

HE name of W. A. Calnek is probably as inseparably connected with the gathering up of Nova Scotia history and genealogy as was that of the late Joseph W. Lawrence with similar work in New Brunswick. Both died, leaving behind them a large collection of historical material, which they had hoped that they might live to see placed permanently on record. Mr. Calnek's work was taken up after his demise by a gentleman well qualified for the task, and the History of the County of Annapolis, by W. A. Calnek, edited and completed by A. W. Savary, M.A., Judge of the County Courts of Nova Scotia, is well known to the student of American history. The work of the late J. W. Lawrence remains as at his death, with probably less likelihood of its publication at the present day than there was immediately after his decease.

NO. 64.

The book-label of Mr. Calnek, plain and simple in its style, is