

	PAGE
My Shepherd is the Lord my God—	40
My Uncle Ephraim was a man who did not live in vain	521
Nigh to a boom that was newly made	472
No more your needed rest at night	386
Not to lament that rival flame	362
Notably fond of music, I dote on a sweeter tone	73
Now little and listen, gentles all	190
Now stands Soracte white with snow, now bend the laboring trees	370
Now was Blr Grover passing wroth	502
O cruel fair	373
O fathers all, reflect upon	464
O fountain of Bandusial	353
O fountain of Bandusial more glittering than glass	353
O gracious jar,—my friend, my twin	392
O hapless day! O wretched day!	53
O heart of mine! lift up thine eyes	413
O Lady Fortune! 'tis to thee I call	391
O mother-my-love, if you'll give me your hand	260
O Mother Venus, quit, I pray	308
O Postumus, my Postumus, the years are gliding past	375
O ship of state	356
O virgin, tri-formed goddess fair	370
Oh, a wonderful horse is the Fly-Away Horse	303
Oh, come with me to the arctic seas	478
Oh, come with me to the Happy Isles	373
Oh, for the honest, blithesome times	508
Oh, had I lived in the good old days	527
Oh, hand me down my spectacles	488
Oh, hand me down my spike-tail coat	501
Oh, hush thee, little Dear-my-Soul	339
Oh, listen, little Dear-My-Soul	258
Oh, them days on Red Hoss Mountain, when the skies wuz fair 'nd blue	1
Oh, what has become of the Mugwump-bird	495
Of all the gracious gifts of Spring	117
Of all the opry-houses then obtaining in the West	167
Of mornings, bright and early	291
Of tarts there be a thousand kinds	118
Of your love for your handmaid you need feel no shame	360
On afternoons, when baby boy has had a splendid nap	269
On such a day as this old Notting Wood	505
On such a day as this the Nazarene	505
Once a fowler, young and artless	413
Once came Venus to me, bringing	414
Once—it was many years ago	529
Once on a time a friend of mine prevailed on me to go	90
Once on a time an old red hen	330