EDITOR OF AXE GETS ONE YEAR

John H. Roberts Sentenced To Serve Term in Quebec Jail.

Special to The Advertiser. QUEBEC. Nov. 8 .-- At the opening of the house this afternoon an act amending the revised statutes of the province of Quebec so as to provide for the imprisonment of John H. Roberts for one year was presented by Premier Taschereau, seconded by Hon. J. E. Carron.

The article which has brought the prisoner before the bar first referred to and commented upon as containing an atrocious accusation of an infamous nature bearing on each of the members of the Legislature; it is also pointed out that it is an attack upon the honour and dignity of the house and a calumny unprecedented in par-liamentary annals. The bill then says that Roberts, instead of exonerating himself, aggravated his position by the answers he gave. In conclusion, the special bill says:

"Whereas, the detention of the said John Roberts under the custody of the sergeant-at-arms for the duration of the session would be insuffi- Hon. Charles Stewart Adcient and an inadequate punishment the offence he has committed, therefore his majesty with the ad vice and consent of the legislative council of Quebec enacts as follows:

"1. John H. Roberts having been declared guilty of having violated the privileges of the legislative assembly and of having assailed its honor and the said passage of his article, and refusal to justify it and answer which he gave at the be imprisoned in the common jail of the district of Quebec for one year, to count from the sanction of this act. the sergeant-at-arms of the legisla-

This act shall be the warrant or legal authority in virtue of which the cerated and imprisoned in the said

3. Article 136 of the revised statutes of Quebec, 1909, is amended by replacing the words 'During the session being held, in the second and third lines thereof, by the words 'Not exceeding one year.' 4. This act shall come into force

BRITISH LABOR MAKES APPEAL

Urges Supporters Not To Be Depressed by Recent Municipal Results.

its supporters not to be unduly depressed by the result of the recent municipal elections, which resulted in heavy losses for Labor. These means as serious as the anti-Labor press professed.

or is concentrating particularly on the London constituencies, where they have candidates in 44 of the 59 even to the West End, Chelsea, Ham- mit the sorting and grading of car mersmith and Westminster included. lots is contemplated by the United matician and philosopher, is the discussed at the annual meeting of Laborite candidate in Chelsea in opposition to Col. Sir Samuel Hoare, Conservative. Before the war Rusforeign travel since has persuaded him that there is a real risk of a duty, but the profit is going into the collapse of European civilization, so pockets of the speculators and not now he advocates an advanced policy of international brotherhood.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR

KINGSTON, Nov. 8.—Lieut.-Gov-ernor Cockshutt arrived in the city this afternoon and will remain until tomorrow afternoon. He was met on his arrival by Major-General J. H. military district No. 3, and Col. Constantine, officer commanding the medical sucrintendent, and staff Tomorrow his honor will present decorations, medals, etc., at a parade to be held at 10:30. At 11:30 he will visit the Royal Military College, inspect the buildings and witness an exhibition of physical training by the

DENIES BOSCAWEN NOT EFFICIENT MINISTER

LONDON, Nov. 8.— (Canadian Press Cable).—Sir A. Griffith-Boscawen, new minister of health, has received a message from Premier Bonar Law, refuting the suggestion

3.000 Russian Mennon ites To Seek New Homes in Canada.

SASKATOON, Nov. 8.-Three thousand Russian Mennon-ites who are migrating from Russia have decided to come to Canada in preference to Mexico, says H. Schroeder, Aberdeen, Sask., agent of the Mennonite Colonization Associ-ation of North America, Limited.

They are coming to Western Canada, he declares. The con-tract was signed with the Canadian Pacific Railway in July, and the emigrants will come as quickly as shipping can be provided and the necessary arrangements made. While the Mennonites are migrating to Mexico from estern Canada, says Mr. convinced, after investigation.

URGES MEETINGS

dresses Members of Conference At Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 .- (By Canadian Press.)-The conference on immigration called by Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of immigration and rifle. colonization, was continued today and bar of the legislative assembly, shall addressed by him just before its con-

The minister said he was naturally the hidden trap. greatly interested in any effort being that the conference would produce policy of the government to lend aid who had attended the meeting. He conferences would be held frequently co-ordination of effort that the best esults could be obtained. Today British and continental im- knees. migration received attention. Obed Smith, superintendent of in , superintendent of immigration for the Dominion government they considered necessary for doing clinical task to the constant of t

It came out through the discussion swifter-thank God:that the government has under consideration the extending of an in vitation to prospective emigrants in hose countries where desirable setders may be secured, and who are also eligible for citizenship.

It is understood that as a result the conference the government Press Cable).-The London Labor will invite the transportation interests distrusted the man. party has issued an exhortation to to appoint representatives to a small standing committee all the publicity efforts of the parties

losses, the party chiefs declare, were MAY INAUGURATE SYSTEM OF POOLING OF CATTLE

WINNIPEG, Nov. 8.—Anauguration Bertrand Russel, the noted mathe- Grain Growers, Limited, and will be it is stated today. "Cattle from Western Canada are ell was an advanced Liberal, but selling on the United States market

The co-operative scheme will be discussed also at the annual conven-tions of the farmers' organizations PAYS VISIT TO KINGSTON of the three Prairie Provinces in January.

HOLD THANKSGIVING SERVICE AT DORCHESTER

Special to The Advertiser. DORCHESTER, Nov. 8. -

Thanksgiving service was held in the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery and Presbyterian Church on Monday was escorted to the Memorial Hall, evening under the auspices of the C. evening under the auspices of the C. O. S. Society. Rev. Mr. Stewart deread by Acting Mayor Kent. His livered an excellent address, and a livered an excellent address, and a honor visited Queen's University and saw the tricolor in an exhibition Cation of Crumlin, which was very much appreciated. At the close of Hospital, and was met by Dr. Ryan, the service the young people held a short business meeting in the base

The next regular meeting of the C. O. S. Society will be held on Monday, Nov. 20, when the Crumlin Young People's Society will pay a return visit. The program for the evening will be in the hands of the Crumlin Society.

MERCHANTS OF HANOVER DISCUSS CHRISTMAS FAIR

Special to The Advertiser. HANOVER, Nov. 8 .- The merchants the wires:

proval of the merchants of the town,
"I asked you to become minister and without their enthusiastic supof health because you had won pro-port, a Christmas fair is not likely motion."

"I Can Now Do My Work Without Feeling Tired"

Mrs. A. Moffatt, Roxton Falls, Que., writes: "I suffered from a run-down system and nervous debility. I could not sleep or at night, and felt so weak I could not walk any distance. I took several tonics, but they only helped me while I was taking them. Mother advised me to take Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and I felt great bene-At from the first box, and continued taking several boxes. Today I feel like a new woman, and am able to do my work without that dreadful tired feeling."

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

50 Cents a hox, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto

ROBERT W CHAMBERS

@ 1922 GEORGE HOORAN COMPANY

CHAPTER II breathless. But dawn was not very were liesfar away and there remained little strength and skill to set it; to fasten enough for any gir! to fight for. the chain around the base of the covered everything with pine needles, vals.

no dread of them.

Now she pocketed her torch and hands in the icy water. seated herself between the two big It became plain to her that she in the future, for it was only through trunks grew redder; a pungent reek he picked up his rifle. of smoke was drawn through the At that moment Eve called to him reedles. forest aisles. She sniffed it, listened, in a clear and steady voice.

Eve never had been afraid of any- her voice ceased. thing. She was not afraid of this "Hallo! Hi! You over there!" she ray, gave an outline of the measures mind to fear Quintana's rifle. Even been home all night. Have you seen it not?" hey considered necessary for doing Clinch was not as swift with a rifle him?"

> her heart of a child tremulous with tree roots. adoration

Instinct had warned her. A sny

Quintana had escaped him at the trees between which she was But where was Clinch? needles over it.

(Continued From Our Last Issue). clutch of State Troopers? Was he

in jail? WHEN at last Eve arrived at the ly faint, then a rush of angry blood place of pines again, and saw stung her face in the darkness. Exthe far, spectral glimmer of Quintana's are, the girl was almost the stories they told about Clinch

He had nothing to fear, nothing time for the taking alive of a dan- to be ashamed of. Harrod had driven him to lawlessness; the government Where two enormous pines grew took away what was left him to close together near a sapling, she make a living. He had to live. What knelt down, and, with both hands, if he did break laws made by milscooped out a big hollow in the im- lionaire and fanatic! What of it? He memorial layers of pine needles. Here had her love and her respect-and she placed her trap. It took all her her deep, deep pity. And these were

Dawn spread a silvery light above the pines, but Quintana's fire still And now, working with only the reddened the tree trunks; and she faintest glimmer of her torch, she could hear him feeding it at inter-

It was not possible to restore the Finally she saw him. He came forest floor; the place remained out on the edge of the ruddy ring visible-a darker, rougher patch on of light and stood peering around the bronzed carpet of needles beaten at the woods where already a vague smooth by decades of rain and snow. Grayness was revealing nearer trees No animal would have tredden that When, finally, he turned his back When, finally, he turned his back suspicious space. But it was with and looked at his fire, Eve rose and man she had to deal-a dangerous stood between the two big pines but reasoning man with few and Behind one of them she placed her atrophied instincts-and with no ex- rifle.

perience in traps; and, therefore, in It was growing lighter in the woods. She could see Quintana in Before she started she had thrown the fire ring and outside—saw him MAN. cartridge into the breech of her so to the spring rivulet, lie flat, drink then, on his knees, wash face and pines and about three feet behind was nearly ready to depart. She stood. watched him preparing. And now Dawn was not far away. She she could see him plainly, and knew encounter, Senorita. God is too good made to get settlers, and he was sure looked upward through high pine- him to be Quintana and no other, to us. And it was but a moment tops where stars shone; and saw no He had a light basket pack. He since my thoughts were of you! I sign of dawn. But the watcher by put some articles into it, stretched swear it:when it was needed, and he appre- the fire beyond was astir, now, in the himself and yawned, pulled on his It was not fear; it was a sort of clated receiving in concrete form the imminence of dawn, and evidently hat, hoisted the pack and fastened it slow horror of this man that began results of the experience of the vari- meant to warm himself before leav- to his back, stood staring at the to creep over the girl. She stared fire for a long time; then, with a at his brilliant eyes, at his thick Eve could hear him piling ary wood sudden upward look at the zenith mouth, too red-shuddered slightly. also expressed the hope that such on the fire; the light on the tree where a slight flush stained a cloud, But the toe of her right foot touched

> She held herself under control. and watched, her rifle across her The effect on Quintana was instant; he was behind a tree before man. If it came to combat she would called again. "This is Eve Strayer, caught your people. And now-I in London, and Sir George McL.

Brown, of the Canadian Pacific Railhave to kill. It never entered her I'm looking for Clinch! He hasn't catch you!

> head watching her - not at the sent the shamed blood surging into She thought of Stormont-sat there shoulder-height of a man but close in the terrific darkness loving him, to the ground and just above the

"Hey!" she cried. "What's the Then the memory of Darragh matter with you over there? I'm pushed in and hot hatred possessed asking you who you are and if you've her. Always, in her heart, she had seen my father?"

After a while she saw Quintana coming toward her, circling, creep-What evil had he worked aheady? ing swiftly from tree to tree. Where was her father? Evidently As he flitted through the shadows

Drowned Valley . . . Quintana was standing hid her from him a moconder by his fire, preparing to flee ment. Instantly she placed her rifle the wilderness where men hunted on the ground and kicked the pine received a message from Premier Bonar Law, refuting the suggestion made at Tauhton, Somerset, where the minister is fighting for re-election, that he was removed from the ministry of agriculture because he had been a failure. The prime ministry wires:

Had this sneak, Darragh, betrayed As Quintana continued his en-

HANOVER, Nov. 8.—The merchants of Hanover held a meeting the other evening to consider the advisability of holding a Christmas fair in Hanover his year. There was a very small attendance, which means that the idea did not meet with the approval of the merchants of the town, states wires:

CHINESE TAKE UP RADIO.

China is going to get trained radio engineers to de the science there. They will be natives of that country, too. One of them is W. Y. Wu; who is taking a complete course in radio at Columbia University. He is shown at work on a new radio-frequency circuit.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—Radio lives of soldiers saved as its redeeming feature.

Power in the future will come by Power in the future will come by means of the wireless waves through the air, predict radio engineers here.

In fact, such power has already been produced and the prediction of been produced and the prediction of sulate against this power, thus indicating that powder mills forts and by Wallace F. Vail. president of the and of sunfciently high frequency as United States Radio Corporation of the go through all obstacles. Yet the transmitting instrument is small engineers. Their results have interested about. engineers. Their results have interested government officials in a further effort to find a means of send-ther effort to find a means of sending power over long distances.

An accident caused the discovery that radio might be useful in the transmission of power. This happened when engineers noticed an electric lamp light up for no apparent reason while they were broadcasting messages. They immedia' by started a series of tests with the electric lamp in connection with the ing feature.

"The value that this invention been produced and the prediction of surate against this power, thus indigreater power by this means is based on recent successful experiments.

These experiments were conducted by Wallace F. Vail, president of the and of sufficiently high frequency as the content of the conte started a series of tests with the being organized in cities throughout electric lamp in connection with the radio transmission apparatus until they learned what actually caused it to light up.

"Listeners-In" Organize.

"Later," explains Vail, "an electric bell rung in the city of Berkeley, ators of broadcasting stations and eight miles away, by means of the the greatly increasing numbers of listeners-in."

eight miles away, by means of the same idea. The engineers were able also to light an electric lamp at a distance of 1,000 feet entirely by the transmitted power."

War Value.

The value of this secret of sending power by radio cannot be estimated. says Vail. It would be especially valuable to nations at war, with the steepers in greater range, improved modulation and a more balanced concert program from the broadcasting station. Similar action in other communities is sought by the novices.

unoitered sufficiently to satisfy himself that the girl was alone and that ker.

And now, from behind a pine, and became a blazing insult. startlingly near her, came Quintana, For an instant he stood there, unmoving with confident grace yet holding his rifle ready for any emer-

Eve's horrified stare was natural; she had not realized that any man could wear so evil a smile.

THE GIRL'S CRY ECHOED THE STUMBLING CRASH OF THE demanded of the moment its full value. He swept off his hat with a Frequently a leather hat matches the flourish, bowed deeply where he coat trimming.

"Ah!" he cried gaily, "the happy the stock of her rifle under the pine Quintana laughed: "Charming child," he said, "it is I who have It is ver funny. Is space, putting the concealed trap Staring at her he slowly disen-between her and Quintana, who now gaged his pack, let it fall behind him came stealthily toward her from the cn the pine needles; rested his rifle on it: slipped out of his mackingw It was evident that he had rec- and laid that across his rifle-always keeping his brilliant eyes on no trick, no ambuscade, threatened His lips tightened, the muscles in his dark face grew tense; his eyes encumbered, a wiry, graceful shape in his woolen breeches, leggings, and To look the whole gray shirt open at the throat. Then he took a step toward her. And the girl watched him, fascinated. One pace, two, a third, a fourth-Quintana stopped short a dozen the girl's involuntary cry echoed the master's call. There were reasons why ing. clawing, scrambling in the just then. But there were other rea clenched jaws of the bear-trap amid sons why he thought it best to go out whirl of flying pine needles. He screamed once, tried to rise, lutched him; and suddenly crouched, wolf-the true fatalist among our ed toward Farmer Brown's Boy

(Continued In Our Next Issue.)

COLORFUL EMBROIDERY.

ery in gay colors, is the most effec-

Poiret twill costume. FUR PANELS A novel use of fur is noted on a low waistline, and extend below the hemline. The fur used is mole: Short jackets of caracul are made ### about the collars and cuffs of leather

Small Nut Cakes By Bertha E. Shapleigh. 1 cup pecan meats, thinly

2 eggs cup brown sugar

2 cup flour 12 teaspoon baking powder teaspoon salt.

BEAT eggs very slightly, add sugar, a little at a time, being sure that there are no lumps in the sugar. Mix flour baking powder and salt. Add to eggs with the nuts. Stir until well mixed and bake in well-greased, small, shallow tins 15 minutes in a moderate ly hot oven. These cakes need to rise quickly and be taken from pans as soon as they

-Old Mother Nature

The young Fox who was the prisoner of Farmer Brown's Boy came out of his house very unwillingly at his paces away. The dramatic in him stumbling crash of the man thrash- the young Fox didn't want to go out sons why he thought it best to go out.
You see, he was afraid that if he didn't go out Farmer Brown's Boy might lool He screamed once, tried to rise, in that box, and that was the last thing urned blindly to seize the jaws that in the world that the young Fox wanted utched him; and suddenly crouched, him to do. So very reluctantly he ose-jointed, cringing like a trapped came out of his house and slowly walk-Now, perhaps Farmer Brown's Boy wouldn't have noticed that that young Fox seemed not to want to come to > it a thought had it not been that just Cross-stitch embroidery in heavy as he was reaching out his hand to silk or in yarn, or peasant embroid- pat the young Fox he saw a feather. Yes, sir, he saw a feather, and that ery in gay colors, is the most effec-tive and one of the least expensive business to be. It was a small feather and it was clinging to the corner of the mouth of that young Fox. Swift suspicion filled the mind of Farmer you are the one who has been stealing ways in which to trim a serge or and it was clinging to the corner of the picion filled the mind of Farmer Brown's Boy as he reached out and took that feather in his fingers. It was a feather from a hen. More than that, a feather from one of his hens. black velvet gown—it makes the it was a feather from one of his hens. suppose I ought to be very, very angry > right in the face. He couldn't do it I guess you deserve them for your because his eyes had in them a look of smartness, chained up as you are. Howsmart and jaunty by belts and straps because his eyes had a guilt, and he knew it.

"What is this?" said Farmer Brown's Boy sternly. "Where did you get it?
What mischief have you been in now?
I haven't given you chicken to get."
With this Farmer Brown's Boy re-What mischief have you been in how.

I haven't given you chicken to eat, so turned to his husking, and as he worked how did that feather come to be in he chuckled at the thought of how that the corner of your mouth? I shall have young Fox had fooled him.

Rapidly he looked over the ground around the box which was the home of the young Fox. He saw no more Becomes Pop-Eyed." feathers. Not a feather was to be found, excepting that one tell-tale little feather which he still held. Then he walked over to that box and stooped down to look inside. The young Fox is cut on went as far as his chain would let him and there he lay down and curled his his big tail around over his face so as to hide it. But all the time he was peeping over it and watching every nove which Farmer Brown's Boy

At first Farmer Brown's Boy saw nothing because of the darkness inside that box. Then he discovered another feather clinging to the side of the doorway. He put his hand inside and felt around. The back part of that box was full of feathers. He brought out a whole handful. One look at thos feathers was all that Farmer Brown Boy needed in order to know what ha box house and slowly walked to

"You rascal! You little red rascal! He looked at that young Fox sternly, and that young Fox hung his head. Yes, sir, he hung his head. You see, he couldn't look Farmer Brown's Boy right in the face. He couldn't do it

BLUE AND SILVER.

A very lovely negligee of blue velvet The sleeves of silver lace

To You Who Don't Eat Good Breakfasts

Because you have no time to prepare it.

Because you feel no inclination for it. Because you think you can't digest it. 1.—Do you breakfast at a restaurant or do you just have coffee at home because you have no time to wait for a morning meal? Quaker Oats-the most wholesome, nourishing and economical breakfast-can be prepared over-night, and heated in a moment in the morning. It gives all the food elements your system needs, and costs less than one cent per dish.

2.—Have you no appetite for breakfast? Probably you have not tried the right

Quaker Oats properly cooked is enjoyed by thousands who will touch no other breakfast. It has just the delicate flavour that appeals to a sensitive palate and it gives an abundance of nourishment to sustain you through the morning.

3.—Does breakfast disagree with you?

Those unable to digest other foods find in Quaker Oats an ideal breakfast. It is a simple, basic food, gently stimulating the stomach to perform its function. Properly cooked it is easily digested and assimilated.

Oats reach nearer perfection as a balanced food than anything else that is grown. Everybody should eat oats at least once a day. Quaker Oats are the finest oats you can buy. In milling, all the small, imperfect grains are discarded, and only the rich, plump, queen grains, full of flavour and nourishment, are retained.

Order a package of Quaker Oats with your groceries to-day.

Quaker Qals In Sealed Cartons Only

QUAKER MILLS

PETERBOROUGH AND SASKATOON Also makers of Quaker Flour, Puffed Rice and Puffed Wheat, Quaker Macaroni, etc.