THE ICE CROP SHORT. Ice dealers say that prices of ice this summer will be higher than for some time, owing to the unfavorable weather. The Thames crop is decidedly short. To Equalize The Vote.

The City Clerk Changing the Boundaries of Electoral Subdivisions-A Flood in the East End-City Hall Notes.

A flood set in last evening on Dundas street, between Charlotte and Dorinda streets. The water rose nearly a foot above the pavement on the north side, flooded the cellars of the stores and houses, and prevented persons from either entering or leaving their premises. The street commissioner had men working all night and this morning, and the flood has subsided. The engineer's department say the water backed down the street car tracks from the township. The street railway company claim the washout was caused by the thaw, and by the gutter being higher than the sidewalk. There are also miniature floods on Oxford street between Waterloo and Wellington, and on Oak street, West London.

Street Commissioner Ironside favors the suggestion that while the present snowplows should be retained to clear the walks, early in the mornings after heavy falls of snow, householders should clean their own pavements during a thaw or within a given time after

The board of works should hurry up and get that new snowplow or there will be no more snow to plow. It is not believed that any snowplow will clean a sidewalk bare.

City Clerk Kingston purposes submitting a bylaw to the city council which provides for a change in the boundaries of many of the electoral subdivisions of the city. The present boundaries were fixed in 1893, and in the past five years the growth and extension of the city have made a change necessary. One subdivision will be added to No. 4 ward and another to No. 5. West London will have two subdivisions. In the sixth ward the fifth subdivision will end at the railway track instead of Stanley street. Mr. Kingston will endeavor to equalize the vote as much as possible. In the first ward, for instance, the number of voters in the largest subdivision is at present twice the number as in the smallest. This should be remedied. The bylaw, if adopted, may be enforced at the next municipal elections.

A FAKIR'S FIX.

James McGregor Alleged to Have Done Up a Clinton Farmer-Charge

Laid Against Him. The utility of the press in exposing crime and criminals is evidenced every day. Thursday David Adson, a farm laborer, living near Clinton, read in The Advertiser of the arrest of the fakir, James McGregor, and the manner in which he is alleged to have stolen James Brown's watch. The mention of the devices found in McGregor's possession aroused Mr. Adson's suspicion that he must be the man who "did" him at Glencoe fair last fall. Mr. Adson walked all the way to this city to identify and lay a charge of theft against McGregor.

It seems Mr. Adson visited the Glencoe fair and was robbed by McGregor of $27. The latter says he threatened McGregor with police proceedings, and to smooth the matter over the fakir put his hand in his pocket, pulled out a roll of bills, and gave it to Mr. Adson, saying: "Take your money, Reuben." Mr. Adson took it, and after a while counted the wad, and found it $14 short of the original amount. By that time McGregor had gone. Mr. Adson identified the prisoner, who is in jail on remand, and another charge was laid against him.

Aldermen of the Ward Entertain Their Friends-Col. Leys Receives an Ovation.

The aldermen of No. 6 ward royally entertained their friends last night in Trebilcock's hall. Nearly two hundred South Londoners, most of them members of the Sixth Ward Liberal Club, gathered at the hall and spent a most pleasant and sociable evening. A splendid supper was served, after which toasts were proposed and responded to. Ex-Ald. Parnell filled the chair with his usual ability. "The Queen" was honored with cheers and the singing of the "National Anthem." The toast of "The City of London," brought replies from the aldermen of No. 6 ward, Ald. Stevely and ex-Ald. Parnell. The health of "The Young Men of No. 6 Ward" was proposed amidst cheers, Messrs. P. Mackenzie, J. Pritchett, W. Welper and others responding. Mr. Charles Tatham favored with songs, which were encored again and again.

About 10 p.m. Coloney Leys dropped in and was tendered an ovation, all present rising and cheering themselves hoarse. The colonel made a short and happy speech. The gathering broke up about midnight.
