Scottish Airs.

First came "In the Highlands," introduced by Scottish airs played by the orchestra. The curtain-rising revealed a striking Highland scene, with 50 or 60 kilted young people gracefully grouped.

The Scotch offerings included tunefully sung choruses, "Annie Laurie" and "The Hundred Pipers," followed by a bagpipe selection by the juvenile pipe band, under the direction of Pipe-Major Macdonald, this proving immensely popular. The pipers were Gladys Tullett, Charles McCarthy and Donald Ellis. Miss Marion Stark, who is also a most talented dancer, played with surprising accuracy and skill the big bass drum, Misses Isabel Graham and Violet Hunt managing the kettle drums very successfully.

PATRIOTIC FESTIVAL

DANCERS ARE CLEVER

Show Will Be Put on Again

This Evening at Masonic Temple.

The best value for the money in the way of a popular entertainment offered in London in many a day was the grand patriotic festival of dance and song last evening in the Masonic Temple, under the direction of Mrs. Alice Henderson, for the benefit of the relief work of the London branch of the Returned Sol-

London branch of the Returned Soldiers' Association.

Bright, novel, varied, colorful, the program went with a snap and a dash that was exhilarating and evoked rounds of applause. Everybody was enthusiastically appreciative, from the infants just a little beyond the "in arms" stage of development, to the grandmothers and grandfathers of the entertainers and of fighting men. From beginning to end, the dull moments could be counted on the fingers of one hand.

Clever Dancers.

All the dancers taking part, of whom there were betwen 30 and 46, were pupils of Mrs. Alice Henderson. Assisting them were Miss Alice Clark. soprano; Oliver Sinclair, tenor; Aubrey Baker, baritone; Pipe-Major Thomas Macdonald and London's clever juvenile pipe band; Miss Marguerite Gibson, violinist; Charles McCarthy, cornetist, and Miss Edna Bray and a chorus of twenty or so.

Skiliful Work.

Dances included the Highland Fling, given with childish abandon and rare precision by sixteen members of the first year class; the Shean Trews by five girls; "Reel O'Tulloch, a Scotch reel and a double sword dance. London's three youngest dancers, Dorothy Munro, Ivy Baldwin and Lillian Tyrell had a rousing ovation.

A graceful old-time minuet, which incorporated a pretty flirtation in pantomime, ending with wedding belis, was given a charming presentation by Marion Stark and Irene Anderson.

Tiny Ivy Baldwin in a vivid scarlet Spanish costume made one of the big hits of the evening with a rhytmic dance to which she kept perfect time with her tambourine.

Dance of Butterfiles.

A beautiful number was "Dance of the Butterfiles," in which eight advanced pupils appeared wearing butterfly costumes in delicate pinks, greens, blues, mauves and yellows.

It was decided to grant a request received from the Women's Gardening Association to include the community gardens of the organization in the vacant lots' plowing scheme. It was decided also to advertise for men to do the plowing, and, this failing, to ask the city engineer for some of the city teamsters to do the work.

After the meeting the convener of the committee located seven men on lots in the neighborhood of the sewage disposal plant, within a quarter of a mile of their own homes. These lots will, if possible, be plowed this week. A large plot of ground is available next to the mineral baths, several in South London, and two or three in West London, as well as scattered lots in other parts of the city. In the next few days the lots will be staked out and numbered. Up to the present, 22 people have applied for lots on which to make gardens, and a good deal more land than is required for present applicants is still available. The committee is hoping to receive more applications.

The grand climax came in the patrictic close, "Britannia Rules the Waves," in which Miss Edna Bray and Oliver Sinclair and the dancers took part. Mrs. Alice Henderson, teacher and director, appeared for the first time in London, her native city, as Alice Dumbar, entertainer, by which mame she is well known on the stage. She literally brought down the house with a screamingly funny vaudeville act, including a couple of songs and several stories. Seventy returned men fro mthe Central Military Convalescent Hospital were the guests at the entertainment of Col. T. S. Hobbs, Sir George Gibbons and R. C. Struthers.

The grand patriotic festival will be repeated this evening.

SURPRISE OLD NEIGHBORS Township, Tuesday. The sale was we attended, bidding was brisk and price

Many men who up to the present time have been prevented from going overseas on account of physical disabilities, will now be able to do so, by joining the Canadian Army Medical Corps, the physical standards of which have been lowered.

An announcement recently made by the military authorities states that the physical standard, which was formerly the same as was required for the Infantry battalions, has now been lowered to that required for the Forestry and Construction Battalions. This change will afford an opportunity to many men who were formerly unable to pass the medical tests to serve their country by doing work for which they are capable, now offered to them to work in the medical branch, where physical prowess is not such an essential.

In this branch of the service men of fair education find that their abilities are such that they can make good, and win promotion, and for this reason, it is to be expected that the new regulation will result in many joining up who heretofore have not done so.
