MONMOUTH.

(Progress is for sale in Monmouth at the Monmouth Book Store, Main street, A. H. Jones, and by J. E. McCoy.)

June 25.—The meeting of the New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island Methodist conference which has been held in Monmouth during the past week, and is still in progress. The services in connection with the meeting have been very impressive. In the Wesleyan Memorial church the floral decorations were very beautiful, and the music, under the direction of Miss Baird, and Mr. J. H. Wetmore was especially fine.

The Dolls' Carnival came off Thursday evening, and if those who were not quite certain what they expected, but anticipating a good deal, were disappointed, I do not know if anyone was to blame if the entertainment failed to come up to their expectations. Of course all public entertainments are open to legitimate criticism, and the present writer would not be telling the truth if he said that the presence of a full brass band in a comparatively small hall, added to the enjoyment of either the visitors or those in charge of the carnival. A brass band is a very good thing in its place, but it is one of those blessings which are most appreciated at a little distance, and when it is all about your ears it becomes an unmitigated annoyance, and is responsible for much ill temper, and innumerable headaches. It was impossible to hear oneself speak, on Thursday night, and as for hearing anyone else, no one tried to, but that was not by any means the fault of the band, which played exceptionally well, and gave some very choice selections.

Of the decorations of the hall, and the general management of the entertainment, it would be difficult to speak too highly in praise. The decorations were chiefly in white and green, the prettiest booth being the flower and candy stall which occupied the centre of the hall and was decorated in a most artistic manner by Mrs. George Daniel, who had charge of it; pressed ferns against a white background formed the leading design. Within Mrs. Daniel, assisted by a very attentive maid in white dresses with painted butterflies as head-dresses dispensed confectionary and sold flowers. The assistants were the Misses Gertrude, Fidelity, Mattie Cooke, Grace Busby, Edith Evans, Jane Harris, Mattie Whitely, Jessie Down, Dottie and Sadie Borden, Maggie Willett. The fancy table was in charge of Mrs. H. A. Price, Mrs. E. B. Hooper, and Mrs. George Daniel, while the refreshment table was cared for by Mrs. Burdett, Mrs. Weeks, and Mrs. E. W. Givran. The Misses Ada Williams, Lucy Whitney and Alice McEwen, had charge of the "Doll's Carnival" and were very beautiful fancy costumes. Mrs. J. E. McEwen, Miss Crockett, and Miss Holstead, dispensed cool and strictly temperance drinks from a sort of old Mother Hubbard's cupboard, and were quiet and pretty costumes. The ice cream room which was fitted up in an unusually comfortable, and sensible manner with a number of small tables, and was a shining example to the misery of the average bazaar ice cream booth, was presided over by Miss Cooke, Miss Harris, Miss Foster, and Miss Marks, who sold the ice cream from a charming little wagon apparently composed of frosted snow, which really was a skilful combination of cotton wool and diamond dust. Mrs. T. V. Cooke who was the originator and prime mover in the entertainment has reason to feel much pleased at the success of her efforts. I believe something over a hundred dollars was realized in aid of the fund for the home teaching of the blind.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ramsey of Canoe, are spending a fortnight in Monmouth, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Murray, Fleming, of Weldon street. Mr. Ramsey was formerly in the train despatcher's office at Canoe. He was married last week at Boston to Miss Kate White, also a former resident of Monmouth, and a sister of Mrs. Murray Fleming. Mr. Ramsey's many friends in Monmouth joined in wishing them every happiness.

Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Bradley returned yesterday from their visit to the World's Fair. Miss Constance Chandler, of Dorchester, who has been spending a few weeks with her sister, Mrs. R. W. Hewson, returned home on Friday. Monmouth people heard with very deep regret on Thursday morning of the death of Mr. W. C. Robinson, one of the most influential and respected citizens of Monmouth. Mr. Robinson's death was not unexpected, as he had been invalid for some years, and confined to his bed for the past five weeks. His illness originated in a throat trouble which developed into consumption and finally caused his death at the comparatively early age of 54. Mr. Robinson left a widow and three sons, Mr. W. C. Robinson, the funeral took place on Saturday afternoon from his residence on Alma street, and was very largely attended, the hearse being preceded by five hundred school children, who marched on their usual under the direction of their teachers, Mr. Robinson having been chairman of the board of school trustees, who were immediately after the children. The pall bearers were the three sons of the deceased and Dr. G. T. Smith. The services were conducted by Rev. John Read. The casket bore a beautiful floral trophy of roses, carnations and lilies.
