BASEBALL
East End League
The game in the East End League last evening between the Commercial and the Alerts ended very unsatisfactorily and the fans who had journeyed to the grounds to see a good game went home disappointed. The managers of the teams agreed to call the game at ten minutes after eight o'clock and each appointed a time keeper. In the fourth inning when the Commercial were leading 9 to 4 with two men out and two strikes on the last batter the umpire, J. Copeland, walked in from the field and declared the game off. A protest was entered and when the matter was consulted seven or eight showed seven minutes after eight and only one ten minutes after.

The umpire declined to listen to the protest.
When the league was formed the Playgrounds Association kindly donated the grounds for the young men to indulge in good clean sport, but many more such occurrences as last night's would soon ruin the game and kill the interest of the fans. The league executive should hold a thorough investigation into last evening's game and place the responsibility.

Orange Street Cubs Win

Hart, a south-paw, who was with the Bangor Club in the N. B. and Maine League pitched for the winners and held Woburn to three scattered hits.

Fairville League.
The game in the Fairville League last evening between the Royals and Roses proved interesting to the fans for the full five innings. Victory perched on the banners of last year's champions. The score was 9 to 6.

The victorious nine played their usual high strategy game and took full advantage of Comans' extremely slow wind-up to steal bases. Most of their scores were due to this though they also acted well. Murphy played an active first base. In the second inning Perry retired from the bases in favor of Duke, who delivered for the balance of the game. Fall seemed as much at home behind the bat as when facing the batter, who encouraged the losers to the last.

For the Roses, nothing went by Joe Cahana, covering first, and his hit over first base in the fourth inning won him the honor of the only home run of the night. In the first inning he had a two seaker to his credit.

It is now up to the Roses to try again, perhaps with a change of battery, as an experiment. Gilles has a sore thumb which prevented him catching last night. There will be no game tonight, but on Thursday the Roses are to try conclusions with the Portlands.

Last night's line-up was:
Roses—Mullin, c. and 2nd b.; P. Perry, p. and c.; Murphy, 1st b.; Duke, 2nd b.; B. Beck, r. f.; J. Kelly, c. f.; J. Gilles, center; Hanson, l. f.; McGovern, r. f.; O'Brien, c.; Comans, p. Calnan, 1st b.; A. Ferris, 2nd b.; F. Ferris, 2nd b.; B. Beck, r. f.; J. Kelly, c. f.; Allingham, l. f.; Joe Murphy, p.

ATHLETIC.
Inter-scholastic Meet Saturday.
The inter-scholastic sports will be held at Rothney on Saturday afternoon with probably the most exciting contest, that of the St. John High School, Moncton High School and Rothney Boys' College. Fredericton has in other years been enthusiastic but for some unknown reason has withheld her entry this season.

A feature of the sports is that a new trophy has been presented by the St. John High School Alumni and will be contested for under practically the same regulations which governed the last trophy, won by the local school. That is, the school winning for three consecutive years becomes the possessor. The trophy has not yet been secured but the offer of the alumni has been accepted and the cup, or whatever it may be, will be ready before long.

The local school has a strong team chosen for the meet. The boys have been in training for the last month and many applicants were tried out. No agreement was made only yesterday by the owners of the defenders, and Col. Neil not to race during the enforced inactivity of the Shamrock IV, but the report of Sir Thomas said he assumed that the American owners would refrain from using their boats. A letter written by Sir Thomas shortly before his departure on May 10 on a second Red Cross trip to Serbia is said to endorse this assumption. It is understood by local yachtsmen that the Resolute and Vanitie will be raced as vigorously this summer as if a cup contest were pending next fall. It is admitted that a large majority of the twenty contestants in the two yachts engaged last summer were unsatisfactory.

WRESTLING
Prokos won from "Strangle" Lewis in a bout in the Spectator rink last evening. He lost the first fall in fifteen minutes when his opponent secured a head and body hold and forced his shoulders to the mat. The second fall went to Prokos after eight or nine minutes of fast wrestling. Towards the end the men went at it in a rough and tumble style and Lewis came out second best. Prokos secured a flying toe hold and twisted his opponent's knee, after which he threw him forcibly to the floor and then, replacing him on the mat, pinned his shoulders. As Lewis refused to continue the match was awarded to Prokos.

Since the ban on alcohol by the royal family was promulgated the energies of the court kitchen staff have been turned to devising various palatable temperance drinks. The usual parched "wine list" is still made out daily and laid on the king's table in its customary silver trays but the list of available drinks is limited to lemonade, ginger beer, soda water, fruit cups and the king's favorite barley water.

The origin of the English royal salute which consists of 101 guns, is explained as follows by Lord Fisher. It was originally decreed that the sovereign should be saluted with 100 guns, but when the Duke of York, afterwards William IV, was being greeted by the fleet, the officers in charge lost count, and ordered another round to be fired to make sure.

When you have taken up your carpet to be beaten you will find it a good plan to wash round the floor of the room with a strong solution of alum; when dry, relay the carpet. This has been proved very effective in keeping out moths and other undesirable insects.

IS "SOME SCOTCHMAN" NOW
Sergeant Fred Wade, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wade, of Pennac, who was praised by the high officials of Scotland Yard for the part he played in the capture of a murderer in London last winter, is now at the front with the 16th Battalion.

Writing to his mother under date of May 1 he gives some interesting details of his first experience in the trenches and also encloses a letter received by him from Major Lafour, of Scotland Yard, congratulating him on his creditable work in capturing the London murderer, who afterwards attempted suicide.

Several weeks ago we published a letter from Lance Corporal Jack McNair, a former U. N. B. student, who was a member of the engineering corps on the St. John Valley Railway. He is also with the 16th Battalion from Sergeant Wade's letter follows:
"Just a few lines to let you know I am alive and well. I have been at the front about two weeks. The weather has been very fine. We have been at where the big battle took place and so many of the enemy's dead bodies were found (losses sustained). We are back behind the firing line now and are enjoying the peace with the 16th Battalion with Jack McNair. It is a Scottish regiment from Toronto, and we are wearing kilts, as some Scotchmen."

PRODIGAL USE OF AMMUNITION
If it were given to examine in detail the daily bill of costs of conducting the war it would be found that the items of arms and ammunition stood high up on the list of expenditures. During the British attack on Neuve Chapelle from 85,000 to 40,000 shrapnel shells were expended inside of eighteen hours and this was only one of many engagements then taking place along the hundreds of miles of firing line in the western and eastern war zones. From Saturday, May 8, to the following Tuesday night the British fired a million and a half rounds of shells around Ypres, and Thursday, May 13, the British fleet in the Dardanelles fired 8,000 shells.

Gun power, backed by inexhaustible supplies of ammunition, will win the war over superior military strategy and a preponderance of men. This is why the Allies are confident of success, for they have not only their own undisturbed resources to draw from, but are able to place contracts in the United States for shot, shell, and powder on such a scale that, whatever the prodigality of its use, no tactical advantage in the field need be neglected, or postponed because the supplies of ammunition are running low. From "War Contracts in the United States," by Charles F. Spear, in the American Review of Reviews for June.

GORDON TURNER'S WOUND
Moncton Transcript: Gordon Turner's wound is likely to prove troublesome, according to information to friends in Moncton. The injury is not at all dangerous, but it is through the hand at the base of the thumb and first finger, and it is feared that the bones have been shattered in such a way that it will be some time before he recovers the use of the hand. He does not expect to get back in the fighting line for some time. Gordon was wounded during the fighting around Ypres and the retreat to Langemarck on April 24.

One of the most thrilling incidents in the Leaky-Biscoe production of "The Girl of the Golden West" is the game of cards which the girl plays with the sheriff for the life of her lover, the road agent. The sheriff is in love with the girl himself, and, therefore, has a double reason for seeking the life of the gentleman-bandit, who is wounded and helpless. When the girl finds that the sheriff is about to win, she cheats—but with a motive so noble that the act is one which every sympathetic man and woman must regard with approval. For thus the girl saves her lover from ignominious death.
