FOSTER RUNS AMUCK.

The moderate and reasonable cours of Parliamentary debate was last nigh for the first time this session interrupt ed by an ill-tempered and insinuating attack upon the Premier. The offender was Mr. Foster, whose nature seems to have became saturated with gall and bitterness by the failure of his efforts to score against the Liberal Government. Mr. Foster is a living example of what jealousy and suspicion can make a man. His very kindness is tinctured with sarcasm; partisan bitternes transpires from his every pore. He seems to see life, especially political life, through blue-green goggles, and he appears to be obsessed by a devouring desire to cast reflections upon the honor of the men whom he is unable to defeat in a fair contest. His offence last night was utterly without excuse, Speaking to Mr. Doherty's resolution calling for sweeping investigation of every department of the proceeded to indulge his usual bent for sarcasm, insinuation, sneers and gibes, ending up, before the Speaker could insinuations | Province. of dishonesty in the departments, by asking if prosecution of the alleged wrongdoers had not been undertaken in the proceeds," Then he added, as the Speaker arose, "for party purposes

For once Mr. Foster allowed his illtemper too much latitude. Sir Wilfrid promptly accepted the gauge thus thrown down in the blackguardiy attack upon him personally, and in his reply evoked loud cheers by the significant remark addressed to Mr. Foster "I have only this to say to Mr. Foster, that having now spent a long life in the public service I never before had a man suggest that I profited by the people's There is no man more ready to make an insinuation than the hon. member for North Toronto, and no man who smarts so much when he receives a I can say, Mr. Speaker," added Sir Wilfrid Laurier, with emphasis, "I never manipulated the people's money never manipulated trust funds.

Pale with chagrin and rage, Mr. Foster jumped to his feet, wildly protesting against the Premier's remark, and ne of considerable confusion en sued. Sir Wilfrid made no attempt to conceal the fact that his remark refer red to Mr. Foster, and the Speaker hav applied directly to that gnetleman they out of order, Sir Wilfrid agreed to withdraw them, intimating that Foster must learn common cour tesy toward the other members of the House. The buncombe motion, upon which the attack was founded, was defeated in a thin House by a majority of 40.

PERFECT RECOVERY IS DUE TO CUTICURA

"With the exception of his hands and feet, my son Clyde (thirteen years old) was almost completely covered with eczema. Physicians treated him for nearly a year without helping him any. While they were very kind and did all in their power, yet nothing seemed to relieve him. And I had tried many remedies sent to me by kind friends but they all failed. His head, face, and neck were covered with large scabs which he would rub until they fell off. Then blood and matter would run out and that would be worse. Many a time he looked as if his ears would drop off. Friends coming to see him said that if he got well he would be disfigured for life.

"When it seemed as if he could possibly stand it no longer, I decided to try Cuticura. I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Resolvent. I used them in the evening and that was the first night for nearly a year that he slept. This may sound exaggerated to you, but the theorem of the words a great change for the better.
