

September
Fifth
1930.

Dr. C. F. Martin,
Dean of the Faculty of Medicine.

My dear Dean:

Only this afternoon I concluded certain conversations with Professor Carleton Stanley the result of which will mean that in addition to his work with the Faculty of Arts he is brought into closer relationship with me on something of the lines of a General Staff Officer. This will not interfere in any way with the relations of the Principal with any of the Departments in the University, but it will give me additional assistance in matters of routine and policy which I shall greatly appreciate. The arrangement is made without additional cost to the University.

I have asked Stanley to give what assistance he can in the matter of organization for promotion of research in the Social Sciences and also in the completion of the organization of the division of work in the Arts Faculty. He will be available for any consultations you may care to have with him.

I think that it will be necessary to have a meeting of Corporation to approve the Resolution of the Arts Faculty regarding the division of Arts into Arts and Sciences.

I think that is all, but there are probably many things not attended to.

Yours ever,

Principal