

VIENNA CLAIMS THAT MOVEMENTS WERE SUCCESSFUL

Russians are Forced to Battle on Front Dictated to Them.

(By Special Wire to the Courier)

BERLIN, via London, Nov. 8, 5 a.m.—The war correspondent of the Vienna Neue Freie Presse, surveying the situation in the eastern war theatre gives the first picture of the progress in Russia Poland last month that has been available on this side. "Early in October," he says, "the Russians had begun the siege of Przemyel with five army corps and great masses of cavalry and several mixed columns had been shifted to the north to launch a blow against the German frontiers. The surprising advance of the Austrians against Ivangorod and the movement of a new German army against Warsaw, forced the Russians behind the Vistula. Their deployment, however, was delayed by the highly successful attacks of the armies of General Von Hindenburg and Danell."

After detailing the already reported Austrian successes in Galicia by which which Przemyel pickers and outpost duty. "I do not want to blow my own trumpet, but I must say that the bus drivers from London are doing splendid service in the field, and I think that our officers and N.C.O.'s will be the first to admit the truth of this."

ELY'S CREAM BALM OPENS CLOGGED NOSTRILS AND HEAD—CATARRH GOES

Instantly Clears Air Passages; You Breathe Freely, Nasty Discharge Stops, Head Colds and Dull Headache Vanish.

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately. Don't lay awake to-night struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foamy mucous droppings into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

On sale at leading drug stores in Brantford.

3 OILS CLEANS PREVENTS

It has been found that 18 years ago the first motor car was built. It was a simple affair, but it was the beginning of a new era. The motor car has since become an indispensable part of our lives. It has made travel so much easier and so much more enjoyable. It has also made it possible for us to visit our friends and relatives in other parts of the country. It has made it possible for us to see the world. It has made it possible for us to live more comfortably and more happily. It has made it possible for us to live longer and more healthily. It has made it possible for us to live more fully and more completely. It has made it possible for us to live more joyfully and more contentedly. It has made it possible for us to live more peacefully and more harmoniously. It has made it possible for us to live more lovingly and more kindly. It has made it possible for us to live more generously and more selflessly. It has made it possible for us to live more bravely and more courageously. It has made it possible for us to live more nobly and more heroically. It has made it possible for us to live more gloriously and more triumphantly. It has made it possible for us to live more magnificently and more splendidly. It has made it possible for us to live more gloriously and more triumphantly. It has made it possible for us to live more magnificently and more splendidly.

"MADE IN CANADA"

The last three days of the display, and will be given the utmost prominence to the merchandise which is "Made in Canada" to familiarize the people with the goods that are made in this country. It is a fact that such an increased demand for Canadian goods during these trying times is a minimum.

When it is remembered that nearly $700,000,000 worth of goods could have been produced in this country that the commerce would be largely maintained, a strong sense of loyalty to the goods that are made in this country will be induced.

Let every merchant and every citizen next to become more familiar with the goods that are made in this country. Let every two dollars spent in this country be a Canadian dollar.

THE GERMAN IN THE SUN

A curious commentary upon the German whom about having no place in the sun is to be found in the fact that the German immigrant nearly always elects as his future home a country in which the sun's rays are not prevented from falling upon him by the black shadow of the German flag. About 15,000,000 Germans have made their homes under the protection of the British, the American and other foreign flags. With few exceptions they make admirable citizens and colonists, achieve a high average of prosperity and are heartily welcomed by the peoples of other races with whom they reside. A large proportion renounce their allegiance to the Kaiser and becoming naturalized citizens of the countries in which they settle, shake off the military tyranny of the Prussian Junkers. They become free men and absolutely their own masters. Not the slightest pressure is brought to bear upon them to induce them to change their allegiance; they act entirely upon their own volition and I have never happened to meet a Canadian of German birth who said that he regretted having become a British subject.

How is it with the German emigrant who go to the German colonies? Germany has had possession of

LATEST FISH STORY

(From the Gazette, Montreal, October 31, 1914.)

The latest fish story that has been sprung on the public—a story which "out-whops" some of the most famous of the Whopper Club series—is that told by J. Jones, an inspector in the agricultural branch of the Canadian Pacific, whose activities are confined to the Rosemary colony, near Nassau.

There is nothing of the piking attitude about the story but the fish. The fish were pike. It appears that there has been started among the fish of the Bow River a "back to the land" movement, with the irrigated land preferred. Mr. Jones says that on the land, or on one particular farm, in the Rosemary colony, the water was turned into the ditches one morning for two hours and then turned off. When it had all seeped away into the ground there were enough pike found to feed thirteen men for one meal. Since that time a number of fish have been obtained. In fact there seems to be a serious sort of mania among these fish to get out of the water at the earliest possible moment.

It appears that many of the irrigation ditches are full of fish, and in some places one of the favorite resorts is to go out and "land" a flock of fish for breakfast.

Do You Buy Goods in Brantford Made by Canadian Manufacturers?

How time flies! Fourteen weeks since the war started. With it a feeling of depression spread broadcast; some at the beginning prophesied "hard times ahead." Still the fact remains that while certain lines of goods have been reluctantly raised in price, on account of shortage in raw materials, we are all holding our own, and striving to make conditions better by trading with our local merchants, and buying Canadian-made goods.

Brantford Merchants Need Your Support

By buying at home we are helping the bread-winners of Brantford to keep the wheels turning; a great responsibility rests on the shoulders of every adult Brantfordite at this time. Every dollar spent in Brantford indirectly goes to help a multitude of Brantford people. If we send our dollar out of town we lose this mighty effect, and others who are in no way responsible for the re-investment of our money with us, are benefited.

War at its best is a mighty hard proposition to deal with, but we, as good British subjects, unhesitatingly accept our responsibility, and bear our burden unflinchingly. In several different lines large manufacturing concerns have benefited and are working night and day shifts to turn out their goods. Those who are closely identified with these concerns are the gainers. In other lines it may be that business has slackened to some extent. This state of affairs cannot be governed in these times. Our own responsibility rests with keeping the wheels turning at home.

Patronize Your Local Merchant

Spend your money where it will do the most good to the majority, and don't forget you are one of the majority. Your money spent at home, with the other fellow's money spent at home, gives the local merchant a working capital to re-invest in labor. Your sons and daughters, husbands and neighbors are the gainers. We are all dependent on one another; and don't think that by buying out of town, for an imaginary gain, you are saving money. You cannot prove it, and it will not work out.

Why is it that when a circus comes to town it is taxed a high rate by the city authorities for show privileges? Because it takes so much money out of town. It is here to-day and gone to-morrow, but we remain. We have got to look to home industry for our daily bread—something that is a fixture, that produces in our midst. We all should become fixtures, producers, not mere transients, in that we exist from Brantford capital, and spend it for the benefit of others.

Brantford needs your money—you need Brantford money. It is give-and-take game all around. Talk this "Buy in Brantford" proposition over with your neighbor. Compare opinions. Find out from yourself just where you stand on this vital question. Courier ads tell you where to go.

DO IT NOW.

WAR STORIES FROM FRONT

(Letter from one of the Naval Brigade, now in St. George's hospital.)

"We were told we were wanted at Antwerp, so at night we entrained in dancised carriages for a station near there. We were to make a dash, and we learned that we might get a surprise from the Germans, but we arrived at our destination all right early the next morning, and the people were there waiting for us with hot coffee and all kinds of food. About 10 p.m. our commodore gave us orders to proceed at once to Antwerp, so we fell in and had more German pills—Dr. Churchill's pills for pale people (bullets) handed out to us before we and we gave three cheers for him, and cheers for the King and Mr. Churchill, then marched to our trenches, in which we remained for three days and three nights."

The Magic Banquet.

(Letter from Armourer Staff-Sergeant R. Innies to his wife at Enfield Lock.)

"You ask how we are getting along. Well, just listen to this: don't know how it was done, or where it came from, but for dinner the other day we had spuds, greens, bread, duff and tea. Of course that doesn't come off every day, but just fancy that lot on active service!

The other morning we encountered a party of Germans in a wood, and some of the "jocks" went for them. When the Germans saw the fixed bayonets they started crying. (Many soldiers letters repeat this strange statement). They don't like the cold steel. Our aviators are doing fine work."

Murdered Officer.

(Letter from Weeding, of the Surrey County Council staff, now at the front.)

"Poor Captain Horne of the Cameron Highlanders, was practically murdered. He was shot in both legs, and was carried to a ditch slightly in the rear of the firing line and left with a sergeant.

Then the regiment had to retire. They made a red cross of a handkerchief with his own wood, and hoisted it on a stick. They advanced again later and found Captain Horne with his head knocked in by rifle bullets and shot.

A Lucky Escape.

(Letter, dated October 3, from Trooper W. G. Fish, 9th Lancers, to his parents at Chingford.)

"We are living in a trench, but luckily we have the German shells. One day we came in from the trenches and got the order to groom our horses. When we had finished we were all talking together, when we heard a whistling noise in the air. Some of us scattered and some stood still; then all of a sudden there was a terrific report. A German shell had dropped right in the middle of our troop.

Altogether that day we lost eleven killed and forty-eight wounded, besides horses which had to be shot because of their injuries.

I had a little splinter each side of my neck and one behind the nose, and I think I was lucky, indeed, because the sergeant I was standing beside was killed on the spot.

"Our Troops More Confident Every Day."

(Letter from Pte. P. Young, R.A.M.C., to his brother at Brighton.)

"We had a narrow escape the other day. We had all been called out of a barn where we sleep to attend a service in the hospital (which is a mansion belonging to a French admiral). We have got a person here, so we have two services a week and Holy Communion on Sunday morning. Ten minutes after we had left the barn a German "coal-box" crashed through the roof and through one side of the wall and dropped into the garden in front of the hospital, but luckily it was Sunday morning.

We have not been getting so many wounded during the last few weeks. We go about as if we were at home. We have even played football in the garden, although there was a German aeroplane hovering over our heads, and a few shells burst not far away. Our troops are doing well and getting more confident every day.

Religion and Football.

(Letter from Private Edward Ham, Royal Scots Fusiliers.)

"As we can't always be killing Germans, we are some times hard put to it to kill time in the trenches. Next to religion, I think football's the thing that interests us most, and we are always eager to hear news of our teams at home.

The papers that reach us have not got much news of that kind in, and it would be a godsend to us if only somebody would take on hand to start a paper for circulating among the troops, giving nothing but the latest football news.

"Bus Drivers at the Front."

Private F. Dodkin, home from the front on sick leave, writes to refute the suggestion in a French soldier's letter (published in The Evening News on Wednesday) that the accidental burning of a British ammunition wagon was caused by "bus drivers from London smoking pipes contrary to orders" while filling petrol tanks. Private Dodkin says: "I have been driver of a motor lorry in charge of ammunition, and would like you to publish the following facts to contradict the French soldier's letter.

"In the first place our officers take every precaution to guard the safety of ammunition wagons. When we are not on the move we have a roll call at 7 a.m. and afterwards we muster with rifles and put in from one to one and a half hours rifle drill. We also take our turn in line

IN THE BLACK SEA

LONDON, Nov. 9.—7:55 a.m.—A despatch from Berlin states that the Russian Black Sea fleet has left the astropol and is proceeding eastward, says the Central News correspondent at Copenhagen. The Russians, says his despatch, have bombarded Koblenz and Snglu on the coast of Asia Minor.

GERMANS AT BRUGES

LONDON, Nov. 9.—An Amsterdam despatch to Reuters' Telegram Company says: "The Telegraph's correspondent at Sluis, Netherlands, says that on Saturday before day-break a British or French aviator dropped a bomb on Bruges, apparently destined for the railway station, but no damage was done. During the night 15,000 to 20,000 Germans arrived at Bruges. Between Ostend and Newport all is quiet."
