Close of Cheese Season is Said to be Mainly Responsible for Deluge

POULTRY ALL PRICES

Eggs Stay Steady at 60-65—Potatoes and Other Produce about the same

Butter's decline was the feature of the market today, prices being from thirty-five cents to forty. There was quite a large amount offered for sale. The close of the cheese season is mainly responsible for the drop in quotations, although cheese itself advanced today.

Poultry was fairly moderate today, a pair selling as low as seventy-five cents and up to two dollars. There were numerous offerings and the quality of the birds was good. Several ducks strayed upon the mart, selling at $1.50 each.

The meat market was not so active as it has been. Prices remain unchanged. Beef hind quarters were quoted at ten to twelve cents per pound wholesale and forest at six to seven cents. Lamb was worth from 15 to 20c retail.

Eggs were steady, there being no reduction from the figures of the past week, 60 to 65c per dozen.

The potato market was stationary at two dollars per bag.

Grains have not changed in the past week.

Onions brought ninety cents.

Hogs sold this week at eight twenty-five per cwt.

Hay was quoted at $28 to $30 a ton baled and $28 by the load loose.

Vegetables ranged at the usual prices.

This morning's market was not as large as some of the recent Saturday gatherings.

Mother "Jessie," Told She May Attend Funeral Unmolested.

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 12.—The effects of confinement in the suitcase in which it was found with its twin sister on the Windsor ferry six weeks ago, resulted in the death today of one of the abandoned babies at the Hotel Dieu. It was learned after the death of the child that it had never recovered from the effects of suffocation suffered when its mother left it on the deck of the ferry boat. The other child experienced no apparent ill effects from the confinement.

R. Winter, inspector for the Children's Society, sent word to "Jessie" mother of the twins, that she may attend the funeral of her little daughter without fear of molestation.

UNVEIL BRONZE PLAQUE TO COMMEMORATE SERVICE OF BANK'S MEN IN ARMY

Major, the Ven. Archdeacon Beamish, His Honor Judge Wills, His Worship Mayor Hanna, Members of G.W.V.A. and Others Prominent Locally at Interesting Ceremony.

The beautiful interior of the Belleville branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Front street, was the scene of a unique ceremony on Friday afternoon at the close of the banking day, when a beautiful bronze plaque was unveiled to commemorate the service of the seven young men of the Belleville office who served in the Great War. All were privileged to return and are now in the service of the bank in different parts of the country.

The entrance and interior were adorned with flags and potted plants which lent enchantment to the place.

At three o'clock a large number of citizens had assembled at the bank. In the ceremony which followed, addresses were given by officials of various organizations and by some of the largest depositors in the bank.

A number of the members of the G.W.V.A. occupied a place of honor before the memorial.

Mr. A. Y. Snider, Belleville manager, opened the function, welcoming those who had come to witness and to take part in the ceremony of the unveiling of the memorial, and called upon His Honor Judge Wills to act as chairman.

Prayers of thanksgiving for peace and for disarmament were offered by the Reverend Archdeacon Beamish.

Judge Wills referred to the solemnity of the occasion, which was to mark a public recognition by the bank of the services of those members of the staff who had enlisted at Belleville. The chairman thought there should be something of the kind ever to remind the nation of the blessings which came out of the Great War, and the sufferings which it entailed.

"Among those who offered for service there were none more anxious to serve than the young men of the banking institutions of the land," he said. The Bank of Commerce was represented by 1,701 young men on active service, of whom 215 will not return. The staffs of the banking institutions were noble representatives of the spirit of the people. The Bank of Commerce had adopted a plan to memorialize the deeds of its members in the war by the erection of tablets.

The tablet was thereupon unveiled by the flags by the Judge. It is a bronze plaque, placed on the south wall of the public office. At the top is this legend:

"In memory of 1,701 men of the Canadian Bank of Commerce who served in the Great War 1914-1918," and the following names stand out in relief:

"Gunner Louis Joseph Lafferty. "Bdr. William Franklin Sprague (Belleville).

"Flt. Cadet Louis L. Weber. "Gnr. Basil Redfield (Wickham). "Belleville Branch."

The plaque is in the form of a round shield, at the rear being a bronze caduceus with the wings of Mercury and coiled serpents. The caduceus is a symbol of the banking institution.

The chairman read the records of service of the men, showing the various actions and campaigns through which they had passed.

"May it ever be that the young men will grow up with the same loyal spirit," he said, and commended the bank for its recognition.

On behalf of the City of Belleville Mayor Hanna complimented the bank on erecting the plaque on Armistice Day.

President Jamieson Bone of the Chamber of Commerce paid tribute to the loyalty of the young men in the banking profession to their institution and to their country. During the stress of the business depression the bank had not forgotten the service of its members. Mr. Bone referred to the conference on disarmament which it is hoped will bring in a new era.

For the Great War Veterans, President E. D. Finkle spoke: "We as Great War Veterans appreciate the action of the Bank of Commerce in erecting memorial tablets, and it is fitting that the ceremony should take place today."

That loyalty should be taught in the schools was the view of Rev. A. L. Geen. He urged that the returned men should be given the fullest opportunity to return to their places in civil life. He referred to the peace and security which Canadians experienced and praised the action of the bank in setting up the memorial.

"Their names are much more deeply impressed on our hearts," stated Mr. C. M. Reid. "The sacrifices were not in vain, and surely the world must be better. Often one wonders if things are growing better. We trust that something will be done at Washington to make the world better."

For the members of the banking profession, Mr. J. Elliott referred to the loyalty of the banks, and particularly to that manifested by the staffs of the Bank of Commerce. Belleville would always remember those who had gone, never to return, and those who had returned. Not a man but would again be willing to go to the furthest to defeat the aims of such an enemy as threatened the world in the Great War.

Mr. D. V. Sinclair contrasted Armistice Day, Nov. 11, 1918, and today. "I wonder if we are prone to forget. We are grateful to the bank for reminding us. I wonder if we really appreciate the cause that took the young men across. We understand all about the flag and loyalty. But I believe that every young man who left Canada was impelled by the thought that right was might."

"It is a wonderful thing to find a banking institution keeping alive traditions," declared the Rev. D. C. Ramsay. "We were taught that business is business, but today we see that business is more than business in the old sense; it is an ideal that unites men. This tablet speaks to us of the deepest and truest things if we have our minds tuned to hear them."

"Tablets will speak to those that follow," Rev. Geo. Marshall said. "Young men," he declared, addressing the veterans present, "life does not consist so much in doing a big thing as in heroically performing the little things."

At Toronto Toronto, Nov. 12.—A bronze memorial tablet, erected in the office of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, corner of Beech Avenue and Queen street east, in honor of the 1,701 officials and other employees of the institution who enlisted for service during the war, was unveiled last evening. Major Rev. Canon W. L. Baynes-Reed, D.S.O., who performed the unveiling ceremony, paid a glowing tribute to the services rendered by the men of the Canadian Bank of Commerce who enlisted, and to the 258 heroes who made the supreme sacrifice.

Pictou—Mr. E. A. Pearce, manager of the Bloomfield Packing Co., left last week for a several months' stay in England. His trip at this time was necessary because of urgent business in connection with the extension of the European continental countries. Mr. Pearce was chosen for this work because of his familiarity with conditions overseas. The work being undertaken will mean, quite a prolonged stay and it is hoped will result in benefit to the growers and producers of canned goods. Mr. Pearce was accompanied by his wife and daughter.

WARNED AND LET GO

Offense is one Liable to a Fine of $50, and All Drivers are Warned

Magistrate Masson gave the man a warning and let him go fineless.

But the offence is one liable to a fine of fifty dollars and one month's imprisonment the court told the offender.

There will be strict enforcement of the law on this point the police say.

Saw Track But Not Deer; Hunting Season A Frost

Hunters are not having as fine a time in the north country as those who have stayed at home. Deer are fairly scarce in many places, a returned hunter told The Ontario today.

"There was one party of four on the train I came down on and they said they had seen only one track. Another party of six was returning without having seen a deer. Practically the same experience was related by others. They were disgusted." Most of the hunters are sticking out their time in the effort to get their complement.

The fore part of this week was very cold in the hunting grounds, the weather being much colder than it was here. There is not the same amount of snow in the wilds that is to be seen in the southern parts. The total fall was about four inches.

TAR AND FEATHERS USED, ALLEGATION AT BANCROFT; POLICE BUSY ON THE CASE

A tar and feathering scrape is causing much excitement in the vicinity of the village of Bancroft. It is alleged that three residents of that place seized a well known man and took him for a trip of eight miles into the country, where after the usual preparations, he was tarred and feathered and threatened with further maltreatment, should he ever return to Bancroft.

But he did and lodged a complaint. The charge was laid before the magistrate at Banroft.

When the time for the case to come up expired, the complainant did not appear in court to press the charge.

The police magistrate in view of the circumstances notified the Provincial authorities and an investigation has been launched by the department at Magistrate Jarman's request.

It was hinted in some quarters that the man was spirited away to avoid appearance at the trial of the alleged offenders.

W. C. A. SEEKS DONATIONS FOR THOSE IN NEED HERE

According to an announcement to the newspapers today the Indigent committee of the W. C. A. would be pleased to receive donations of money, clothing or shoes, old or new, for grown ups or children, from the merchants and citizens. The recent snow fall has brought them many calls for help and in order to meet the demands of the coming winter, which will be numerous, their resources will be taxed to the utmost. Several cases have been reported during the past week where clothing has been required, and where children have been prevented from attending school because they had not the necessary footwear.

Would anyone having any contributions to offer kindly send them to the Welfare Bureau or call up Miss Smith (telephone 1047) who will arrange to send for them.

Turning to the rapid cycle of world events, he believed that ere the many conferences which are in session or about to convene, would adjourn, the world would have accomplished much. Discussing current events in Ireland, he said he was always greatly impressed with the leadership of John Redmond, and believed in the course he followed as the most practical one, even though progress might have been regarded as slow. He added that Redmond would have been glad to accept the settlement that was now offered.

IN MEMORY of a loving husband and father—Dr. Moore, late of Shannonville, who was called away Nov. 12, 1920. Mrs. Moore, Eadythe and Douglas, 191 Albert Street

Too many "leaks" and tips on forthcoming raids led to the discharge of six Massachusetts prohibition enforcement officers.

CASE IS ENLARGED. Magistrate Masson today enlarged for five days the cases of S. Melloch vs. Jacob Goldberry and Mrs. Goldberry for an alleged abusive language and of Rex vs. Goldberry for alleged theft from a partner, under section 552 of the Criminal Code.

Nine Christenings In One Afternoon By Adj. Cavender

Nine christenings in a couple of hours. That was the task which Adjutant Cavender of the Salvation Army performed on Friday afternoon.

The children were all infants with the exception of two who had reached the ages of five and six years.

Besides the christened were all the children of English speaking residents of Belleville. Adjutant Cavender has set a record that is perhaps without an equal in local baptismal annals, for these were all distinct services.

FINDS $5,000 IN SHOE

Polish Woman Sent Her Bank to "Cobbler"—Recovers it

BAYONNE, N. J., Nov. 11.—Five thousand dollars wadded tightly in the toe of a shoe brought to him for repairs gave Frank Seville, a cobbler, the thrill of his life. Seville found, on trying to place the shoe on a last, that there was an obstruction in the toe, and after considerable tugging he brought out a wad of green paper. Examination showed that the wad consisted of one $1,000 bank note and forty $100 bills.

Seville, as soon as he could regain his voice, called his wife, and they were considering the purchase of a poultry farm when a perturbed Polish woman rushed in and claimed the money. It was returned and the woman left leaving $20 as a reward.

As a Wilmington, Del., street car was on its last trip for the night, it ran over a polecat. The passengers finished their journey on foot.

DUBLIN VISITOR ON IRISH AFFAIRS

Sir William Taylor of Trinity College Gives Views on Erin's Condition

MUST GET TOGETHER

Sinn e Fin and Craig Must Buy Hatchet—This Would Settle the Affair

MONTREAL, Nov. 12.—"If Sinn Fein and Sir James Craig would get together and become friends, it would be a great opportunity for Ireland, and surely she is worth more to them than the inconvenience and cost of one little act of charity toward each other in the common interests of all."

Thus Sir William Taylor, of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, and Trinity College, Dublin, expressed himself last night, at the Ritz-Carlton, relative to the Irish question.

Sir William has been visiting the United States and Canada conferring degrees on prominent Americans and Canadians. He returned to Montreal yesterday to see the Royal Victoria Hospital on his way home. He is accompanied by Sir Robert Woods, member of Parliament for Trinity College. Sir William Taylor is a member in the South of Ireland Senate, which assembly never functioned.

A heavy snowfall greeted Sir William Taylor yesterday and he expressed great delight at the beauty of the snow. "It impressed me a great deal and I am glad that I had been privileged to see the first real winter fall. It is simply wonderful."

Turning to the rapid cycle of world events, he believed that ere the many conferences which are in session or about to convene, would adjourn, the world would have accomplished much. Discussing current events in Ireland, he said he was always greatly impressed with the leadership of John Redmond, and believed in the course he followed as the most practical one, even though progress might have been regarded as slow. He added that Redmond would have been glad to accept the settlement that was now offered.
