

DURBAR PICTURES DISPLAY WONDERS

Kinemacolor Films of Delhi and Calcutta Functions Well Illustrate Marvels of Empire's Greatest Pageants.

St. John has an opportunity this week to witness what is probably the last word in motion photography in the wonderful Kinemacolor pictures of the Delhi and Calcutta Durbar now being shown in the Opera House. The first performance was given last evening and was witnessed by a large and delighted audience. After seeing the pictures it is easy to understand why and how they played to such successful business and at regular dramatic company prices in the large theatres of upper Canada and the United States, for they are beyond question, the most wonderful of the kind ever seen in St. John.

Ordinary adjectives hardly describe the grandeur and wonder of these views of the great Indian pageants in which the King-Emperor and Queen-Empress were the central and dominant figures and the completion of which was awaited with bated breath by practically the whole civilized world. Noted word painters assigned to "cover" the Durbar last December, reported that it was very difficult to adequately present in words, the glories of the occasion, or the wonderful riot of color and gorgeousness of fact which formed the setting for practically every function. In a modified form the same sentiment applies to the pictures of the great event, for there is no adequate precedent by which they may be judged and compared.

Surfing it is to say that the pictures which will be seen at the Opera House all this week transfer in smallest detail to the pictures of the Durbar ceremony from its original setting in Delhi and Calcutta to the Canadian winter port with this advantage, that the St. John auditor is enabled to see everything from a position of vantage. It is easily apparent that Mr. Upton, the director of the color photography was given every opportunity to preserve the Durbar scenes for posterity through the medium of the Kinemacolor. He was able to get intimate views and make the most of his chances.

To every citizen who feels a pride in his British citizenship these pictures will appeal with a double interest. Not only do they show the perfection of color photography, but also and of far more importance do they illustrate in a novel and wonderful way the great art and power of the Empire of Britain.

The vast plain in the Durbar encampment where 50,000 troops representing white and black, Caucasian and Indian, gathered from English villages and teeming cities, to the snow-capped fastnesses of northern Indian mountains, or the paddy fields of central India, Sikhs, Gurkhas, Bengalis, Pathans, killed Scots, Irish, Poles, or English guards, rubbing shoulders in one grand ensemble intended to do honor and respectful homage to the King-Emperor, is a scene that all, brings home the imperialistic idea with a convincing force.

Through all the pictures there is a gorgeous riot of color, and kaleidoscopic mingling of picturesquely garbed men of all races. The smart trappings of the English troops stand out in sharp and businesslike contrast to the luxury of the east, as illustrated by the native rulers gathered to acknowledge their King and presenting for the occasion all the wonderful wealth and splendor of their semi-barbaric courts.

A pathetic and intensely interesting feature, is the procession of the Indian Mutiny veterans of all colors and conditions. They are snatched in good time by the operators as they marched, singly, it is true, but with soldierly precision, their old heads held high, past the Royal Ensign to salute their King-Emperor.

It is hard to imagine any event or pageant which could compare with the Durbar for the purposes of color motion photography. The opportunity was unique and the way it was appreciated by the Kinemacolor operators shows that they realized it to the full.

The first performance last evening was especially good, but even better is promised for the remainder of the week. As a certain rather some interesting dog pictures were shown in which several well known breeds of dogs were illustrated in their natural colors. The fidelity of the picture was at once apparent to the audience and served to prepare them for the wonderful exactness of the Durbar films which followed.

The pictures will be shown every afternoon and evening this week. There will be a change of bill commencing on Thursday when other events of the Royal visit to India will be presented. They are well worth seeing and on their merits should play to capacity houses.

"SALT RHEUM"
Had It On Hands For Two Years.

ITCHED SO DID NOT KNOW WHAT TO DO.

Tried Three Doctors and Went to Hospital.

All skin diseases are more or less occasioned by a bad state of the blood, and so we can expect to be free from some form or other of skin trouble unless the blood is kept in good shape. All skin diseases can be very easily cured by the wonderful blood-cleansing properties of Burdock Blood Bitters.

This is due to the unrivaled purifying action of Burdock Blood Bitters on the blood, coupled with the thorough manner in which it cleanses and expels the impurities from the body.

Mrs. Richard Couture, White Head, Ont., writes:—"I have been bothered with salt rheum, on my hands, for two years, and it itched so I did not know what to do. I tried three doctors, and even went to Montreal to the hospital without getting any relief. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters, so I got three bottles, and before I had the second used I found a big change, and now to-day I am cured."

Burdock Blood Bitters has been on the market for about 35 years and is manufactured only by The T. Milliken Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

MAT WELLS WILL FIGHT HILL LANG

New York, April 29.—George McDonald, manager of Matt Wells, the English lightweight champion, announced today that Wells had been matched to meet Hill Lang at the new stadium, Toronto, about the 21st of May and would leave New York shortly to begin training in Toronto for the match.

McDonald also issued a statement in which he says that he was "not surprised at Wells' putting up such a poor showing on Friday" when Wells met Packer McFarland. McDonald said that Wells was to have met Jack Carey in Rochester on April 11, but that Carey wired and said that "Pittsburgh had called their bout off."

Meanwhile Wells had signed to meet Packer and was left no time to get a fight before the match, although Wells to have a couple of fights before meeting McFarland.

New York, N. Y., April 29.—The Milwaukee Automobile Dealers' Association yesterday made formal application to the contest board of the American Automobile Association for the 1912 Vanderbilt Cup race, and the association states that a date between Sept. 15 and Oct. 1 would be acceptable.

At a meeting of the contest board held yesterday at national headquarters, No. 437 Fifth avenue, the following records were officially accepted and allowed:
One mile circular dirt track records—15 miles, 13m 30s, Disbrow, Simplex, San Jose, Cal., April 14, 1912; 20 miles, 17m 57s, Disbrow, Simplex, San Jose, Cal., April 14, 1912; 15 miles, 22m 26s, Disbrow, Simplex, San Jose, Cal., April 14, 1912.

The report of the non-stop motor test of a Warren-Detroit car made by the Matheson Sales Company, of Oakland, Cal., under official sanction grant No. 418, was officially accepted and allowed. The car was operated over the streets of Oakland and the country roads adjacent thereto.

GOVERNOR OBJECTS TO FIGHTING

Springfield, Mo., April 29.—Despite Governor Hadley's order that the local officials must not allow the scheduled boxing contest between (raz) Morris and Luther McCarty to take place here next Friday night, J. H. Hannon, county prosecutor, said today he would not interfere in the bout if it was held in compliance with the state laws.

Mason, who is a member of the club under whose auspices the fight is to be given, said the governor would have to call out the militia to stop the contest.

The sheriff said he would not act without orders from the prosecutor.

RIVERS IS CALIFORNIA'S CLEVEREST

Los Angeles, Cal., April 29.—Joe Rivers, California's cleverest young boxer, after romping through the bantam and featherweight divisions at a winning sail, stands on the threshold of the lightweight class matched to box the champion, Ad Wolgast, on July 4 at Vernon.

Options differ as to the degree of success that will mark the Mexican's invasion of the 125-pound territory. It is interesting to note what Wolgast thinks of his prospective opponent.

The champion is known to practical "keep books" on the boys of his class.

"Rivers looks like another Eddie Hanlon to me and I believe that fate has the same finish in store for Joe as the one that put Hanlon on the shelf," says Ad.

"Eddie started to box before he was out of knee breeches. He looked like a world beater at the beginning, but he was too young to stand the wear and tear of training and boxing. According to my way of thinking the same thing goes for Rivers."

MARATHONS SIGNING PLAYERS

That the Marathon baseball club, which will represent St. John in the New Brunswick and Maine league, will be ready for the season when the first game is called on May 24th, is evidenced from the fact that Joe Page has already signed five men who will be seen in a Marathon uniform this season. They are Ramsay, Copeland and Riley who are well known here and two importations whose signatures were secured to Marathon contracts yesterday.

The imported men are George Lamb known to ball players in the eastern states as "Sunny" Lamb, and George Sullivan, who was here for the St. Johns the last part of last season. Lamb is a pitcher and outfielder. Short in stature and built on the general lines of Willie Keeler, the midget wonder of the big leagues, he is reported to be very fast. He has been playing in the best semi-pro. teams in Massachusetts and also with the Pawtucket team in the Connecticut-Rhode Island league. Lamb is said to be a heavy pitcher with lots of smoke and good control. He went through last season in a semipro. team and made a record which attracted the attention of the baseball magnates and it is likely that this will be his last season outside of major league company.

Sullivan covered first base during the last part of last year for the St. Johns and in his work here showed himself to be a steady first baseman and a good hitter.

Although Mr. Page will not announce his lineup for the season until the opening game, it would not be surprising to see Sullivan on first, Ramsay on second, and Cope in his old position at shortstop. Riley is it believed, will be found in the outfield as usual.

The meeting of the representatives to the league will be held in Fredericton on Wednesday and from messages received by D. B. Donald, of the Marathons, it is likely that the schedule and by-laws suggested will be adopted with but minor changes. So far all is harmonious in the league, every member seemingly animated with the sole idea of making the season the most successful ever seen in St. John. There is every reason to believe that the St. John baseball fans will see the fastest action of ball this year that has been played here for a long time.

DONNELLY DISCUSSES THE SPITTER

By Ed Donnelly.
In the first place I would advise young pitchers not to use the spitter. It is a ball that may be safely and successfully used only after a practice much longer than the average amateur can give to it. But once properly acquired, the spitter can be pitched without injury to the arm if the proper precautions are taken.

Second: Never snap the ball; you weaken a whip every time you snap it, and you arm, in pitching the spitter, is just like a whip.

Third: Pitch the ball with a full swing of the arm, and don't try to stop your hand in mid-air as soon as the ball has left it. Such stopping of the arm can have no possible effect on the ball and in time will work serious injury.

Fourth: The matter of control. The spitter can be controlled just as well as any other curved ball. I get my control, by, after having moistened my fingers, laying the index and middle fingers along the seams where these narrow together. This prevents the ball from slipping sideways when I release it.

In pitching to right-handers, I turn my hand almost directly over the ball, slightly towards the right. My index finger, is thus at the time of delivery, slightly higher in the air than my middle finger.
