

HAMILTON
HAPPENINGCOL. HENDRIE REPLIES
TO ATTACK BY HICKS

Allan Studholme and His Opponent
Cooper Show Good Feeling,
Tho Supporters Were Warm.

HAMILTON, Dec. 4.—(Special.)—Hon. John S. Hendrie, Conservative, and Dr. James Russell, Liberal, in the west; Allan Studholme, Labor, and Wm. P. Cooper, Conservative, in the east, were officially nominated to-day to contest the two Hamilton seats in the provincial legislature. The nominators and seconders of the respective candidates were Col. Hendrie, J. W. Lamoreaux and Henry Marsh; Dr. Russell, Geo. Frid and Samuel Brown; Mr. Studholme, Walter Rollo and Phil Obermeyer; Mr. Cooper, Geo. C. Holden and Caesar Oiler. Association Hall for the west and the court house for the east were the nominating places.

The proceedings at Association Hall were chiefly interested on account of Col. Hendrie's reply to the attack made upon him Saturday night by W. Madison Hicks of Bradford. Col. Hendrie referred to his own record in public life and said that not one of his fellow-citizens would make such remarks about him as had been made by Hicks. "I have thousands of public friends here who will be as much ashamed as my own supporters of such an attack," was the opinion expressed by the Colonel in regard to the matter.

Dr. Russell disclaimed all responsibility for Hicks' attack. The speeches of the candidate covered no new ground. Dr. Russell uttered the stereotyped criticisms of the Whitney government, and Col. Hendrie entering a sweeping defence of the government's action.

At the court house both Mr. Studholme and Mr. Cooper succeeded in arousing considerable enthusiasm among their supporters, and for several minutes the remarks flung back and forth between the two sides were more vigorous than those used by the candidates.

Mr. Studholme declared that the premier had no better friend in the house than "the old man when the premier was right and no worse enemy when he was wrong. No man can put his finger on any good bill in that house that the old man has not stood up and fought for, morning, noon and night," declared the Laborer.

Mr. Cooper took exception to a remark made by Mr. Studholme, which the former construed as an accusation of dishonesty against himself. The speaker denied intending any such meaning, however, and after the meeting, the two shook hands and agreed to be friends. Mr. Cooper delivered his address from manuscript and defended and eulogized the Whitney government in the customary Conservative manner.

Demand Newspaper Apology. Mr. Studholme in the course of his speech this morning announced that Lee & O'Donoghue of Toronto had formally demanded an apology from The Spectator for alleged libellous statements concerning the labor candidate and read a copy of the letter to the audience. The Spectator is given until Wednesday to retract and apologize for its statements. Mr. Studholme stated that he did not want a cent from the paper for damages, but in justice to himself and his family he had to protect his good name.

Wentworth Nominations. J. T. H. Regan, Conservative; Daniel Reid, Liberal; and Wm. Barral, Labor, were nominated in South Wentworth, and Wm. Lawson, Conservative, and Dr. James McQueen, Liberal, were the nominees to contest the North Wentworth seat.

Geo. P. Roberts, the Labor party whip in the British house of commons, who is to speak to the electors of Hamilton in Association Hall to-morrow night, arrived in the city yesterday and is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Landers while here. Mr. Roberts is an official of the British Typographical Association, and was entertained by the members of the local typographical union. He has represented the borough of Norwich, where he was born and raised, in the house of commons for the last six years.

NONAGRARIAN BURNED TO DEATH.

GALT, Dec. 4.—The Township of Beverly was the scene of a shocking fatality Sunday night when an old shack in which lived Martin Lohr, aged 90, burned to the ground, incinerating the occupant. The old man, who was bed-ridden, was to have been removed to Galt Hospital to-day by the township authorities. He was a skilled builder of stone fences, miles of which he constructed in this vicinity, the most notable being that at Cruickshank Park, Miss Kate Wilks' residence.

PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS

At the Princess

"A Single Man."

Hubert Henry Drew has repeated the success of "Cousin Kate" and done something more in "A Single Man," which John Drew and a singularly excellent company presented at Princess last night. Mr. Drew and Miss Boland reached an even higher mark of popularity than in "Smith," and the performance was altogether a notable success.

The house was crowded and the audience, highly delighted, displayed it by half a dozen calls at the end of the third act and as many other times. It was the intense enjoyment of the sparkling dialog and the charmingly ingenious situations, however, that rendered the whole comedy an undiluted pleasure.

The story is of how a literary man of middle age falls in love with domesticity, his brother, sister-in-law and baby having availed the sentiment, and how he selects too young a bride, and repents not too late.

Isabella, the very precise young wife, was capriciously done by Louise Drew. "If he's not very careful he'll break one of his ligaments," was one of her good speeches. "Poor Louise," is only one of her school set who had not been able to get a husband, and Thais Lawton gave a brilliantly clever sketch of a character which is by no means rare. Maggie Cottrell is the tomboy Robin Worthington (Mr. Drew) thinks he wants to marry. He sets his type-writer, Miss Heseltine (Mary Boland), to sound her on the subject, and the interview between the two is a pretty bit of comedy.
