ohn Galsworthy, the Author, Issue Appeal for Contributions for Belgian Relief.

London, May 8, 8.20 p. m.-In the ding to John Galsworthy,

After citing how Belgium stood to her uns, Mr. Galsworthy says:

"In return, what is Great Britain dong—spending money and blood, like water to drive the Germans out of Belgium? Yes. But let us be honest. We hould have had to do that in any case, tice and humanity."

Mr. Galsworthy adds that it is true that England is harboring 200,000 Belgians, but that this is not enough for her to do. Money, he says, has poured in from Canada, Australia and the United States for the Belgians, "but from ourselves there has been practically nothing eiven." nission for Relief in Belgium are now ailing fast, Mr. Galsworthy argues that t is up to Great Britain to step into

Laren, both of whom fell, and the Sixteenth Canadian Highlanders, made a desperate attack on the German position and recaptured the four guns. They vere supported by the Second Bastern Battalion under Colonel David Watson, Queen's Own, under Colonel Rennie. "This was the position up to the forenoon of Friday, the 23rd. With the Canadian Highlanders extended to double their normal trench front, one-half of it in the open, and assisted by the Tenth Battalion, from Southern Alberta, Manitoba and Saskatchewan, they not only held ten times their own maintained their position, but the loss, as must have been expected, was ap-

"However, the Germans had advanced six miles to the rear of the French, sition and there seemed nothing to prevent their getting in behind the Cana dian line, greatly extended as it was and terribly diminished. Accordingly, another brilliant charge was carried out at some German trenches to the rear of the former French positions, under General Mercer, with the First and Fourth Battalions of the First Brigade, supported by the Second and Third, and the German trenches, temporarily erected, were recaptured. In this movement two British brigades also took part, as well as the remainder of the Canadians.

"Meantime the enemy concentrated able to hold firm against great odds, several divisions on the rectangle in the Highlander Brigade, that is, the ex-"The troops in the trenches were but the scattered fragments holding the mans being in front, on the left flank, and on the rear. FOUGHT WHILE CARTRIDGE REMAINED.

"Whether the gallant Highlanders were annihilated or taken prisoners, is not wn, but so long as a cartridge remained they fought.

Thus, the fighting which began on Friday afternoon, raged throughout that evening and night, until daylight on Saturday, when the First Canadian Brigade arrived and reinforced. "Early in that forenoon three British brigades came up also, and did valiant service in reinforcing and prolonging the lines to the left. During Saturday and Sunday the fighting continued by the Canadians and British and ably assisted by the French and Belgians, the line of defence was reformed. "The Canadians have suffered severely, but their heroism is unquestioned. Many of them were without food or water for upwards of twenty-four hours, and some for much longer, but they unflinchingly held their positions."
