Giant Steel Hands Will Seek Millions In Sunken Chests.

Immense steel hands will reach down through 55 fathoms of water and seek out the $5,000,000 in gold which sunk with the P. & O. liner Egypt six months ago off Ushant.

A Swedish engineering firm has agreed to spend $500,000 to raise the gold. They are confident of success. If they do they will reap $5,000,000 and Lloyd's, who met the heaviest loss in the shipwreck will get the remainder.

A specially equipped submarine will be sent to the bottom when the wreck has been definitely found. The hulk will be explored from all sides and accurate charts made. Targets will then be selected in the Egypt's hull and large holes made with torpedoes.

Exactly what will happen then is a dark secret, except for the fact that a monstrous engineering device, rivaling the Argonauts of Jules Verne, is in preparation for the work. All that is known is that the human hand is the underlying motif of the scheme. The hands, attached to giant arms, will reach into the ship and grasp the chests of gold. The steel fingers will not relax, even though the water at that depth would crush a diver's helmet. The treasure will be lifted at the sea bottom and then brought to the surface.

Details of this romantic undertaking have been threshed out by hard headed business men who are behind it and work will begin in May. If the project succeeds it will open up the prospect of recovering untold millions at the bottom of the sea.

Ease for Tired Feet.

When the weather becomes warmer the feet are often painful, especially after walking and dancing. A most excellent remedy for the trouble is bay salt, which may be obtained from all chemists. Add two or three table-spoonfuls to sufficient warm water to cover the feet. Then soak for ten minutes and a wonderful feeling of relief will be experienced.

When the shoes rub the foot a blister is likely to appear. As soon as the sore feeling is experienced rub the red part with a little vaseline and there will be no danger of a blister. If vaseline cannot be obtained any good yellow soap will answer the purpose if the skin is not broken.

When, after walking, any part of a shoe presses painfully instant relief may be obtained by placing a cloth wrung from hot water on the leather. This causes it to stretch a little and makes the shoe more comfortable.

THE HOBBY.

I think it well to have a hobby, one's hours of leisure to amuse; and I have one that's nice and nobby—collecting great men's overshoes. I have the shoes of every geezer who ever won a world renown; I have the ones that Julius Caesar was wearing when they struck him down. The overshoes of kings and princes, of bards and seers I have on file, and every visitor evinces amazement when he sees the pile. And I am most too fond of dwelling upon the great collection there; I find myself forever telling the history of every pair. I look around and see men yawning, as 'o'er some pair I fondly sleep, and then, snoring and dozing, they take their hats and flee the coop. I once had friends who'd come to see me, and sit around till half past nine; in argument they'd try to tease me, and tell old tales, and list to mine. My neighbors come around no longer, no friends with me discuss the news, since stronger grew, and ever stronger, my interest in old overshoes. I mildly greet the village lubbers, and only meet with Jeer and slur, when I announce that I've the rubbers of Daniel Boone and Aaron Burr. "A hobby," warns my earnest pastor, "should in the background always stay, or it will bring a man disaster, and drive his warmest friends away."
