

X. Thou shalt crack the Junior Editor's head, who inflicted a stale joke on me last month.

These things do and thou shalt wax great in the smiles of John Baptiste of the Junior Department.

THE CANADIAN SOCIETY.

A new society has been recently organized in junior circles, being the patriotic cognomen "Canada for the Canadians." The newly elected President. O. Lachance delivered his inaugural address to a full house. He advocated the formation of a Third Party to be called "The Beavers." He objected to the existing party titles. Conservative, he contented meant keeping everything for oneself; whereas Liberal meant giving away everything to foreigners. Hence Canadians were offered a choice between the frying pan and the fire; as one was about as bad as the other, the offer was not a tempting one. Beaver meant Canada, consequently Canada for the Canadians. Lachance's motion was opposed by Mike O'Leary, who made a brilliant speech that will have a bearing on the history of Canada, and will justify his title of the "Boy Orator." He twitted Lachance for his deplorable ignorance of politics, philosophy and zoology. He was ignorant of politics because there were already three live political parties in Canada; he was ignorant of the philosophy of words, because Conservative meant to keep for oneself, (i.e.) for Canada. Liberal meant to be generous towards others, (i.e.) to the people of Canada. He was ignorant of zoology because beavers live in water all winter, and Canadians would have strong objections to be enclosed in a mansion with an atmosphere of water, temperature 1,000° below zero. Beavers cut down trees with their teeth; Canadians preferred to use axes. Mike's speech had such an electrical effect on the audience that Lachance was forced to withdraw his motion; to avoid O'Leary in the future he moved that the society consider the statistics of Canada for the last ten years. The audience, still thrilled with O'Leary's eloquence, dispersed with the national anthem, and sang:—

"Mickey you're a daisy,
Mickey you're a peach,
When we like you best, Mickey,
Is when you make a speech."

FOOTBALL.

The first team defeated the Beavers of the city to the tune of 22 to 0. Lachance, the college quarter, is a whole host in himself. Dupuis, centre half, is as hard to stop as a northwest blizzard. Murphy at full-back has the fish tackle represented in the XMAS OWL of '90. Bourdeau has blocking down to perfection; unfortunately he always block his own men, so the opponents may raise no objection to his infringement of the rules. The Beavers seemed to be out of their element whilst on mother earth.

Joseph Morin wrote the following couplet when he was a sadder but a wiser man.

"I had a little fight and it was given to me,
To lead me gently backward to Eddie Bouchard's fence."

Fairies change huts into mansions of gold, but only in fairy land. A second grade man performed the feat of the century when he waived his magic wand and converted St. Peter's, Rome, into a howling wilderness.

The following held first places in their classes during the month of September:—

- First Grade (A).—1. Paul Benoit; 2. R. Lapointe; 3. O. Vezina.
First Grade (B).—1. H. St. Jacques; 2. E. Lessard; 3. J. Lamarche.
Second Grade.—1. Geo. Campbell; 2. W. Watt; 3. Leo Poupore.
Third Grade.—1. J. Doré; 2. J. Graham; 3. T. Aussant.
Fourth Grade.—1. E. Belliveau; 2. H. Chouinard; 3. H. LaRocque.

ULULATUS

Juggler.—Can you tell me the Christian names of the Lawless brothers?

John A.—Frank and Jessie are the