EXPERTS VINDICATE ENGINEER FELLOWES

Report is Said to Verify His Statements That Water Waste is in Houses.

In a few days the report of the board of water experts, who have been examining conditions in Toronto, will be submitted to the city, and it is said that the result of the investigation will have the effect of clearing C. L. Fellowes, the waterworks engineer, from the charges which have been made against him. It is averred that the waste of water which has been charged, but which has not been thru the mains, as has been charged, but in the residences, as Mr. Fellowes declared. The examiners have found, it is stated, that little residential districts where but little water should be used between midnight and 5:30 a.m., there is a large flow of water. When the separate services were cut off, there was no flow of water, showing conclusively that the waste was in the residences, and that the mains were tight.

O.I.C. DEAL STILL ON

Negotiations Proceeding for Scarborough Property—Woodbine—Unsettled.

Secretary of Secretary W. P. Fraser of the Ontario Jockey Club, as to the correctness of the report that they had sold their big property on the Kings-ton-road, just this side of the Half-Way House, elicited the information that the announcement was a little premature, that the deal was still on and would not be closed for a few days yet. J. W. McNab of Belleville is the prospective purchaser of the 247 acres, which would be cut up into building lots. The price of $200,000 mentioned is a little high, it is believed. The Jockey Club have not disposed of the Woodbine, nor are they likely to do so until they find a purchaser for a big tract of land north of Long Branch was done to protect themselves from the much higher realty figures that will prevail when they find it necessary to move from the Woodbine. If any one else were to come along with a good offer for the Long Branch property, they would not be likely to receive, so it is believed.

Calgary, Nov. 1.—When it ran into an open switch at Wesssex, five miles north of Crossfield, this morning, at about 2:30 o'clock, the express that left here at midnight for Edmonton, collided with a southbound freight, and Fireman Tom Currie of Calgary, of the passenger train, was killed, while Engineer Houston of the same train was severely scalded, and J. Carson, baggage man, and a brakeman named Parsons, were injured. All the members of the crew were Calgary men. None of the passengers were injured.

OCEAN TRIP IN VAIN TOO LATE TO TENDER

English Engineer Arrived to Bid on Tubes—Tenders Opened To-day.

After coming all the way from England to prepare a tender on the proposed subway system, Capt. Yates of the firm of Perry & Co., London, arrived just in time to find that he was too late. He appeared before the board of control yesterday and asked for an extension of time. To-day is the day decided upon to open the tenders, but he wanted them held over. He will appear before the board this morning, but it is hardly possible that any delay will be granted. In all seven tenders have been submitted. More may arrive by mail before opening time. Capt. Yates said that his firm had built 25 miles of subways in London, Eng., and they would like an opportunity to tender on Toronto's subway. Unfortunately they had not heard of the matter very long ago. He asked for 14 days in which to prepare a tender.

CHINESE RAID A FIZZLE

Red Tape Saves Celestials, Who Indulged in Fan-Tan.

Magistrate Danson refused to countenance the alleged action of the police in promising immunity to stool pigeons who entered and secured evidence against the Chinamen charged with running a gambling house at 190 York-st. and in the seizure by other than the chief or deputy chief under a search warrant. Holding that the raid had been illegally made, the magistrate refused to admit the evidence of the police, and the case went on with the evidence of stool pigeons. This was not sufficient to go on with his worship, and the case was dismissed. The magistrate closed by instructing the police to try to get their evidence otherwise than by promising to let some of the gamblers off.

Gadski and the Symphony Orchestra

Gadski, in magnificent voice, was the superb attraction which filled Massey Hall last night at the third concert of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra. When it is said that the orchestra was in its best form and that the house was entirely filled with an enthusiastic musically appreciative audience, it is scarcely necessary to add that the Wagner night was a complete success. It must be a matter of great satisfaction to the patrons of the orchestra as well as to Frank Weisman, the conductor, to find that such studies have been made and the ground held year by year, and that once more a notable step forward has been taken. The "music of the future," used to be regarded as the noise of the present, but the musical public have long since passed that stage of inappreciation. Madam Gadski is admittedly one of the very greatest of living Wagnerian interpreters and her singing of Elsa's Dream and the glorious aria from Tannhauser bewitched her auditors. After two recitals she repeated Elizabeth's aria and two more recalls followed. The great singer was also rewarded with a huge bouquet of costly orchids, a most effective decoration for Madam Gadski as she sang. She was gowned in white satin with gold fringe and a cabbage green shawl draped falling low behind and partly covering a semi-skirt of darker material, a dignified and graceful costume. She wore a diamond tiara studded with pearls, a pendant and two medals. But her queenly song in the Immolation scene from "Die Gotterdammerung" reached the acme of musical and dramatic expression. This, under the tremendous strain, Wagner's music exacts, is a lofty achievement. The Hindu practice of Suttee is generally condemned, but in ancient European tradition it stands for the noblest self-abandonment of which human devotion is capable. The ecstasy of loving surrender in which Brunhilde makes her wifely sacrifice is not merely spiritually symbolic, and the intensity of exalted passion, which Wagner reveals in his music was amply interpreted by the singer. The orchestra was marvellously good. Mr. Weisman advanced in breadth of treatment as well as in executive adequacy. The orchestra has done few things more finely than the "Flying Dutchman" overture. There was fine control and sufficient power. The Lohengrin Prelude is so delicately ethereal the impression it leaves than one always expects the performance to be more pianissimo than the most delicate strings seem capable of, but the thrill and uplift of the Graft motive was finely conveyed. The Gotterdammerung music was grandly given also, but the triumph of the orchestral program was the Tannhauser overture. If one could bring his life work to a triumphant close the rest might well be silence. E.S.S.

COST OF NEW HOSPITAL TO REACH $3,000,000

Another $900,000 Needed For Completion—Will Take About 12 Months More.

Final estimates as to the cost of the Toronto General Hospital, which is now being constructed at University-ave., place the cost in the neighborhood of $3,000,000. It will probably be finished within twelve months. Before long the hospital board will call on the generosity of the citizens for $900,000, and with this sum the whole structure will be completed and furnished. The original estimates called for much less than $3,000,000, but numerous changes for the better have been made. Instead of a 400 bed hospital, it will have 600 beds. In many other ways it will be much better than was at first planned. When it is finished, it will be a building of which all Toronto will be proud. J. W. Flavelle said last night that before the place is finished, the board will ask the public for $900,000. They will need about that sum to complete it, he said, and they expect to set it before the city council soon. Considerable generosity has been shown by the citizens with regard to the hospital, but there are some who have not been heard from. Their opportunity will come soon.

LONGSHOREMEN STRIKE

Portland, Me., Nov. 1.—In pursuance of last night's vote of the Portland Longshoremen's Benevolent Society, about 300 longshoremen quit work to-day. The sailing of the steamer Weichman from Liverpool, due shortly to the Central Hotel, St. Thomas, has been cancelled owing to the strike. Some of the steamship officials said that the trouble might result in a complete discontinuance of the transatlantic service to Portland this winter.

Merritt for examination, contains 1012 signatures out of 3140 names on the voters' list for municipal elections. In Dover Township, however, the vote has been secured, and that it is not thought likely that local option will carry in Chatham. It is looked on as an assured thing in Dover.
