

Belmar Parc Shorthorns

WE think we have as great a lot of young show animals as has ever been on one farm in Canada. Our herd is large, the individuals are choice and of the richest Scotch breeding, and our prices are moderate. 15 young bulls. 25 heifers under three years. A splendid group of breeding and show matrons. Mostly in calf to the champion Marigold Sailor =53258= and the prizewinning Nonpareil Archer (imp.) =45202=. Pembroke is on the main line of the C. P. R. and the Canada Atlantic Division of the G. T. R. You can leave Toronto 11 a. m., arrive Pembroke 12.05 p. m., see the herd, and arrive Toronto next morning at 7.20. We prefer you to see the cattle, but if you can't spare the time we take special pride in filling mail orders satisfactorily.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Miscellaneous.

HORSE AND VETERINARY WORKS.

1. Could you inform me through your valuable paper, where I could get Capt. Hayes' work, "The Points of the Horse," and the cost of same? Is there some other works on the horse that you think is better?
2. What veterinary works would you consider best for a farmer?

J. D. G.

Ans.—1. Capt. Hayes' "Points of the Horse" is a magnificent work; $10. Capt. Hayes' "Veterinary Notes for Horse Owners"; $4.20.
2. "The Farmers' Veterinary Adviser," by Dr. Jas. Law, $3; and "Veterinary Elements," by Dr. A. G. Hopkins, $1, are both useful works, the former going more into detail. Any of these you can order through this office.

BROODER CHICKS DYING.

Little chicks are dying at the age of from one to two weeks. They are kept in a brooder about three feet square, which gives them ample room; the heat ranging, first week, 95 degrees, and gradually lessening. Can find no lice, and chicks seem to be healthy in the morning, but at noon one or two are dead. They are fed as follows: Prepared chick feed, scattered in chaff for scratching; grit; clean water; beef scraps, and dry mash always before them. Had some of another hatch that went weak on the legs, but seem to be getting all right now.

G. F. R.

Ans.—It is difficult to say exactly what is wrong with these chickens. I gather from the tone of the letter that they are not affected with diarrhoea nor indigestion. A few chickens at this season of the year are likely to die from a lack of vitality. It may be that your correspondent is not using heat enough in his brooder. Ninety-five degrees in a brooder would be ample temperature for some makes of brooders, and insufficient for others. One should use sufficient heat so that the chickens will sit at night with their heads sticking under the cover. I do not think the chickens are lousy.

In raising chickens in the winter time, one of the chief difficulties is to keep them on their feet. In order to do this, one has to give them plenty of exercise, and as much fresh air as possible without chilling the chickens. You also require to feed them considerable green food or vegetables. We use some sprouted oats or barley, mangels, and the tender shoots from various roots, which develop in an ordinary root cellar, refuse lettuce, or anything of this nature. Sometimes we grate the mangels, and mix dry chop with it.

I would like to know whether or not your correspondent examined the chickens that died. It would be interesting to know whether the yolk was entirely absorbed, or whether it had begun to harden. Raising chickens in winter time requires the use of one's best common sense, and you have to watch them daily. I might add that it would be advisable to feed these chickens some ordinary dry bone, also some charcoal. I cannot say that I would advise beef scrap being left before them constantly. It might not do any harm, but our experience is that hopper feeding is a good thing in the summer-time, but very bad in the winter. With winter chickens, we have been unable to keep them on their feet at all satisfactorily when hopper feeding has been used.
