THE SEMI-WEEKLY SUN. ST. JOHN, N. B., MAY 11, 1904.

SENATOR DEVER.

Tidings from Ottawa published from day to day have prepared the people of St. John for the announcement of the death of their distinguished and respected fellow citizen, Senator Dever. He was nearly four-score, and though his constitution has been robust, and he appeared to be younger than he was, he had not the strength to overcome the disease which attacked him while he was at the capital in the performance of his legislative duties.

THIS IS UNJUST.

A contemporary in another city moralizes on the heartlessness of the alleged Christian community of St. John in that a girl in terrible distress could find no better shelter than a garage in this impudently. The people of St. John are not heartless. They are generous, kind-hearted people, and though they may not do all that could be done to seek out and help all those who are in trouble, they do not allow anyone to suffer from hunger or exposure if they know about it.
