Enumerating of Population in Country is a Long Affair.

Tuesday will witness the dispatch t Tuesday will witness the dispatch to Ottawa of the complete report of the sixth Dominion census for East Middlesex. "The work was practically finished last week," explained W. C. Fitzgerald, under whose direction the work has proceeded. checking up, and I feel confident that tomorrow I shall have the entire report on its way to Ottawa."

Census enumerating in the country districts is a much more tedious task than the city census, the commissioner pointed out. While the city enumerators for the most part go from door to door, those who compile the results in the country have greater distances to travel, besides having a much larger report to fill in. Fully an hour on the average was devoted alone at each farm to obtaining particulars asked by the Government with relation to crops, live stock, etc. Like the city census, Mr. Fitzgerald was unable to give any hint of the possible result of his work. Only Ottawa can announce the figures, he says. That a substant is to clock, when such distinguished men as Premier William Martin of Saskatchewan, Hume Cronyn, M. P., and Dr. Hugh Stevenson, M. P. Public School Boys Reach Carling Heights For Week's Camp.

Parade State Is Expected To Show 1,500 Cadets Under Canvas.

The first group of public school cadets reached camp about 10:30 this morning. They were 52 in number from C Company, and Battalion, and came from this city. Altogether 135 are expected from the different public schools in the city, but up until 11:10 this morning these were all that had arrived. The total for the district is expected to reach 1.500.

Park should not pay more than what the work would have cost if done by the city under normal circumstances.

The work was done by contractors in the winter time at a cost of nearly $74,000. As the city engineer stated that the work could have been done for $62,366, the court of revision ordered that the residents of Knowood Park should pay the latter amount and that the city should bear the rest.

The city appealed against this ruling, and because Judge Macbeth decided that the court of revision had the right to deal with actual costs only, the appeal was allowed.

J. M. Donanue, who appeared for the residents of Knolwood Park, is by no means satisfied with the decision and has threatened to take it to higher courts, presumably the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board.

They were 52 in number from C Company, 3rd Battalion, and came from this city. Altogether 135 are expected from the different public schools in the city, but up until 11:10 this morning these were all that had arrived. The total for the district is expected to reach 1.500.

They went at staking up tents and rolling up the sides just like old army veterans, each one trying to outwit the other in getting his part finished first, and everyone handing out advice as to how it should be done. All in all there seemed to be about 4' different ways of nammering in stakes, tightening up guy-ropes and getting the tent up as it should be, but they got them up, and that is all that matters as far as the boys were concerned.

It was pointed out to the deputation that the board has no power to purchase the boilers, that duty being left to the contractors.
