But "Fruit-a-lives" Brought Health and Strength

29 St. Rose St., MONTREAL.

"I am writing you to tell you that I owe my life to 'Fruit-a-lives'. This medicine relieved me when I had given up hope of ever being well. I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia—had suffered for years; and nothing I took did me any good. I read about 'Fruit-a-lives' and tried them. After taking a few boxes, of this wonderful medicine made from fruit juices, I am now entirely well."

SUGAR SMUGGLING ACROSS THE BORDER

Customs House Officer at Milltown Bridge Run Down and Injured by Truck

St. Stephen, N. B., June 27.—The traffic in sugar continues, but in diminishing volume due to increased vigilance on the part of government of Nova Scotia. Following instructions from Ottawa, orders have been issued that no sugar is to be transported in town between six p. m. and six a. m. under any pretext, and that all sugar in transit during these hours shall be concealed, together with the carrying vehicles, but there are still some venturesome operators willing to take a chance. There is still a large stock of sugar stored in barns about town which the profiteers are feverishly anxious to get transferred to the United States side of the river before the anticipated decline in the price of the stuff.

A high handed piece of work in the sugar traffic occurred at the Milltown bridge early Saturday morning of which more is quite likely to be heard. At two o'clock, and after the street lights were sent off, an auto truck was seen crossing the Calais side, and Patrick Caughlin, a crippled customs officer, and the only one then on duty, stepped into the street, and waved for the driver to stop. The order was disregarded and the truck of the car, discernible next morning, showed that the car had been so swerved as to catch the officer. Mr. Caughlin was dragged some distance before the car was stopped and, subsequently medical examination showed that the aged officer had sustained numerous cuts and bruises. The car might have kept right on and the old gentleman allowed to suffer any fate, had not his son, Harry Caughlin, who was a voluntary guardian of the safety of his father, mounted to the rear of the car and engaged the driver in a fight that terminated in the driver, a St. Stephen man, since being confined to his bed with a severe scalp wound, said to have been inflicted with a monkey wrench.
