medicine it just seemed that I did not have any confidence in any of them. I took one box of H. & N. Pills, and felt so much better I continued with them until I had used five boxes, and after I had taken them I found I did not need any more. I cannot praise, or recommend, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills too highly after all they have done for me."

WORKING GIRL'S EXPERIENCE

Read how She Found Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Arnprior, Ontario.—"I must write and tell you my experience with your medicine. I was working at the factory for three years and became so run-down that I used to take weak spells and would be at home at least one day each week. I was treated by the doctors for anemia, but it didn't seem to do me any good. I was told to take a rest, but was unable to, and kept on getting worse. I was troubled mostly with my periods. I would sometimes pass three months, and when it came it would last around two weeks, and I would have such pains at times in my right side that I could hardly walk. I am only 18 years of age and weigh 118 pounds now, and before taking the Vegetable Compound I was only 108 pounds. I was sickly for two years and some of my friends told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and when I had taken a bottle of it I felt a change. My mother has been taking it for a different ailment and has found it very satisfactory. I am willing to tell friends about the medicine and to answer letters asking about it."—Miss Hazel E. BRANDY, Box 700, Arnprior, Ontario.

A day out each week shows in the pay envelope. If you are troubled with some weakness, indicated by a run-down condition, tired feelings, pains and irregularity, let Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound help you.

A cooling sparkling draught

It is pleasant to think that you are bracing your whole system when you imbibe your long, deep draught of sparkling, fizzing Andrews.

Andrews is a fine thirst quencher, and more lastingly refreshing than most drinks.

Andrews cools the blood by keeping it pure. It keeps the functions regular and normal, preventing headaches, lassitude, and general weariness that so often comes in hot weather.
