

VERSES

*The earth is robed in a mantle of white,
Out of the east creeps the still, gray light
Of a winter morn.
Up springs the sun in a glorious blaze ;
Joyously let us our voices upraise—
"O, the New Year's born!"*