WE SHARE THE FUTURE TOGETHER In Association with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, "J" Division Staff Relations Representatives, the Mounted Police Foundation and the Investors' Group, Canadian wildlife artist Christine Marshall has created a 16" X 20" painting entitled, We Share the Future Together, in celebration of the 65th anniversary of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in the Province of New Brunswick.

The early morning scene near the area of Deersdale, New Brunswick, reflects the artist's vision of the RCMP and depicts values which mean so much to us all. A large portion from the sale of the limited edition prints will be shared by the "J" Division Staff Relations Representatives for a wide-range of initiatives, and by the Mounted Police Foundation, to support community policing programs and initiatives throughout Canada. This painting is the first of four planned releases, with a different scene for each of the Atlantic Provinces to support each Divisional Staff Relations Program and the Mounted Police Foundation.

This project will enhance the profile of the RCMP, Community Policing initiatives and the partnership between the Force, the community and the Province of New Brunswick. The print is now available and orders may be placed through the ROSS, through any DSRR representatives or:

UNIQUE TARTAN SEARCH FOR UNIQUE POLICE FORCE The search is on for a tartan for the RCMP. In recognition of the 125th anniversary of the Force, the Tartan Sub-Committee is searching for a tartan that represents the RCMP's long, proud history. Traditionally, tartans have expressed a sense of uniqueness and belonging for generations of families, clans, groups and organizations. The Committee needs your input and proposals for a tartan; one that can be worn with pride by serving and retired members, employees, friends and family. Please submit your design proposal for your unique and distinctive tartan, explaining the meaning of the scheme by September 15, 1997 to:

Tartan Sub-Committee
