Dear Dr. Gibson:-

I am afraid you will think I am a bit of a nuisance, but on returning to Montreal and checking up once more my engagements in Philadelphia, I find that I had already accepted an invitation to dine with the Alumni of the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia on the night of the 22nd. When talking to you I had somehow or other got it into my head that my engagement in Philadelphia was on the night of the 21st, and so I told you that I could dine with our own Alumni in New York on the 22nd.

I have now written to Philadelphia stating, finally and definitely, what my programme is to be, and I have told them that I shall not arrive in Philadelphia until very late on the night of the 21st. If it is at all possible I should like to make an arrangement to meet the McGill Alumni Society on the night of the 21st in New York. If we are to dine together, let us have an early dinner, so that I can get away at not too late an hour. I shall arrive in New York on the morning of the 21st and spend the day there and shall go to whatever hotel you have chosen for the place of meeting.

I sincerely hope this does not put you to any great inconvenience, for I am very anxious to meet the McGill Alumni Society in New York.

Yours faithfully,

Principal.
