The Gentle Liars.

There are liars who are cruel, there are liars who are kind, But the latter are the subjects of my song. They are making people happy and I truly cannot find That such gentle untruthfulness is wrong; For the gentle liar whispers what we dearly love to hear: If we're skinny he will tell us we are fat And he works it vice versa, but it certainly is clear, That St. Peter wouldn't shut him out for that. When you broke and flabbergasted and you show it in your face, Then the gentle liar bubbles up to you And he says, "My boy your looking like a winner in the race, With others clear behind and out of view!" When you're sick he says you're better and he laughs your fears away Entertaining with his most mendacious chat, And although to make you happy his veracity's astray, St. Peter wouldn't shut him out for that.

He tells the dumpy people that he likes 'em better small; He tells the ugly people they are fair, He has a merry fairy tale to fit them one and all And he scatters gentle falsehoods every where. Our faults he makes them smaller, our virtues magnifies, (And surely none could take offence thereat) For his heart is over flowing with a kindly stream of lies, And St. Peter wouldn't shut him out for that.

An Old Wheat Stack.

What may probably claim to be the oldest wheat stack in the world may be seen in a farmyard at Aishy, South Lincolnshire. It has been standing there for 32 years this harvest. The reason it has never been threshed is not definitely known, but local tradition has it that the owner once made a vow not to sell the grain under a certain figure which it has never attained. Outside the stack is black with age, but inside both straw and kernel are of natural color, and the grain is in splendid condition. The owner is dead and now the stack will be sold.

The Value of Small Savings.

If a young man fifteen years of age were determined to save three car fares a week, and to pay the 15 cents thus saved every week until he was sixty to the Canadian Government for the purchase of an Annuity, the result of his thrift would be that from and after sixty he would receive $25.18 every 3 months so long as he lived. If he died before he was sixty all that he had paid in with three per cent compound interest would be refunded to his heirs, and if he died just before his first instalment of Annuity fell due his heirs would inherit $71.70. A post card sent to the Superintendent of Canadian Government Annuities, Ottawa, giving your age last birthday, will secure you information as to what an Annuity will cost.

Do You Do This.

When beating upholstered furniture in the house, place a damp cloth over the pieces. The dust adheres to the cloth. An alarm clock kept in the kitchen may be set to ring at the time the vegetables should be put over the fire or the hot bread or the cake or pudding is due to be done. Candles will last much longer if they are placed on ice and kept there for 24 hours before using. Before putting the stew pan on the fire, rub some laundry soap on the bottom several times, and when the pan is washed the black comes off like magic. The instep of a buttoned shoe makes a handy iron holder. It fits the iron perfectly. Rubbing rusty knives with a damp cloth dipped in ashes will make them bright and shining. To keep a fine gloss on your varnished floors, sprinkle with coarse salt; let remain for five minutes, then sweep off with a soft broom. When buying carpet for stairs get an extra yard, and turn it under at each end. When the carpet begins to wear on the edges of the steps, it can be slipped either up or down and equalize the wear.

Talking Too Much.

This truth is sound as virgin ore, so salt it down as such: The man who talks forevermore is bound to talk too much. The silent man has many friends, who think him smooth as grease, and if in season he unbends, and starts to speak a piece, they listen to his every mood, as though he were a sage, and say: "He is a looloo-bird, the wonder of this age!" The talksmith has no friends at all; folks hate to see him come; they say to him: "Go hire a hall—address the deaf and dumb!" I know a hundred idle men who once were drawing pay; they limbered up their jaws and then talked their jobs away. I've known some dames, in other days, who talked their husbands blind, until they sought more pleasant ways, and jumped the beastly grind. I know a churchyard where the stones that dot the windswept heath are piled above the crumbling bones of fellows talked to death. If all the time we waste in talk were used in cutting ice, no homeless men the streets would walk—all men would have the price.

It Was Paid For.

"Refuse Notice." Every editor has received them, says an exchange. The postmaster sends them to the editor. For instance there is a man by the name of, we'll say John Jones, who refused to take his paper out of the post office. He did not want it any longer. We wondered what was the matter. Upon investigation of our subscription book we found John was short $5.70. He has stopped his paper as a matter of economy to us. A few evenings ago we stepped into a church and John's melodious voice rang out loud and clear in the soulstirring song, "Jesus Paid it." We might have been mistaken, but his earnestness impressed us. The next day we sent him a receipt in full, begging his pardon for not knowing he had made an assignment of his liabilities to the Lord.

Choosing a Vocation.

It is very certain that no man is fit for everything; but it is almost as certain, too, that there is scarce any one man who is not fit for something, which something Nature plainly points out to him by giving him a tendency and propensity to it. I look upon common sense to be to the mind what conscience is to the heart—the faithful and constant monitor of what is right or wrong. And I am convinced that no man commits either a crime or a folly put against the manifest and sensible representations of the one or the other. Every man finds in himself, either from nature or education—for they are hard to distinguish—a peculiar bent and disposition to some particular character; and his struggling against it is the fruitless and endless labor of Sisyphus. Let him follow and cultivate that vocation; he will succeed in it, and be considerable in one way at least; whereas, if he departs from it, he will, at best, be inconsiderable, probably ridiculous.—Lord Chesterfield.

Smiles.

He hadn't been in this country very long and he was unused to some American expressions. In seeking a position he brought up at a big manufacturing plant where boilers are made. The foreman, to whom he applied for work, sized his breadth of shoulders and seemed to regard his application with favor. "Well" he said "you come around in the morning and I'll give you a trial. I might give you a steady job if I find you can deliver the goods." The young man from across the water gazed at the four-ton boilers lying about. "If that is what I've got to do I don't want the job," he said as he marched out.

Legal Question.

G.E., Toronto.—Qu.—What can a wife do if her husband makes good money but will not clothe her? (2) He buys food for the family, but keeps the rest of the money for himself. Can she go and work and earn money to clothe herself properly? Ans.—A married woman has the legal right to pledge her husband's credit for "necessaries." Clothing is a necessary. She has the right to go to any merchant and buy clothing suitable to her circumstances and condition in life, and to tell the merchant to charge the bill to her husband; he can be compelled to pay for it unless he can show that he has supplied his wife with necessities, or has made arrangements with some merchant to do so, and has forbidden her to deal with any other person. As the husband is under a legal obligation to pay for necessities for his wife, of course the law must allow him the right to say where those necessities shall be purchased. (2) There is nothing in the law relating to husband and wife to prevent a wife from going out and working for herself and earning money to support herself. Her husband cannot prevent her, nor interfere with her, and he has no legal right to take her wages or earnings. She has a right to collect her earnings, and use the money as she may see fit.

How Justice is Doled Out.

According to the list of convictions published for the county, there is little or no uniformity in the doling out of Justice in Bruce, the same offences meeting different punishments according to the locality in which they were committed. For instance in Walkerton the list shows that a man may be assaulted for $1, while the person who attempts to swat a man in Kincardine pays $5. The offence is the same in both places, but the penalty is different. Paisley, which is a place of high moral sentiment, strives to keep up the outward show by assessing heavily for sin, that burg being credited on the list with fining a man $20 for being drunk on the street, while in Port Elgin, twelve miles distant $1 is the usual levy for the same offence. The justice shop in Lucknow is run by Robert Graham, the village poet, who being sentimental rather than severe, gives the prisoners every chance to reform without a fine. The only man who does any kicking over there is the constable, who, it is said, finds it unprofitable pastime bringing prisoners before him. The list also shows that the village of Cargill is trying to banish the cow-bell from its streets, four of its citizens being fined for letting their cows run at large. Of 111 convictions recorded in Bruce for the past three months, the Warton police court alone was responsible for 51, or nearly as much as all the county put together. The biggest fine or damages levied on the list were recorded against Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Saunders of Walkerton, who were mulcted $66.00 and costs for the alleged destruction of certain sheep by their dog. All told the past three months have seen a rather big legal grist gathered off the County.—Bruce Times.

Items of Interest

Agricultural Societies fared badly this year, the wet weather diminishing their gate receipts. Fifty societies have applied for a share of the $10,000 voted by the Ontario Government for the purpose and it is likely that the entire amount will be used.

The secret of a happy life does not lie in the means and opportunities of indulging our weaknesses, but it lies in knowing how to be content with what is reasonable, that time and strength may remain to us for the cultivation of our nobler nature.

William Barber shot a silver-gray fox out in Puslinch township ten miles from Hespeler, on Thursday last. He is now the envy of all the sportsmen in town as the skin of the animal is considered worth $450. The fox is a beauty weighing about 25 pounds, and is about seven months old with a fine pelt. It measures 53½ inches over body, and is nearly five feet from tip to tip.

The Dominion Parliament will probably be called for the despatch of business on Nov. 15th. This is on Wednesday, and the custom is for a new parliament to be called together for a Wednesday. The session will be short, probably running only a few days over a month, and will be devoted to the passing of supply. After the expiration of thirty days the members will be entitled to their full indemnity.

The "big head" is a popular way of expressing a common and very frequent ailment. It arises from various sources, but the real foundation is lack of sense. A little money develops it in some people. A few good clothes oftentimes gives it to others. A little office where there is a chance given to exercise some authority is often the cause of it, while others get it by having a little better job than their associates. The truth is no sensible person gets the "big head." The one who becomes stuck up and stiff necked from sources of any kind, is weak in intellect.

RHEUMATISM GONE, SAYS DETECTIVE KILLEN.

Morrissey's No. 7 and Liniment Cured his Knee, "Feels good as new."

St. John, N.B., April 12, 1911. "I am glad to report that my knee is completely cured of Rheumatism—thanks to Father Morrissey's No. 7 Rheumatism & Kidney Tablets, as they alone are responsible for my cure. I was troubled for a number of years, and tried everything I heard of, and needless to say, spent quite a sum of money without any results. I have no further trouble now, and my knee feels as good as new. I was personally acquainted with the late Father Morrissey and know his remedies are good. Anyone suffering from Rheumatism and Kidney trouble should by all means try No. 7 Tablets, as I can cheerfully recommend them."

Provincial Detective, St. John, N.B. The above prescription is not a "Cure-All" or so-called patent medicine. Dr. Morrissey prescribed it for 44 years and it cured thousands after other doctors failed. Price, 50c. per box at your dealers, or Father Morrissey Medicine Co., Limited, Montreal.

Paying For A Reputation.

Why pay for the reputation that any article has" say some purchasers.

Because the reputation that his trade-mark has is the most valuable asset of many a manufacturer. He can't afford to risk that reputation by selling inferior goods. That's why we handle the Kodak Line in our photographic department. The Kodak company cannot afford to put out an inferior article.
