OTTAWA, Jan. 25 .- (Special.)-The was devoted to a discussion of a resoution proposed by W. M. Martin (Reexisting in the terminal elevators at Fort William and Port Arthur, ernment as will more effectually prevent the improper admixture of grain" delivered to the terminal and transfer

A large number of the western mempers took part in the debate, and opinion divided as to the necessity of public ownership. It is interesting to note, however, that many declared that if public ownership was the only remedy they were ready to adopt it.

No Half-Way Measures.

Dr. Schaffner (Souris), a Conserva-tive member, goes farther than his opponent, and has a resolution on the order paper calling for "government operation" at once.

In support of his motion Mr. Martin said that this was undoubtedly an im-portant question which affects every class of people in the west and Can-ada as a whole. During the present tions had waited upon the government out none of more importance than that whose recommendations he was in acord. Despite action which had been taken to put a stop to the conditions in the terminal elevators, it was apparent that something more will have to be

He said there were a number of middlemen making a living out of the farmers' grain, and this condition it was proposed to alter. The farmers did not object to paying all fair transportation haulage and storage costs, but they did object to profit being made out of them by the manipulation of their grain while it was en route. He favored government ownership in this case.

Not Even Half a Loaf. Dr. Schaffner (Souris) said that on the principle that half a loaf was better than no loaf at all, he would support Mr. Martin's resolution, but he believed an operation would have to be performed on it to make it produce even half a loaf. He would not speak at lengto, he said, because he had a at lengto, he said, because he had a more definite motion of his own which occupies about the next place on the order paper of the house.

The elevators, he thought, could be leased. Thus a great initial expense would be avoided. He had no faith in the proposal to run the elevators by a commiss ed by the government, if they still remained privately owned.

Opposed to Public Ownership.

J. G. Turriff (Assinibota) said it was the duty of the government to point the way to such reforms as had been suggested as necessary. He was emphatically opposed to government ownership or operation of public facilities so long as this could be avoided. The history of government ownership age an addition to the burden. But if there were no other means whereby the reforms could be achieved, and of this he was not yet absolutely sure, he would advocate the purchase or
