TELEGRAM 2063

New York, December 2, 1958

OPIMMEDIATE.

Following is the text of the Indian resolution and, second, of the Iranian resolution:

The General Assembly,

Having considered the Cyprus question,

Recalling its resolution 1013(XI) which expressed the earnest desire for peaceful, democratic and just solution in accordance with the purposes and principles of the Charter of the UN and the hope that negotiations would be resumed and continued to this end,

Expressing concern at the situation in Cyprus,

Noting with regret that the efforts hitherto made have not repeat not resulted in a solution,

Desiring to see the restoration of peaceful conditions and to further friendly relations in the area,

Welcoming the statement of the Representative of the UK that his government seeks to "help to preserve the united personality of Cyprus",

Welcoming further the statement of the Representative of the UK that his government does not repeat not favour the partition of Cyprus or consider it to be a solution of the problem,

Welcoming the recent statements of the Greek government that they do not repeat not have territorial claims or expansionist desires in regard to Cyprus,

Believing that the Cypriot people are entitled to self-government in accordance with the Charter of the UN, (1) Urges all concerned, particularly the government and people of Cyprus, to use their best endeavours to establish conditions of the cessation of violence in Cyprus helpful to peaceful negotiations; (2) Considers that effective provisions for the projection of all legitimate minority interests are essential for a peaceful, equitable and stable settlement; (3) Requests the UK government to continue negotiations with a view to promoting self-government for Cyprus, in accordance with the provisions of the Charter of the UN, and the preservation of its integrity; (4) Calls upon all member states to co-operate to this end, undertaking to respect the integrity of Cyprus as well as its self-government when it is fully attained.

The General Assembly,

Having considered the question of Cyprus,

Recalling its resolution 1013(XI),

Noting the efforts which have been made in furtherance of this resolution, and in particular the efforts to bring about a conference between the three governments concerned and representatives of the Cypriots, at which there would be discussion not repeat not only of the interim arrangements for the administration of Cyprus but also of a final solution, in accordance with the principles of the Charter and to meet the legitimate aspirations of the inhabitants of Cyprus,
