An Appreciation.

OF THE LATE JOSIAH GARLAND, BY THE LATE REV. JAMES DOVE, DATED AT ST. JOHN'S, N.F., MAY, 19th, 1907.

"Mark the perfect Man, and behold the upright, for the latter end of that Man is peace.—Prov., xxxvii., v. 37."

"The memory of the just is blessed.—Prov., x., v. 7."

My acquaintance with Mr. J. Garland dates as far back as 1860, when I was stationed at Lower Island Cove, B.D.V. District. His parents occupied a very respectable position in the community being in very comfortable circumstances. The registry of his birth gives 22nd March, 1826 as the date of his entry into this world. The Garland family, by their diligence in business, sterling integrity, self-respect, were always held in high esteem by their fellow townspeople. Owing to the ups and downs in our commercial life in the early fifties, Mr. Garland decided to enter professional life and spent the best part of his school life teaching. As a teacher he was faithful in his efforts to advance his pupils and many who received their education from him have been most successful in their professional and commercial life. He brought up his family to maintain an honorable spirit of independence, to lean upon themselves for their success in life, through many discouragements he maintained his position in life and his family are now reaping the advantage of the training he imparted to them and the example he set before them. Retiring from school teaching some fifteen years ago he removed to St. John's and shortly after secured a position in the Department of Agriculture and Mines, from which he was retired some five years ago. For nearly sixty years he was a consistent member of the Methodist Church, walking in the fear of the Lord and in the comfort of the Holy Spirit.—Com.

Appropriate Discourse.

Rev. Father Pippy, of St. Patrick's Church, in the course of his sermon delivered yesterday, at mass, referred to the damage done by boys to public and private property, and was sorry to have to admit that even the sacred precincts of the churches were not immune from damage, as pencil markings and defacing of the walls testified. As far as he could hear the tendency to damage and destroy property was on the increase, and Fr. Pippy exhorted parents and guardians to inculcate in the minds of those in their charge more respect for the rights and property of the public.

Big Day at Nickel.

There will be a programme of exceptional interest at the Nickel Theatre to-day, afternoon and evening. Four full reels of pictures will be exhibited. They have been specially selected and will, we think, prove of the greatest pleasure to spectators. Misses Gardner and Guerin will be heard in dainty songs at to-day's performance. No patron of the Nickel should miss this evening's performance.

Lintrose Passengers.

The Lintrose arrived at Port aux Basques at 6.30 a.m. yesterday, bringing L. R. Jenkins, J. B. Orr, J. B. Harrington, W. Keating, Miss Mary Dillon, N. Rogers, H. J. Crowe, John P. Field, D. Feder, W. C. Smith, Mrs. J. F. Hann, Miss O. Billard, Miss M. Keeping, J. W. Sederquest, Neill Campbell, H. L. Goodman, Wm. March, M. W. Furlong.

Marine Notes.

The s.s. Adventure will sail the latter part of the week for Bell Island, to take an ore cargo to Philadelphia. The s.s. Tabasco sails to-morrow from Halifax for this port. The s.s. Norhilda sailed Saturday for Anticosti to load deals.

Kastalia's Repairs.

The work on the s.s. Kastalia, which went on dock Friday forenoon, is being done with thoroughness and expedition. Several of the plates in the bows have been indented and a number of rivets loosened, and the plates will be straightened and the rivets replaced with new ones. The Kastalia is one of the largest ships seen on the dock for some time past.

ARRESTED HIM.—Saturday night a resident of Trinity Bay, after entering a store on New Gower Street, protested that he had lost his watch and chain there insinuating that it had been stolen. The proprietor sent for the police, who seeing that the man was intoxicated, took him to the police station. If the ticker was taken from him it was stolen elsewhere.

First Sunday Excursion

The first Sunday afternoon excursion train for the season of 1913 left here yesterday taking 170 persons to different places along the line as far as Kelligrews. The train was taken out by the veteran Conductor Stephen Howlett, engine 106 drawing the train which was composed of 6 cars. This was the largest number to go out on the first Sunday excursion since its inception. All who went thoroughly enjoyed the outing.

MORE SMALLPOX.—An outbreak of smallpox was reported in the Goss family, on Plymouth Road, Saturday evening. A boy was pronounced suffering from the disease and was removed to the Fever hospital.

Stephano in Port.

The S. S. Stephano, Capt. Clarke, 5 days from New York via Halifax, reached port yesterday afternoon, bringing a mail and a full general cargo. The passage was pleasant throughout, the weather being summer like. The run from Halifax was made in forty-three hours. The following passengers came in saloon. From New York:—Messdames Sinnott (2), Mrs. F. Canning and two children, Mrs. J. Duff and two children, C. and Mrs. Fisher, E. A. Ruiz, S. T. and Mrs. Whelan, D. Rinehart, Miss M. Spurrell, Mrs. J. H. Jardine, Mrs. J. Waterman, Mrs. F. O'Callaghan, G. W. Veltch, C. A. Benetson, Miss L. Buchanan, B. DeVos, Mr. and Mrs. Cook. From Halifax:—F. L. and Mrs. Clarke, W. E. Hefferman, G. Stover, F. B. and Mrs. Schurle, W. G. Cochran, Miss J. Dawson, Miss L. Stanley, W. H. Trask, J. C. Jones and four in steerage.

Blocked With Ice.

At 11.40 last night the S. S. Meigle, Capt. Gooble, arrived at Humbermouth and wired the following to the Reid N.E. Co.:—

"Made all ports of call to Flower's Cove except Port aux Choix and Bartlett's Harbor, both harbours being filled with ice; could not enter any harbour east of Port Saunders; had E.N.E. winds all the passage; large quantities of ice are passing to the West; believe Straits again blocked."

When Language Fails.

The English tongue, as taught in schools, and governed grammatical rule, is good enough, most of the times; 'twas good enough for Scott and Pope when they produced their brilliant d o p e, their stories and their rhymes. 'Twas good enough for Shakespeare, too, who wrote "The Taming of the Shrew," and all of Bacon's plays; and Coleridge found it good hot stuff, and Wordsworth thought it rich enough in which to frame his lays. It's good enough for those who teach, and for the gifted men who preach, for jurists of renown; but when the sporting writers fall to work to write up games of ball, the tongue is out and down. They borrow something from the Greek and from the tongue the Choctaws speak and from the Eskimos; they draw some symbols from the Slavs and ancient toms are split in halves for adverbs no one knows. I read the daily baseball yarn and then go out behind the barn where I can swear in peace; I cannot tell when all is done, which team's ahead and which has won a string of eggs of geese. I wish Sam Johnson could be here, that Edward Gibbon could appear, a pencil in his hand! Such men as these, with stately phrase would write about the divers plays so men could understand.

Another Narrow Escape

From Serious Street Car Accident.

Another serious street car accident was barely averted on Saturday night. About 8.15 as John Finnecune was crossing the street railway track at the foot of Long's Hill, coming from his home on Cook's Street, he was knocked down by street car No. 2, in charge of Motorman Oakley and Conductor Rowe. Finnecune did not notice the tram approaching until it was quite near or about three yards distance from him. He then became excited and had not the presence of mind to get out of the way. Oakley, the motorman, when he saw danger ahead promptly applied the emergency brake and undoubtedly saved Finnecune from being run over and perhaps killed, but was too late to prevent the fender of the car striking Finnecune and throwing him violently on the wayside. The victim was picked up by citizens and brought into Eagan's store where Dr. Roberts attended him. Finnecune was badly shaken up, sustained several bruises but was not seriously hurt. Later Supt. Andrews of the street car service, had the injured man driven home. Finnecune was sober at the time of the mishap.
