Niagara Falls, Ont., and Mrs. Oliver, of this city. In dismissing the charge his he stated that while he could find no anterior wilful neglect on Mr. Stewart's part or any criminal motive, he did con sider that he was guilty of such wilful neglect as he should not have been, and that he either was cogitating so deeply that he failed to see Mr. Pierce's car when he should have seen it. Crown Attorney McCrimmon, who prosecuted, said he had no objection to find in the judgment, as he considered the clause in the code a difficult one under which to make a conviction in such a case. He said he had come to the conclusion that the section in question needed amending. The accident occurred on the west cars crashed.
