

It Leaves the Skin Tingling With Health

There is a wonderful difference in soaps. Have you ever noticed how one kind leaves the skin soft and white while another makes it red and rough? Both soaps looked alike, perhaps. But the difference was in the material. Let us tell you what we put into Infants' Delight, then decide if you can continue with common soap.

Ceylon is an island in the Indian Ocean, and from there we bring pure coconut oil 12,000 miles to our factory. Then we go to France for vegetable oil, and often pay double what we might pay. But our oil is pure enough for your table.

These oils are doubly boiled and then milled by our own special process, after which they fall like flakes of snow into enormous bins.

Then they are crushed under a weight of 30 tons to press out the moisture. Next they pass through granite rollers and come out in miles of silky ribbons. Finally they are dried eight times and then stamped into cakes.

Could you imagine a more delightful soap than this? It lathers into a rich, creamy foam. It wears as thin as water. It leaves the skin as soft as velvet and as smooth as satin. It is the very utmost in perfect soap.

The perfume is the delicate scent of the roses. We pay $100 a pound for pure Otto of Roses, but it requires 3,000 pounds of rose leaves to make a single ounce. The fragrance is simply exquisite—it brings the breath of a million flowers. Use a single cake and you will know that it really is—no more than the common, so why not have the best?

PEARY STANDS BY STATEMENT

Sydney, N. S., Sept. 21.—Commander Peary will accept no more invitations to receptions or other functions of a public character until the controversy between himself and Dr. Cook over the discovery of the North Pole is decided. In a statement handed out this evening the Arctic explorer made this announcement. In view of this the reception, headed by Lord Selkirk, in honor of his arrival from Battle Harbor here today will likely be the last of the kind given to the man after twenty-three years of effort finally achieved the dream of centuries. The statement which was given out by the commander tonight to the representatives of the Associated Press and the Bureau with instructions to deliver it to all the other newspaper men in the city, reads as follows:

Beyond stating that this suited him to a T, Commander Peary declined to discuss the statement or the reasons that prompted him to come to this decision. Lying at anchor off the ferry wharf after fifteen months struggling with the ice floes off the north, the Roosevelt, the staunch steamer which bore the explorer to Cape Sheridan, has been the cynosure of all eyes today. Tonight Sydney is ablaze with light in honor of Peary and his gallant men. This is the eleventh time that Peary has been in Sydney. On every previous occasion he has been heartily greeted but there has never before been anything like the spontaneous outburst of enthusiasm which marked his arrival this afternoon.

BONFIRES BLAZED

As soon as anchors fell, bonfires lighted the Westmount side of the harbor, and a pyrotechnic display was given. The general opinion tonight is that Sydney made the most of her opportunities and that the reception was very creditable. On her arrival this afternoon the Roosevelt tied up at the ferry wharf, her crew and the mob of curiosity seekers who swarmed on board it was necessary to take the steamer out into the stream. The prowling mob which crept into every nook and corner carried away with them about everything that they could lay hands on. Messrs. McMillan and Borup were the heaviest sufferers in this regard, as they left their storerooms unlocked when going ashore. Many articles of value were stolen, among them being two cameras belonging to Professor MacMillan, one of which cost one hundred dollars. A number of his notebooks, containing invaluable scientific data, which was of absolutely no use to anyone but himself were also taken, and the loss of these is perhaps the most serious of all. Altogether several hundred books of various kinds were taken. Commander Peary said tonight while the loss of this material would not affect the success of the expedition in any way, there would be a serious loss of natural historical and scientific knowledge.

Considering the great crowds both on the harbor and in the streets, it was lucky that there were no accidents of a serious nature. A row boat with a man operating a movie picture machine in it was capsized by the swell of two passing tugs. The operator was rescued but the camera was lost. While the address was being presented to Commander Peary the veranda of the Sydney Hotel was crowded with people, and two sections of it collapsed, but no one was hurt. The Peary party together with most of the Eskimos who were with him, then so if arrangements are made for his wished to reserve absolutely and exclusively for his wife and children.

"I will leave Sydney on the earliest train on Wednesday morning and will go right through to Eagle Island, stopping for a short time at Portland, and then so if arrangements are made for such stopping. Beyond that my movements depend on circumstances. "However," he continued, "I intend to take a day or two at Eagle Island before I do anything else." "What about Dr. Cook?" he was asked. "I will say nothing more on this matter now," he said. "At the proper time I will do so."

"What about the story that the two Eskimos who went north with Cook had admitted to you that they were never out of sight of land?" "In my first message, I stated that Eskimos who went with Cook, declared that they were never out of sight of land," replied Peary. "That statement I reaffirm and stand by."

COOK WILL BRING HIS ESKIMOS TO AMERICA

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—"I have come from the Pole. I have brought my story and my data with me. I have not come to enter into arguments with one man or with fifty men, but I am here to present a clear record of a piece of work over which I have a right to display a certain amount of pride. "I am perfectly willing to abide by the final verdict on this record of competent judges. That must be the last word and that alone can satisfy me and the public. "Furthermore, not only will my report be before you in black and white, but I will also bring to America human witnesses to prove that I have been to the Pole. "Such is the sum and substance of the first message Dr. Frederick A. Cook brought home in person to America today, answering his critics the world over. Under

EMPIRE CAVALRY CAN BE RECRUITED FROM CANADA

Almost simultaneously with the news cabled from England that the Army Council finds an alarming scarcity of cavalry horses, comes the National Bureau returns from western Canada showing that the farmers and breeders from Winnipeg to the coast are co-operating to raise remounts by means of the thorough-bred class.

These returns give facts regarding the number of mares mated with thorough stallions and show that the pure-blooded horses sent out have been patronized in a most encouraging manner, and that the crop for a first year of effort will be amazingly large.

Such success is scarcely expected, for these horses were, many of them, sent to districts where the thoroughbred was practically unknown and where Clydes and Shires were in abundance. It was thought that a campaign of education would be necessary to convince farmers and breeders of the value of pure blood, and the bureau was spending considerable money on this part of the work, but the figures show that the situation has at once been grasped, and instead of soliciting patronage, the bureau is now advising more caution in the handling of sires.

CAUSE OF SUCCESS.
The success is due to the activity of War Office representatives, who travelled through the West and also to the fact that there are many retired military men now on western farms and ranches, mostly English and Irish, in addition to the great natural love of the thoroughbred, have considerable knowledge of remounts. It looks now as though nothing can prevent a great yearly crop of good horses suitable for cavalry purposes, and in addition to all the other demands, the new territorial army, on a war footing, would require 8,000 horses, the Canadian crop will arrive at about the right time. And, apart from cavalry work, the crossing of such good sires with cold-blooded mares will immensely increase the value of the utility type of horse in Canada, just as similar methods have improved the breed in Germany, Russia, France, Austria-Hungary, and England.

Alberta promises to be one of the greatest horse-breeding provinces of Canada. The bureau has sent some fine stallions there, and many more are required. The last shipment sent over the Canadian Pacific a few weeks ago arrived safely, the horses being distributed at Elkwater, Calgary, High River, Nanton and Innisfail. The Alberta climate is especially favorable for the production of iron constitutions and good sires.

STALLIONS IN QUEBEC.
And the East is getting on almost as well as the West. Here in Quebec, the National Bureau has placed its best stallions, including Rosemount, Masterman, and Horse II. These are thoroughbreds of the highest type, and are meeting with the greatest success.

The Maritime Provinces are also doing remarkably well. New Brunswick making the best showing. Mr. W. W. Hubbard, Secretary of Agriculture for that province, is also provincial secretary of the National Bureau, and the Government has assisted financially and in other ways to help along the work.

THE LORDS OF SILENCE.

(By J. Henniker Heaton, M. P.)
The fate of our Empire, the future of our race, depends on the decisions of the United Imperial Defence delegates. The great consultation just concluded in the capital of the Empire represents the critical opportunity of a century, and will be remembered for good or ill in our annals.

On a recent Sunday morning the first invader reached Dover in an aeroplane—an event which Lord Deedes, the Prime Minister, has called a revolution in the art of war. On the following Monday fate brought the Prime Minister of New Zealand, Sir Joseph Ward, also to Dover, and we saw something better than four made Dover for the first time. With his arrival and that of the other rulers from our overseas dominions every British subject felt that a greater element of strength, the unity of our British race, remained constant and inviolable.

The question of Imperial security, of safeguarding the Dominions entrusted to us from foreign foes, is of the greatest importance to us. It is of far greater importance to us than the security of our own islands. It is of far greater importance to us than the security of our own islands.

CHEAP IMPERIAL COMMUNICATION.
The cable rings have built up a system with consummate cleverness. It is a system which should make it a monopoly in perpetuity. This monopoly is vested in a company which has a large capital, has fastened its tentacles upon almost every part of the British Empire, and has established a network of telegraph lines which is devoted almost exclusively to the service of the Empire.

How To Save Work In The Home
Most of the dust in the modern home comes from the floor. It needs, if you would use Floorglaze right. And dust is merely a bother for the housewife and the maid. It's a danger. Dust specks d-i-s-e-a-s-e. The germs of all infections dwell, mainly, in floor-dust. Floorglaze reduces floor-dust to a minimum.

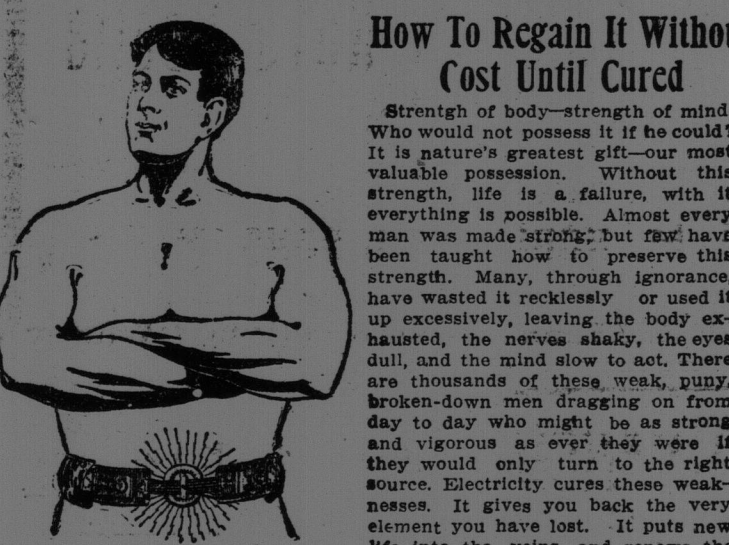

When you coat a floor with any of the ten shades of Floorglaze you have a floor that is creviceless (cut harbor germs), washable (use an anti-septic in the mop-water), and nearly dust-proof.

You will get weary watching for it to wear off that floor. Floorglaze stands outdoor wear, even—verandas, porches, steps, etc. And a gallon covers 500 square feet. Cheap!

STRENGTH FREE TO MEN

How To Regain It Without Cost Until Cured

Strength of body—strength of mind. Who would not possess it if he could? It is nature's greatest gift—our most valuable possession. Without this strength, life is a failure, with it everything is possible. Almost every man was made strong; but few have been taught how to preserve this strength. Many, through ignorance, have wasted it recklessly or used it up excessively, leaving the body exhausted, the nerves shaky, the eyes dull, and the mind slow to act. There are thousands of these weak, puny, broken-down men dragging on from day to day who might be as strong and vigorous as ever they were if they would only turn to the right source. Electricity cures these weaknesses. It gives you back the very element you have lost. It puts new life into the system and restores the vigor of youth. For 40 years I have been curing men, and so certain am I now of what my method will do that I will give to any man who asks it my word—factual Dr. SANDEN ELECTRIC BELT AND SYSTEM FREE UNTIL CURED. You pay nothing down, you deposit nothing, you risk nothing; but upon request I will furnish you with the Belt to use, and if it cures, you pay me my price. If you are not cured or satisfied, return the Belt to me and that ends it.

Uncle Walt The Poetic Philosopher

There's a man in the world who is never turned down, wherever he chances to stray; he gets the glad land in the populous town, or out where the farmers make hay; he's greeted with pleasure on deserts of sand, and deep in the aisles of the woods; wherever he goes there's the welcoming hand—his The Man Who Delivers the Goods. The failures of life sit around and complain; the gods haven't treated them white; they've lost their umbrellas whenever there's rain, and they haven't their lanterns at night; men are of the failures who all with their rights the air of their own neighborhoods; there's one who is greeted with love-lit eyes—he's The Man Who Delivers the Goods. One fellow is lazy, and watches the clock, and waits for the whistle to blow; and one has a hammer, with which he will hawk a note on his guard; let in put in minute too much; and one has a frock or a temper that's bad, and one is a creature of moods; so it's he for the joyous and rollicking lad—for the One Who Delivers the Goods!

is darkness and stillness. Let a ray of dawn, and what a burst of melody from every thicket and bough and bush. I appeal to Lord Crewe, who is a great friend of the movement, to take action in the good work; every one of our greatest worthies, beginning with Alfred, would have been proud to join. We are asked to remember the Lord of Silence, the Cable King, or director in Old Broad street, London. Certainly, he is entitled to fair dealing, and we may even treat him with a generosity which he has not always evinced in his transactions. But he has shown himself unfit to control any longer our vital means of communication. He is a danger to the Empire, and must be pensioned off like an effete Sultan or Shah. The cable system must be nationalized and set at once.

SIMPLE LIFE OF THE AUSTRIAN EMPEROR

His Personal Expenses Are Only Eight Shillings a Day.
VIENNA, Sept. 22.—The birthday of the Emperor of Austria was chosen as the date for the publication of a work that will be a lasting memorial to the aged monarch who completed his seventy-ninth year last Wednesday. The writer, from his connection in Court circles is in a position to publish many details in regard to the private life of the Emperor that are not generally known. Details concerning the simplicity of the Emperor's habits are given. The words of one of his servants are quoted: "I believe for my part that the Emperor would not need more than eight shillings a day for his own private and personal expenses." Some account is given of the large amounts that the Emperor devotes to charity as well as the cost of keeping up the Court. The gardens at Schonbrunn, for instance, cost an annual sum of considerably over £10,000, without taking into account the menagerie, which costs £2,000. No entrance money is taken at the Schonbrunn menagerie, and it is entirely owing to the generosity of the Emperor that crowds of visitors to the city can visit the animals and mention the numbers of children who spend hours daily in watching their habits.

ST. CHARLES' EVAPORATED CREAM
For many things in cookery, St. Charles Cream is essential. It is as good as the best milk or cream for any purpose. For many purposes it is much better. It gives to coffee, for instance, a flavor which even the best of ordinary cream cannot approach, and it aids in bringing out full use of chocolate or cocoa. For confection and ice cream it is unexcelled. For invalids and infants it is indispensable. It never curdles. It strengthens the strong. If only pure water is added it will agree with the most delicate stomach. Sold by best grocers everywhere.
