Dear Father—I like your book and I hope to see others from your facile pen. I like the style, simple and unpretentious and the doctrine, needless to say, sound. A subscriber sends us a clipping with this description of a game for children which, she says, is beautiful. Let all the children join hands and form a ring. If the number is large, there should be four bridges at the quarter points of the ring these her. quarter points of the ring, these being numbered one, two, three and four—one opposite three and two Straight and Round Cluster Rings and a beautiful assortment of unset gems to select from that I am offering at rock bottom prices to cash custo-

Perhaps mamma or a friend will play some bright, fanfiliar tune on the piano, which all the children must follow, singing, "Tra-la-la, tra-la-la," as they skip along, keeping step to the music. They go one or more times around in a circle, then the leader indicates where a "oridya" is to be made. The children raise their joined hands, and the two children standing opposite in the ring cross the centre of the circle. All the others following after pass, under the bridge. Then, turning to the right and left, respectively, the two lines follow the path of the circle as first formed. The path of the circle as first formed, appears as if by magic, and the children opposite it lead again through it, while, keeping merry with song and step. This is a very pretty game. W. A PLEASANT SURPRISE.

Miss Nellie McDonald, daughter of the General radio floopitat, Water-loo street, graduated from that in-stitution on Saturday last. Tangible evidence of the esteem in which she is held by her associates there was shown, when, on that day, Miss Donahey, of Canterbury station, on behalf of the other nurses presented her with a touching and appropriate ad-dress, accompanied with a pretty em-blematic pin. Miss McDonald was much affected and highly delighted with such proof of good will as displayed on this happy occasion.
