GATHERING AT SYDNEY.

Attention Has Been Directed to make a report at the St. John meeting.

Much depends on this report.

The conditions attached to the Halifax bonus bill are the reasons why attention was diverted from Halifax here. Under the authority of a bill passed at the last ion of the legislature $100,000 can be voted with consent of the rate payers. The site here will likely be near the steel works, below Whitney pier. William Thomson, of St. John; Charles Bur rill, of Weymouth; Harvey Harding, of St. John, other provincialists, and also prominent English and American capital ists are in the field. Prominent person Sydney state that this town will deal liberally with the company.

It is stated that the Dominion Coal Cempany will give the company an order for steel ships. Four vessels have already been constructed for this company and number more are required. The steel mpany require a fleet of vessels for their arpose, and will offer inducements for a building plant here. Among those interested in the deal 's George McAvity, St. John. He has beer wn for several days and it is under stood that his visit has steel shipbuilding ignificance. St. John has nearly a mil on dollars ready for investment in the plant and will make every effort to secure this industry. If the site is chosen at Thursday's meeting work on the plant will be commenced immediately.—Halifax

The departure from this life at his residence, Newcastle, Saturday, of Mr. James Murray, one of the oldest and most respected citizens of the town, made a deep spected citizens of the town, made a deep impression in the community.

Mr. Murray was a typical Scotchman, a lineal descendant of the Murrays of Peebles, Scotland, whose "crest," a hand holding a scroll with the motto "Deum Time," distinguished his ancestors from other clans of the same name. Mr. Murrays wited in himself the hest qualities other clans of the same name. Mr. Muray united in himself the best qualities of the bravery and shrewdness of the Scotch race. He was descended from a long line of shepherds whose free and open life developed that spirit of self-reliance and abhorrence of oppression and wrong, which distinguished the dwellers among the hills.

Mr. Murray was brought to Miramichi from Dunfries, Scotland, at the age of 11 years, and had resided there ever since. He was always known as a skilled mechanic; a man of irreproachable integrity and indomitable independence of character He never took his opinions at second d, and was never disposed to abandal to the order of being the second of being the second of being the second of the second of being the second of the sec his convictions for the sake of being in the majority.

He neither sought or desired political preferment. He did not seek to adorn his body, but rather his soul, with the jewels of charity and mode-ty, and above all he cherished a love of liberty, political and economic-a democrat in the truest acceptance of the term.

But he has lived his life. In nature's course his time for leaving had come, the four seasons were complete in him, the spring could not come again.

At 80 years of age, after his stalwart constitution strengthened by his temper-constitution strengthened by his temperate habits had successfully rallied from an attack of the grippe and pneumonia he received an accidental injury, which ultimately ended his days. His familiar
