

this problem and tries to arrange periodically for foreign service officers to travel around Canada, but shortages of staff and travel funds impose very strict limitations on the extent of this program.

2. With this explanation, and because as a Westener living in Eastern exile an opportunity to breathe western air again is always appreciated, I feel frank to confess that I worked hard to promote this visit. But these were not my only reasons; I feel that as Head of the United Nations Division in the Department of External Affairs I have a particular missionary responsibility.

3. The United Nations is supposed to represent the interests of Everyman. The Charter's opening words are "We the People of the United Nations..." These are bold words, but words without substance unless the measures taken by Governments to fulfill their responsibilities as members of the world community are buttressed by an enlightened public opinion with the capacity to support, exhort or criticize as required. It is an obvious corollary that the
