CHRIST AND HIS DISCIPLES .- Mark

Herodians-These were the partisans of Herod, who maintained the rightfulness of the Roman dominion over Judea, and the propriety of introducing Greek and Roman customs among the Jews. The Church and the State had banded together to put "the deceiver of the people" out of the way as soon as possible. How they might destroy him -Observe how utterly in fficacious are miracles to persuade uncandid souls. Modern miracles would not convince modern skepticism.

Withdrew himself-Ohrist's example teaches his ministers their duty in a time of danger to fly from persecution, and to endeavor to preserve their lives unless when their sufferings are like to do more good than their lives. A great multitude . . followed him — The "following" does not merely indicate external following; it also was the beginning of a specific discipleship from which, indeed, most afterward receded but from which the germ of the Galilean believers was afterward devel-

Idumea-This was the ancient Edom. It lay south of Palestine. Herod the great was by descent an Idumean. Beyond Jordan-Called by the Greek geographers Perea, a name limited by usage to that part of the land of Israel which was east of Jordan. This, as well as Idumea, would include a large extent of frontier territory, where the Jews were in immediate contact with the Gentiles. They about Tyre and Sidon—As the whole importance of Phenicia was derived from ed, and it will preserve them for a fortthese two cities, it is designated by night. Cummon salt-petre is also a their joint names.

A small ship-It was doubtless something of the boat kind. The word ship is improper in many places of our translation, and tends to mislead. Should wait on him-Christ's object was probably in part retirement, for by the boat he could escape to the eastern and comparatively solitary, shores of the sea, in part labor, for from the prow of the boat he could preach to the people on the shore without being hindered by the throng.

Unclean spirits-This circumstance ged persons, them it is strange that they should be endowed with knowledge so much superior to those in health. They should not make him known-Our Lord accepted not devils for preachers. Neither was the time come; nor were these the proper wit-

Calleth unto him-He chose them, not they him. Yet he chose with discerning power, knowing their character and state of heart. They came unto him-He named those who became his the soil with this once, or at most twelve, and from the crowd each one stepped forth.

Ordained is, in Greek, not a technical expression, but a very common verb, meaning made: that is, out of the whole number present, or, as some think, out of the selected number whom he called to him he constituted or created twelve to be a body by themselves; for what purpose, and with what official functions, is expressed in the remainder of the verse. That they should be with him-Mark states most definitely the office of the apostles. They were to be with Christ that they might bear personal witness to what they had themselves seen (John 15: 27; Acts 1: 21, 22), and Paul rests his claim to be an apostle on his having been an eye-witness to Christ's resurrection (1 Cor. 9:1; 15:8,9), this was their preparation for their work. They were to preach—literally, to herald, that is, to go before and proclaim the coming of the Messiah in person to the Jewish nation, in spirit and in power to the whole world; and in his second advent to his Church; this was their work. And they were to have "power to heal the sick and cast out devils," a power subsequently exercised by the apostles; this was the divine seal and evidence of their authority.

Surnamed Peter (See John 1: 42)-The name itself does not denote constancy or firmness, which were not peculiar traits of Peter's character, but strength and boldness, or the founding of the Church upon a rosk.

Boanerges-This word is composed of two Hebrew words signifying " sons of thunder." The reason of this appellation, which appears only here, is not given. It may signify the character and power of James and John as preachers, though their subsequent history does not justify this explanation. More propably it referred to their naturally fiery temperament, of which we see signs in Mark 9: 38 and Luke 9: 54.

This fact furnishes a most serious subject of reflection to all such as "feed others" by the ministry of God's holy word, " and yet neglect and starve themselves:" who bear their Saviour on their lips, but neither know him in their hearts, nor serve him in their lives; and who thereby incur a greater condemnation. Iscariot has been variously explained as an appellative, but is now commonly agreed to be a local name, denoting man of Kerioth, as the similar form Istobes, used by Josephus, means a man of Tob. As Kerioth was a town of Judah (Josh 15: 25) Judas is the only one of the apostles whom we any reason to re-peach stones for planting. They are probably aware, that when the stones are kept dry all wruter and then planted in spring, very few, if any, will germinate. In nurseries, the stones are not allowed to get very dry, but they are stratified or bedded just before winter sets in. The usual manner is, to mark out the limits of the bed and spread the stones over it to the depth then spaded in as if turning under a dently recommend it. dressing of manure. By this operation they are distributed through and well mixed with the soil, where they are left to freeze and thaw all winter. This treatment causes the balves of tue stone to separate and the pressure within of the swelling seed can push them apart. This may be effected by other methods than that of spading in. The stones are sometimes spread upon the ground and covered with spent tanbark or sawdust to the depth of three to five inches, and thus exposed to the weather. In spring, when the ground is ready to plant the stones that have been spaded in are separated by throwing the soil of the bed upon a riddle, such as is used by masons, the earth falls through while the stone are left upon the riddle. Those that have been under tan or sawdust are more easily recovered at planting time.—American Agriculturist for February.

The best method of obtaining a good shape for an under bodice is to pick an old dress with a basque to pieces, and cut from the lining. This will fit well and will always be a pattern to refer to.

The old canes of raspberries and blackberries should be removed during the winter. The pruning of the new canes should be done the latter part of February or beginning of March.

Stables should be kept warm enough in winter to make horses comfortable proves the existence of evil spirits. If without blankets; then the blankets these were merely diseased or deran- will do good service as coverings when the animal is left standing out-doors.

Suck poisoned wounds unless your mouth is sore; enlarge the wound, or better cut out the part without delay; hold the wounded part as long as can be borne to a hot coal.

When plants are in a growing state they may be stimulated by the use of guano water. A small teacupful of Peruvian guano dissolved in a pailful of rain water is strong enough; water twice a week. The water of Ammonia (Hartshorn) of the shops is about as good, and can be had everywhere. If of ordinary strength add a fourth of an ounce, (two teaspoonfuls), to a gallon water, and use as above stated.—Am Agriculturist for February.

A Mr. Hines writes to the Liverpool Mercury on small-pox, and sends the following recipe, which he claims to be an invaluable remedy for the dread disease: "I am willing to risk my reputation as a public man if the wo:st case of smail-pox cannot be cured in three days, simply by the use of cream of tartar. One ounce of cream of tartar, dissolved in a pint of water, drank at intervals when cold, is a certain. never-failing remedy. It has cured thousands, never leaves a mark, never causes blindness, and avoids tedious. lingering illness.

In a Christian family of our acquaintance a servant came to the door of the lady at three o'clock one afternoon and said," What is there for me to do now?" ," Go up stairs and rest." answered thelady. The girl looked hurt and went away. Months afterwards she said when she came to know the lady better, " I thought you were displeased with me on that day. Nobody ever told me to rest before, in all the years I have been at service." The servant girl had caught a glimpse of true Christian thoughfulness.

> DYSPEPSIA AND DEBILITY, A SEVERE Case. - From Wm Bentley, 24 Rod-man St., Fall River, Mass - I was severely afflicted with general debility caused by over-exertion in working when I was not strong enough to do so. I became so nervous and debilitated that I was finally obliged to give up work and devote myself entirely to rest. This, however, did not benefit me, as I had nothing to occupy my my mind, and I could not be idle. I concluded that my trouble was heart disease, and consulted a physician, who pronounced it an aggravated form of dyspepsia, and was treated accordingly. Nothing that I tried gave me any relief until Peruvian Syrup was recommended. I used three bottles of this, and could see a great improvement, as I was able to resume work. Three bottles more completely restored my health." Sold by all druggists.

IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD. -The decided alterative action of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime, adapts it in a remarkable degree as a blood purifier well worthy of the trial of those suffering from a diseased condition of the circulating fluid. The unsightly blotches, pustules and pimples that disfigure the face and neck. as well as other portions of the body, of so many persons, are indications of a diseased state of the blood induced by, as well as associated with, depraved nutrition, feeble digestion and imperfect assimilation. The continued use of the Phosphorized Emulsion invariably cleanses the blood from all there impurities and restores the system to a state of healthfulness that is manifested in increased constitutional vigor, mental activity, and lightness and buoyancy of spirits. St. John, N. B., January 6th, 1880.

In regard to your favor of a few days ago. I would say; About one year ago a horse owner by me contracted a large Bone Spavin, for the cure of which I tried a number of the limiments and lotions advertised to cure the same, without any effect, and he became very lame. A friend of mine recommended me to try FELLOWS' LEEMING'S ESSENCE.

I acted upon his advice, and now I am happy to say the lameness has ceased and the Spavin disappeared. I now consider him entirely cured, and would cheerfully recommend Fallows' LEEMING'S ESSENCE as the best romedy in the market for all the lameness that horses are subject to.

ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS! PURELY VECETABLE.

These Pills are not offered to the public as a novelty or a universal panacea for "all the ills which flesh is heir to;" they have been extensively used and their virtues are well known to many who will be glad to learn that the proprietor has made arrangements to continue the manufacture on manufacture on a scale equal to the increasing demand. The Pills are all made under his personal supervision, and can the efore be relied upon as being equal to those which have given so much satisfaction to all who have used them. The oft-repeated assertions that in ous disorders and the various diseases of the Liver, there is no remedy but by the use of Mercury, in Blue Pills or some other form, have been proved false by ample testimony from those who have used these purely Vegetable Pills. It is true, however, to remedy a derange ment of the bilious secretion you must have something to act directly and powerfully at times upon the Liver; but it is not true that Mercury is the only agent canable of producing this specification. The simple combination of Vegetable principles in these Pills produces the same positive action upon the Liver as Colomel. and will correct the derangement of the same time they have an alterative and tonic effect, which is the secret of their great superiority. The circumstances under which the formula for these Pills came into the possession of the Proprietor, some years ago, were peculiar, and duced him to prepare from time to time such quantities as would enable him to supply the wants of his friends; but owing to the astonish ing results produced by their use, the demand has increased so rapidly that he is compelled to manufacture on a much larger scale than was contemplated, and the unsought testimony from various quarters of the great efficacy and uniformly gratifying results experienced in cases of bilious affections and other disorders arising from derangement of the biliary organs proves beyond all doubt that these Pills are capable of effecting the most surprising cures on record, and ought to be available by all who suffer in any way from derangement of the
