

A Parsonic gent caught quite a number of Pike near the beach, last Sunday night, this gent generally fares well, but we think it must be owing to the particular kind of bait he used which was katydid, something like a grass hopper. BUSYBEE.

You will always know young ladies that have been to the metropolis on a visit, by the hienous swaying of their heads. PRIDE

Moriarty and his friends visited the Mansion House, while in Carbonar. there is not any, use Hunting about it. You know Moriarty is the boss ladies man.

The Sheppard boy was the butt of the Bonnet hop in the Total Abstinence Hall on Tuesday night. His uniform and belt would add to his impetuous appearance had he worn it.

Amongst the spectators on the wharf seeing the Hercules and her precious freight depart were John, the knight of the goose, and his Joe, also a member of other celebrities

James the law student is awful mad that six of their men were put out in such a short time. He says it is the fault of the ground not the fault of the men, and no more. That's generally what a man tells his wife when he staggers. Oh! James don't be so uncharitable.

McKay, the ex-draper, made a fool of himself by singing and spouting to the displeasure of Moriarty and friends

Policeman S—d was out of order on the wharf just before the steamer Hercules left Harbor Grace Wednesday morning. He was so much so, it would be necessary for some of his friends (?) to carry him to the police office but for a certain occurrence. We would advise this gent to closely read over his manual before performing further duty. The eye of the Wasp is on you Mr Sheep-sunder.

Poor Hee! we cannot but pity him. Once the centre of female attraction from the fair Winnicomb to the ripe Dogberry; he is now alas! but a miserable specimen of humanity a waif on the sea of time. Like all of us he has seen his brightest day, to be followed by perpetual darkness, and we cannot but exclaim

"Into each life some rain must fall. Some days must be dark and dreary." If we could read the secret history of even our greatest enemy, we should find in his life sorrow and suffering enough to disarm all hostility; and we must comfort ourselves with the thought: "Only those are crowned and sainted who with grief have been acquainted." He once thought to cut us out; but Mr Poor paid him up for it a short time afterwards. As the old proverb says "every dog have his day."

NEW BOOKS.

The following books are now in press and will shortly be published:— An encounter with a gigantic Hores-tinger, near the Parade Ground, in 1872, by Billy Comfort D.F., price 25 cents.

Matrimony, or advise to those contemplating marriage (on the cheap) by Maurice de Vio, B.F. This work is very interesting and contains 25 illustrations, including the portrait of the author, which in itself is worth the price of the book, 50 cents.

Flirting, or how I fool the girls, by Stonewall Parkerson, B.P. This work explains all about courting, etc.; and tells you that engagements are made to be broken, and exhorts young men to place no confidence in a woman's word. Price 50 cents.

Adventures of Johnny Owllet and his stick, by Charlie Kick, Esq., Q.C. This work is profusely illustrated and Johnny's encounter with the Zulu named Bryan is vividly portrayed. Price $1.

Vanity, or people who are in the habit of putting on airs, by Charlie Seemore, B.S. This book should be in every family, as it teaches both men and women simple unadulterated etiquette, and explains that altho' a man may be poor; yet he should not be cast overboard. Mr Seemore also gives a few gentle hints to young men, and remarks that "any young man who is out of his house after 11 o'clock at night is or should not be considered a decent member of society." It also contains his portrait when 38 years old. Price $2.

To MINNIE W—, (St. John's.)

"Know thyself" is a maxim you should practice. It is anything but becoming to a female to be so fond of watching Coffee Houses, or in fact to be so forward as you are. You may think yourself a modern Venus; we don't. Why! even Crawford's parrot is constantly tattling about you, and the other evening we heard him exclaim, "Minn keep back from the window." A word to the wise is sufficient. MUTTON CHOP

I would advise a certain young lady in St John's, not to be so fond of following up some of the worthless fellows going round. If a girl can't get a fellow to follow her up, by all means let him rip. I know, for myself, I would never ask my aunt to come out and chase any fellow up. But where the joke comes in is, that after all her manoeuvring Tom only winks at her, were I her, the next time he would call, I would bar him out. MAB

We envy the woman whose husband's name is comfort; because in him she has all the pleasures (I would say bestow on any female, and in quitting this "vale of tears" she may well exclaim "but for the wasps and mosquitos I would have lived more comfortable; but now I die happy."

We are requested to state that at the Regatta to be held in St John's next month; an interesting scull race, will come off which will be contested by the following young bloods, viz:— J—n C—ll, B—y H—y, M—n F—g, S—y M—y. We'd bet on Silvey.

The next two months will be watched with more than usual interest by many in St John's on account of several important parcels being in course of preparation for delivery. We fear however, the freight will come expensive on at least two of the consignees whose names will appear when the parcels arrive.
