Wit and Humor

The Miser—I never give to the missionary.
The Collector—Then take something out of the plate sir, this money is for heathens.

He's a wonderful doctor," exclaimed a brother member of the faculty. "He has saved more people from dying of old age than any medical man who has ever breathed."

Two darkies were standing on the corner discussing families.
"Yes, suh, man," said Ambrose, "I kin trace my relations back ti a family tree."

"Chase 'em back to a family tree," said Mose.
"Naw, man, trace 'em, trace 'em, get me?"
"Well, dey ain't but two kind of things dat live in trees. Birds an' monkeys, an' you sho' ain't got no feathers on you."

At This Time of the Year As the rich man was motoring through a country district, he noticed an old man seated outside a cottage with all his furniture around him. "Poor old soul," the visitor said, stopping his car and giving the old gentleman a bank-note. "What's your trouble—eviced, I suppose?" "No sir," was the mournful reply, "it's just my old woman housecleaning."

Out on the Farm
The freshman was spending Saturday afternoon on the farm owned by the farmer's papa and the scenery filled him with romance. They were walking through the pasture when he noted a cow and a calf rubbing noses. He stopped and smiled.
"Such a loving sight," he said to the girl, "makes me want to do the same thing."
"Go ahead," said the girl, "it's pa's cow and he won't mind."

Not a Clerical Mission Of a certain bishop, famous as one of the plainest men in England the Liverpool Post tells a pleasing tale. One day, as this homely pa-son sat in an omnibus, he was amazed by the persistent staring of a fellow-passenger, who presently said:
"You're a parson, ain't you?"
"Yes."
"Look 'ere, parson, would you mind coming 'ome with me to see my wife?"
Imagining the wife was sick the clergyman went with the man. On arriving at the house the man called his wife, and pointing to the astonished parson, said:
"Look 'e 'ere, Sairy! Yer said this morning as I wur the hugliest chap in England. Now, just yer look at this bloke!"

A Marvelous System
At Winnipeg one day, an intoxicated individual was having great trouble in negotiating the stairway from the station to the train above.
A "red cap" happened along and with considerable difficulty succeeded in getting the belligerent traveler aboard the train and comfortably seated. Across the aisle was an other passenger to whom the drunk remarked:
"Thash what I call real Shee P.
R. shervish. A fellow drinksh a little too mush, a red cap appeahs on the sheen and helpsh on the train.
Can't beat She P. R. By th' way, where you goin'?"
"I'm going to Toronto," was the reply.
"There you are gain! Wunnerful shervish. Can't be beat. I'm goin' Vancouver—you goin' Toronto, an boash on shame train!"

One on George Railwaymen generally are inveterate practical jokers, but they enjoy a trick just as much as if the laugh is on the other fellow. In the nature of things Canadian railwaymen have considerable contact with their brothers south of the line and many a good story finds its way in both directions across the border, as the following tale will illustrate.
Years ago George Gould was making one of his trips as president of the Missouri Pacific. His private car was laid out on a siding for some reason so he got out to stretch his legs. An old Irishman was tapping the wheels. Gould went up to him.
"Well," he said, "how do you like the wheels?"
"Not worth a dum!" was the Irish-man's prompt reply.
"Well, how do you like the car?" was the next question.
"It's good enough for de wheels."
"What do you think of the road?"
"It matches de car." Gould looked at the old chap for a minute in silence.
"Maybe you don't know who I am?"
"Shure I do!" retorted the wheel-tapper. "You're Jarge Gould, an' I knew your fadder when he was president o' de road, an' be gob he's goin' to be president of it again."
"Why, my father is dead," said Mr. Gould.
"I know dat, but de road is goin' to hell."

The ordinary tax-payer isn't hard-boiled. He is merely soaked.

The old maid says the hope chest is with us yet but it seldom contains a cook book.

Some men think they are wise old owls just because they are always hooting at something.

The English language is called "the mother tongue" because father never had a chance to use it.

Flappers do not attract much attention any more. They won't until they begin wearing clothes again.

There's one thing I would like to know:
Why is a ship a "she"?
Perhaps because it passes up the buoys upon the sea.

A man visiting a country town in Maine went to the local barber shop for a shave. The barber made several slips with his razor and each time he would paste a small piece of paper over the cut to stop the bleeding. When the operation was over the victim handed the man a dollar. "Keep the change, barber," he said, "It is worth a dollar to be shaved by so versatile an artist.
Why, man, you're a barber, butcher and paper-hanger all in one."

Cutting the Price A young matron in which the shopping instinct was strong asked a German grocer the price of lard.
"Twenty-five cents a pound," he replied. "But," she said, "the price at the next corner is only 20 cents."
"Vell," asked Otto, "vy don't you buy it down there?" "They haven't any," she explained. "Oh, I see," replied the grocer. "Ven I don't have any I sell it for 10 cents."

SPEEDING
The speed of a motor May seem quite the thing, But the slightest mistake
And the angels sing.
So, go on you demon
And act like a fool, You're digging your grave,
With a car for a tool.
Death is behind you He'll stick to your rear, But you're a good driver So why should you fear?
You'll take your last ride At sixty miles or more—They'll pick up your pieces, Like others before.
Nothing will stop you,
But death in your path,
So sit a bit closer,
Step on the gas.

FIVE WILL GRADUATE
FROM BRUCE HOSPITAL
The annual graduation exercises of the Bruce county hospital will be held in the Walkerton town hall on Friday evening, May 8, when a class of five will graduate, in the persons of Misses Nellie G. Stout and Kathleen J. Hammill of Owen Sound, Eva M. Rourke of Park Head, and Nora Tanner and Dorothy B. Spong of Paisley. After the awarding of the diplomas and the presentation of pins and flowers, the doctor's address will be given, and an otherwise interesting program rendered, concluding with a dance and social evening for the young people.

ALBERTA COAL COMING
Twenty-five thousand tons of Alberta coal will be shipped and distributed at various points about May 1, purely as an experiment to determine transportation costs and other factors entering into the price of coal to the people of Ontario, according to the trade commissioner for Alberta. Arrangements have already been made between the Alberta and the Federal Governments, while the latter has granted a sum of money for the purpose. The movement will be entirely over the National Railway lines.

Owners of radio sets should not forget that the annual license comes due in a couple of weeks. It is only one dollar a year and it is better to get one than to have an inspector call in on you some day to enquire why you didn't pay up. It is estimated that only about half the owners of sets have ever paid this fee.

CLIFFORD

In the very early hours of Sunday morning McPhail's Garage was broken into, and a quantity of oil taken. The thief was not satisfied with the quantity they needed, but departed leaving the tap of the barrel open, letting the oil running on the floor.

Mr. Adam Ste. Marie jr., of the

SMILE

A smile is quite a funny thing It wrinkles up your face, And when it's gone you never find It's secret hiding place.
But far more wonderful it is To see what smiles can do; You smile at one, he smiles at you And so one smile makes two.

He smiles at someone since you smiled
And then that one smiles back;
And that one smiles until, in truth, You fail in keeping track.
Now, since a smile can do great good,
By cheering hearts of care, Let's smile and not forget, That smiles go everywhere.
