

her way. Even the pressure of examinations nigh at hand could not prevent her taking a walk, if so she chose, instead of presenting herself at class. This faculty will, no doubt, be of great use to her in her future life, as it will prevent her using up much of that nervous energy dissipated so extravagantly by the present generation. Miss Crane intends to spend a year at Harbord St. Collegiate before entering upon a University Course.

GERTRUDE MARION EDWARDS.—It is with sincere regret that we bid farewell to Miss Edwards. She has been long a favorite among us, winning our admiration and love by her brilliant conversational powers, her geniality, and her out-spoken denunciations of all that is mean or untrue. She takes with her our best wishes for future success and happiness.

LILIAN GLADYS HOLMES.—Miss Holmes, a day pupil, has just completed the Modern Language course. In it she has shown the perseverance necessary to a successful student, and we wish her continued success in her after life.

ETHEL EUGENIE JEFFERY.—Miss Jeffery came to Moulton four years ago intending to devote herself largely to the study of Art. After a year or so, she determined to matriculate, and so entered regular classes. As a student she possessed unusual ability. We hope she will not allow her talents to rust for want of using, and that to whatever she may devote herself, she will be truly successful.

BERTHA LORRAINE JOHNSON.—Miss Johnson, a boarder for more than two years, has proved herself to be a most persevering and ambitious student. She graduates from the Classical course. During her stay at Moulton, she has won, by her brightness and unvarying kindness, the love of all here.

FLORENCE LEE SHERIDAN.—Miss Sheridan, a day pupil, has been among us a little more than three years. She has completed the matriculation work, and contemplates, we believe, entering the University. Her work here promises much for the future. May she continue to be very successful.

MARY VAN ZILE.—Miss Van Zile represents us in the east of our Dominion, going to her home in St. John, N. B. Her faithfulness in study is known to all who knew her. We are sorry she could not have remained with us a longer time, but are confident that she will meet with the success due to one of so pleasant disposition, studious and scholarly habits, and sterling character.

EDITH M. WILKES.—Miss Wilkes, another day pupil, graduates from the Modern Language course. Possessed of talent, she has yet shown herself to be very modest and unassuming.

MABEL FRANCES WOOLVERTON.—Miss Woolverton completes the work for matriculation. Her perseverance in study is well worth imitating, whilst her modest, unassuming Christian life amongst us is an example that might well be followed by all.
