KITCHENER WORKS

15 HOURS A DAY

Only Short Time at Meals—Has Slept Out of London Only Four Times Since War Began

London, June 27.—(Correspondence)—Although he has just passed his 65th birthday, Lord Kitcheners shows no signs of breaking down under the 15-hour workday that he set for himself on taking charge of the War Office at the beginning of hostilities. In this interval he has slept out of London only four times. He has a bed in the war building for emergencies and always lunches there.

Lord Kitcheners' day begins at St. James Palace at seven in the morning. At 8-10 he spends ten or fifteen minutes at breakfast. Breakfast is followed by a walk in St. James park to the War Office, where he arrives at nine o'clock. Important despatches must first be cleared away. There are often meetings of the cabinet or of the high explosives or other committees to attend.

Lunch is a matter of fifteen minutes usually taken about 1.45. From then until 7.30 in the evening he works steadily. If there is business of extreme urgency on hand he continues without dinner. Otherwise he dines and stays on duty until 11 p. m. when he retires to bed in his room in St. James Palace. A somewhat rare relaxation of the War Lord is a drive into the country in his motor car. Ordinarily his walk in the park is his only exercise. He eats abstemiously, drinks nothing at meals and follows the king's example in regard to liquor. But he does enjoy a cigar after meals.

JAILED IN BERLIN

E. H. James Was Associated With Mylius, Libeler of King George

Berlin, July 15.—Edward Holton James, an American, who was arrested recently for alleged objectionable Socialistic propaganda, but later was released through the efforts of James W. Gerard, the American ambassador, on condition that he leave the country, has returned to Berlin and again been placed in prison. This time James has declined to appeal to the ambassador for aid, declaring that such an appeal would be inconsistent with his views of government.

James, who graduated from Harvard in 1896, will be remembered in connection with the prosecution, in England in 1911, of Edward F. Mylius. Mylius was charged with having libeled King George by the publication of an article in the Liberator of Paris, of which James was the editor. Mylius was convicted and sentenced to a year's imprisonment. He served ten months and then went to the United States, where he was ordered deported. An appeal from this decision, in which James personally pleaded the case of Mylius before Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel at Washington, finally resulted in Mylius being permitted to enter the country.

THE WORKER

Can only do things as well as he can see them. If he is a craftsman, his work will become more difficult and less reliable as his eyesight becomes impaired. If he is a brain worker, he will become slower and his task will grow burdensome.
