

AGRICULTURE

Potato Growers of Province Warned to Take Action—Canadian Crops, on Whole, Are Promising.

The potato crop may be greatly damaged, or perhaps a complete failure during the present season, unless farmers immediately adopt measures to prevent late blight or rust, which is usually favored by wet, cloudy weather.

The shortage in the potato crop last year throughout America was due largely to late blight. This disease was more prevalent than usual, on account of the general heat.

Now is the time to adopt preventive measures if the best results are to be obtained. Indeed, if the potato crop is to be benefited to such an extent, growers should start spraying immediately, or when the plants are from six to eight inches high.

Several strengths of the solution have been recommended, but either of the following will give good results: Four pounds of copper sulphate, four pounds of lime (freshly slaked), forty gallons water, or the same formula, using six pounds of copper sulphate, has been recommended by some experimenters.

Separate stock solutions of the lime and copper sulphate will keep indefinitely and may be made up at the beginning of the season, but the Bordeaux resulting from the mixture will not keep and should be made up only as needed.

Disolve considerable copper sulphate (sufficient for the season) at the rate of one pound in a gallon of water by shaking the lime and add water to make a milk of lime, equal to one pound in a gallon of water.

To make the required mixture dilute four gallons of the copper sulphate solution with one or two gallons of water and add to the milk of lime (after straining) to twenty gallons, and mix these two diluted solutions in the spray tank.

POTATOES

POTATOES AS MUCH AS IN N. B.

Potatoes are now selling in Havana for $6 a barrel. The market there feels a marked exhaustion, and coupled with this comes an extremely active demand.

The Havana market for fish in drums has been quiet during the week, but some animation can be expected within a time.

An active demand has prevailed for fish in cases, with the same prices in almost every case.

The demand for bleachers has been very light, but the price of $100 per large box remains unchanged.

The market for Gouda cheese has been quiet, but there is a very light inquiry prevailing, while some holders are eeding in prices.

The annual school meetings were held in Douglastown and Northville on Thursday night.

The annual school meetings were held in Douglastown and Northville on Thursday night. The Douglastown twenty-one repeaters were present.

MARSHMEN HAVE

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE AS NEARLY AS TOPPLES

The failure of the electric bell to work at the right moment came very near causing a serious fatality at the new McAvity works on the Marsh road yesterday afternoon.

The chimney at the works is within thirteen feet of being finished. When completed it will stand 100 feet in the air.

Three men were working at the top yesterday afternoon. Anderson, Philbey and Sullivan, Messrs. McAvity and Sullivan are experts employed by the Canadian Kellogg Company.

Yesterday afternoon they had built up to the mark where it was necessary to travel upwards on its journey of 107 feet.

The pole on which the working platform was erected had been secured in the inside of the chimney and had been wedged there.

Both Douglastown and Northville districts have the school gardens this year.

Miss Marjorie Davidson left on Saturday from a trip to St. John and Digby. Inspector G. H. Gault was called in to St. Stephen to spend the summer holidays there.

SAFE-BLOWER AND

HIGHLY PRICED CAUGHT AT BORDER TOWN

Dick Trow, the famous English bandit, who feared neither law nor man, is not without a peer. Holding up a sheriff at the point of a gun, shooting another in the leg, blowing a safe of the United States post office at Robbinston (Me.), ransacking the residence of one of the wealthy families of Calais, committing a robbery at Eastport, and continuing through to Woodland, Tuesday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Black, after the bandit had shot the deputy in the leg.

The day's programme opened at Eastport Monday. A robbery was discovered a few minutes earlier and a large amount was committed. The marshal, who was summoned, hurried to the scene but did not arrive until the man had made his escape on the road to Calais.

Early Tuesday morning the sheriff and the caretaker went to the Clerke residence at Calais to investigate. In passing through one of the main rooms they found a door, usually open, bolted from the other side.

The celebration was brought to a close this evening when the venerable jubilarian was tendered a reception in St. Patrick's hall, Milltown, which was attended by people of all creeds.

Fifty years ago Father Doyle, with nine others, was ordained into the priesthood and he is the only survivor of that illustrious class.

His Lordship Bishop LeBlanc occupied the throne and Monsignor Doyle was the celebrant with a deacon, sub-deacon and master of ceremonies.

At 8 o'clock this afternoon a banquet for the priests was held in St. Patrick's hall and the children of the Sunday school were entertained on the lawn at the rectory from 3 to 5 o'clock.

Battles in Flanders O'ershadow Memory Of Battle of Boyne

Belfast Orangemen Omit Parade But Suspend Business in Honor of Men Fallen at Front in Ulster Division—Provincial Demonstrations Turned Into Recruiting Meetings—St. John Picnic Postponed.

Belfast, July 12, 5:30 p.m.—On account of the war and of their desire to assist the authorities to carry out the regulations established by martial law, the orangemen omitted today the annual procession in celebration of the Battle of the Boyne.

Although sunshine and soft breezes did not come with the dawn of the day to cheer the heart of the New Brunswick Orangemen for the Glorious Twelfth, the day eventually lived up to its reputation, and was bright and fair after all.

Four thousand visitors invaded the former town and witnessed a monster parade in which over 600 Orangemen took part. The music for the parade was furnished by Short's Military Band of St. Stephen and the Deer Island Band.

Sports had a prominent place on the day's programme. J. Wilkes, owned by C. H. McGee, of St. George, won both pacing races. The baseball game between St. George and Milltown proved interesting and resulted in a victory for the latter by the score of 4 to 1.

At Chipman the celebration was almost as large. Over 8,000 people came in on excursions from Sackville and Moncton and from Minto and the Range.

The ever-present feminine touch added considerable beauty to the parade. The ladies' lodges, in automobiles, accompanied the procession. The out-fitting was unusually generous in measuring out the sunbathing, for in the early afternoon thermometers registered 85 in the shade.

Foggy weather and threatening showers in the forenoon caused the postponement yesterday of the annual picnic of St. John Orangemen and their families, which was to have been held at the Courtenay Bay Heights. Old King Sol finally put in his appearance in the afternoon and hundreds of people, who had been waiting to be held, went out to the grounds, only to find the stands, booths and other buildings deserted.

The closing event of the day's programme was the grand ball, held in the lodge hall in the evening. The celebration attracted several hundred people from the surrounding communities, and Lorneville took on a holiday attire and enjoyed the festivities even if the outlook at the early part of the day might have discouraged those less stout of heart.

LIGHTKEEPER FREE OF ARSON CHARGE

Richibucto, July 10.—The county circuit court of Kent was held here last week, Judge Borden presiding.

The case of Frederick MacNeill, accused by Rosie Roy with the wilful burning of the building occupied by her on the south side, came up for trial. Louis J. Robichaud acted for the prosecution, Mr. A. Hutchinson was lawyer for the defence.

The jury disagreed and Mr. MacNeill, who is the lightkeeper at the beach, was allowed to go on his own recognizance to come before the court at any time when called upon.

N. B. NURSES ORGANIZE

Wednesday, July 12.—The organization meeting and the first session of the New Brunswick Association of Graduate Nurses was held last night in the board room of the General Public Hospital.

The officers were appointed as follows: President, Miss Williams. First vice-president, Miss Williams. Second vice-president, Miss Brophy. Recording secretary, Miss Kaine. Corresponding secretary, Miss Ada Burns.

In Fredericton on Wednesday, Mrs. Edward Owens died. She was eighty-four years of age and is survived by six sons, John, Frank and Louis of St. John, Joseph of Fredericton, Edmund of Seattle, and Peter of Montreal, and one daughter, Miss Mary E. Owens.

McAvity and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin N. S. Stewart who tomorrow will quietly celebrate the golden anniversary of their wedding in the country home of Mr. McAvity at Robshaw.

Mr. and Mrs. McAvity and Mr. and Mrs. Stewart were the principals in a double wedding which was solemnized in Trinity church on July 12, 1866, by the Rev. Wm. Armstrong and the Rev. Mr. MacNevin.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart have five children—Frederick Stanley Stewart, John, and George Howard Stewart, who is in the west, and three daughters, Mrs. J. H. Evans, of St. John; Mrs. F. J. G. Knowlton, of St. John, and Miss Nora Stewart, at home.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. McAvity and Mr. and Mrs. Stewart will unite in wishing them many years yet of married life and in extending their congratulations on their golden jubilee.

Ill-Advised Action.

The Montreal Star, most extensively circulated of any newspaper in Canada, takes up the statement of Sir Sam Hughes on the Ypres salient and, adding calm disapproval of the criticism of Kitchener, says that, to put the matter bluntly, the Ypres salient, which has proven invulnerable to German swords, may fall before British pens.

Perhaps the most sagacious remark contributed to the controversy is made by the Star's own writers. Lay opinion is not worth much in such a case as against military opinion; and military opinion on both sides (British and German) has from the first attached great importance to the Ypres salient, which the Germans have sacrificed thousands upon thousands of lives to get it—and they are presumed to be fair judges of military values.

The long report of Vice Admiral Sir John Jellicoe on the Jutland sea battle, and the official summary and interpretation of it given out by the British government, make it clear that the division of the British fleet into two parts, which resulted in such heavy losses of British life and tonnage, was fully intentional, its purpose having been in a general way to encourage the sea battle as the Germans meant.

The death of Mrs. Alice Keith Wentworth, of the late H. M. Wentworth, occurred at her home in Lynn, Mass., on June 29, at the age of fifty-nine years. Mrs. Wentworth leaves, besides her husband, three sons, Harry, of Denver, Bliss, of St. Louis, and Wallace, of New York, and three daughters, Mrs. W. B. Keith, of Lynn, Mass., and Judith and Blanche, of St. John. Deceased was a daughter of the late Daniel Keith, of Havelock.

Ontario: About one-third less grain

Named by the Celts of old, a fortress That stemmed the tide of Caesar's bold advance, Full many a year of high and proud romance, Hast thou beheld. The tramp of armed men, Made music round thy moated bastions when The Vandals and The Goth's invading lance Surged o'er the border into beauteous lands, Bringing rude hordes from northern steppes and Fen!

And now to-day another menace nears, Again a self-titled Caesar flings his sword in wrath on thee, scorning futile fears, Defies and brings to naught his bloody boast, For, crowned a queen among her mighty Verdun's high fame shall ring from coast to coast!

The death of Mrs. Alice Keith Wentworth, of the late H. M. Wentworth, occurred at her home in Lynn, Mass., on June 29, at the age of fifty-nine years. Mrs. Wentworth leaves, besides her husband, three sons, Harry, of Denver, Bliss, of St. Louis, and Wallace, of New York, and three daughters, Mrs. W. B. Keith, of Lynn, Mass., and Judith and Blanche, of St. John. Deceased was a daughter of the late Daniel Keith, of Havelock.

Ontario: About one-third less grain

Named by the Celts of old, a fortress That stemmed the tide of Caesar's bold advance, Full many a year of high and proud romance, Hast thou beheld. The tramp of armed men, Made music round thy moated bastions when The Vandals and The Goth's invading lance Surged o'er the border into beauteous lands, Bringing rude hordes from northern steppes and Fen!

And now to-day another menace nears, Again a self-titled Caesar flings his sword in wrath on thee, scorning futile fears, Defies and brings to naught his bloody boast, For, crowned a queen among her mighty Verdun's high fame shall ring from coast to coast!

The death of Mrs. Alice Keith Wentworth, of the late H. M. Wentworth, occurred at her home in Lynn, Mass., on June 29, at the age of fifty-nine years. Mrs. Wentworth leaves, besides her husband, three sons, Harry, of Denver, Bliss, of St. Louis, and Wallace, of New York, and three daughters, Mrs. W. B. Keith, of Lynn, Mass., and Judith and Blanche, of St. John. Deceased was a daughter of the late Daniel Keith, of Havelock.

Ontario: About one-third less grain

Named by the Celts of old, a fortress That stemmed the tide of Caesar's bold advance, Full many a year of high and proud romance, Hast thou beheld. The tramp of armed men, Made music round thy moated bastions when The Vandals and The Goth's invading lance Surged o'er the border into beauteous lands, Bringing rude hordes from northern steppes and Fen!

And now to-day another menace nears, Again a self-titled Caesar flings his sword in wrath on thee, scorning futile fears, Defies and brings to naught his bloody boast, For, crowned a queen among her mighty Verdun's high fame shall ring from coast to coast!

The death of Mrs. Alice Keith Wentworth, of the late H. M. Wentworth, occurred at her home in Lynn, Mass., on June 29, at the age of fifty-nine years. Mrs. Wentworth leaves, besides her husband, three sons, Harry, of Denver, Bliss, of St. Louis, and Wallace, of New York, and three daughters, Mrs. W. B. Keith, of Lynn, Mass., and Judith and Blanche, of St. John. Deceased was a daughter of the late Daniel Keith, of Havelock.

Ontario: About one-third less grain

Named by the Celts of old, a fortress That stemmed the tide of Caesar's bold advance, Full many a year of high and proud romance, Hast thou beheld. The tramp of armed men, Made music round thy moated bastions when The Vandals and The Goth's invading lance Surged o'er the border into beauteous lands, Bringing rude hordes from northern steppes and Fen!

And now to-day another menace nears, Again a self-titled Caesar flings his sword in wrath on thee, scorning futile fears, Defies and brings to naught his bloody boast, For, crowned a queen among her mighty Verdun's high fame shall ring from coast to coast!

The death of Mrs. Alice Keith Wentworth, of the late H. M. Wentworth, occurred at her home in Lynn, Mass., on June 29, at the age of fifty-nine years. Mrs. Wentworth leaves, besides her husband, three sons, Harry, of Denver, Bliss, of St. Louis, and Wallace, of New York, and three daughters, Mrs. W. B. Keith, of Lynn, Mass., and Judith and Blanche, of St. John. Deceased was a daughter of the late Daniel Keith, of Havelock.

Ontario: About one-third less grain

Named by the Celts of old, a fortress That stemmed the tide of Caesar's bold advance, Full many a year of high and proud romance, Hast thou beheld. The tramp of armed men, Made music round thy moated bastions when The Vandals and The Goth's invading lance Surged o'er the border into beauteous lands, Bringing rude hordes from northern steppes and Fen!

And now to-day another menace nears, Again a self-titled Caesar flings his sword in wrath on thee, scorning futile fears, Defies and brings to naught his bloody boast, For, crowned a queen among her mighty Verdun's high fame shall ring from coast to coast!

The death of Mrs. Alice Keith Wentworth, of the late H. M. Wentworth, occurred at her home in Lynn, Mass., on June 29, at the age of fifty-nine years. Mrs. Wentworth leaves, besides her husband, three sons, Harry, of Denver, Bliss, of St. Louis, and Wallace, of New York, and three daughters, Mrs. W. B. Keith, of Lynn, Mass., and Judith and Blanche, of St. John. Deceased was a daughter of the late Daniel Keith, of Havelock.

Ontario: About one-third less grain

Named by the Celts of old, a fortress That stemmed the tide of Caesar's bold advance, Full many a year of high and proud romance, Hast thou beheld. The tramp of armed men, Made music round thy moated bastions when The Vandals and The Goth's invading lance Surged o'er the border into beauteous lands, Bringing rude hordes from northern steppes and Fen!

And now to-day another menace nears, Again a self-titled Caesar flings his sword in wrath on thee, scorning futile fears, Defies and brings to naught his bloody boast, For, crowned a queen among her mighty Verdun's high fame shall ring from coast to coast!

The death of Mrs. Alice Keith Wentworth, of the late H. M. Wentworth, occurred at her home in Lynn, Mass., on June 29, at the age of fifty-nine years. Mrs. Wentworth leaves, besides her husband, three sons, Harry, of Denver, Bliss, of St. Louis, and Wallace, of New York, and three daughters, Mrs. W. B. Keith, of Lynn, Mass., and Judith and Blanche, of St. John. Deceased was a daughter of the late Daniel Keith, of Havelock.

Ontario: About one-third less grain

Named by the Celts of old, a fortress That stemmed the tide of Caesar's bold advance, Full many a year of high and proud romance, Hast thou beheld. The tramp of armed men, Made music round thy moated bastions when The Vandals and The Goth's invading lance Surged o'er the border into beauteous lands, Bringing rude hordes from northern steppes and Fen!

And now to-day another menace nears, Again a self-titled Caesar flings his sword in wrath on thee, scorning futile fears, Defies and brings to naught his bloody boast, For, crowned a queen among her mighty Verdun's high fame shall ring from coast to coast!

The death of Mrs. Alice Keith Wentworth, of the late H. M. Wentworth, occurred at her home in Lynn, Mass., on June 29, at the age of fifty-nine years. Mrs. Wentworth leaves, besides her husband, three sons, Harry, of Denver, Bliss, of St. Louis, and Wallace, of New York, and three daughters, Mrs. W. B. Keith, of Lynn, Mass., and Judith and Blanche, of St. John. Deceased was a daughter of the late Daniel Keith, of Havelock.

Ontario: About one-third less grain

Named by the Celts of old, a fortress That stemmed the tide of Caesar's bold advance, Full many a year of high and proud romance, Hast thou beheld. The tramp of armed men, Made music round thy moated bastions when The Vandals and The Goth's invading lance Surged o'er the border into beauteous lands, Bringing rude hordes from northern steppes and Fen!

And now to-day another menace nears, Again a self-titled Caesar flings his sword in wrath on thee, scorning futile fears, Defies and brings to naught his bloody boast, For, crowned a queen among her mighty Verdun's high fame shall ring from coast to coast!

The death of Mrs. Alice Keith Wentworth, of the late H. M. Wentworth, occurred at her home in Lynn, Mass., on June 29, at the age of fifty-nine years. Mrs. Wentworth leaves, besides her husband, three sons, Harry, of Denver, Bliss, of St. Louis, and Wallace, of New York, and three daughters, Mrs. W. B. Keith, of Lynn, Mass., and Judith and Blanche, of St. John. Deceased was a daughter of the late Daniel Keith, of Havelock.

Ontario: About one-third less grain

Named by the Celts of old, a fortress That stemmed the tide of Caesar's bold advance, Full many a year of high and proud romance, Hast thou beheld. The tramp of armed men, Made music round thy moated bastions when The Vandals and The Goth's invading lance Surged o'er the border into beauteous lands, Bringing rude hordes from northern steppes and Fen!

And now to-day another menace nears, Again a self-titled Caesar flings his sword in wrath on thee, scorning futile fears, Defies and brings to naught his bloody boast, For, crowned a queen among her mighty Verdun's high fame shall ring from coast to coast!

The death of Mrs. Alice Keith Wentworth, of the late H. M. Wentworth, occurred at her home in Lynn, Mass., on June 29, at the age of fifty-nine years. Mrs. Wentworth leaves, besides her husband, three sons, Harry, of Denver, Bliss, of St. Louis, and Wallace, of New York, and three daughters, Mrs. W. B. Keith, of Lynn, Mass., and Judith and Blanche, of St. John. Deceased was a daughter of the late Daniel Keith, of Havelock.

Ontario: About one-third less grain

Named by the Celts of old, a fortress That stemmed the tide of Caesar's bold advance, Full many a year of high and proud romance, Hast thou beheld. The tramp of armed men, Made music round thy moated bastions when The Vandals and The Goth's invading lance Surged o'er the border into beauteous lands, Bringing rude hordes from northern steppes and Fen!

And now to-day another menace nears, Again a self-titled Caesar flings his sword in wrath on thee, scorning futile fears, Defies and brings to naught his bloody boast, For, crowned a queen among her mighty Verdun's high fame shall ring from coast to coast!

The death of Mrs. Alice Keith Wentworth, of the late H. M. Wentworth, occurred at her home in Lynn, Mass., on June 29, at the age of fifty-nine years. Mrs. Wentworth leaves, besides her husband, three sons, Harry, of Denver, Bliss, of St. Louis, and Wallace, of New York, and three daughters, Mrs. W. B. Keith, of Lynn, Mass., and Judith and Blanche, of St. John. Deceased was a daughter of the late Daniel Keith, of Havelock.

Ontario: About one-third less grain

Named by the Celts of old, a fortress That stemmed the tide of Caesar's bold advance, Full many a year of high and proud romance, Hast thou beheld. The tramp of armed men, Made music round thy moated bastions when The Vandals and The Goth's invading lance Surged o'er the border into beauteous lands, Bringing rude hordes from northern steppes and Fen!

And now to-day another menace nears, Again a self-titled Caesar flings his sword in wrath on thee, scorning futile fears, Defies and brings to naught his bloody boast, For, crowned a queen among her mighty Verdun's high fame shall ring from coast to coast!

The death of Mrs. Alice Keith Wentworth, of the late H. M. Wentworth, occurred at her home in Lynn, Mass., on June 29, at the age of fifty-nine years. Mrs. Wentworth leaves, besides her husband, three sons, Harry, of Denver, Bliss, of St. Louis, and Wallace, of New York, and three daughters, Mrs. W. B. Keith, of Lynn, Mass., and Judith and Blanche, of St. John. Deceased was a daughter of the late Daniel Keith, of Havelock.

Ontario: About one-third less grain

Named by the Celts of old, a fortress That stemmed the tide of Caesar's bold advance, Full many a year of high and proud romance, Hast thou beheld. The tramp of armed men, Made music round thy moated bastions when The Vandals and The Goth's invading lance Surged o'er the border into beauteous lands, Bringing rude hordes from northern steppes and Fen!

And now to-day another menace nears, Again a self-titled Caesar flings his sword in wrath on thee, scorning futile fears, Defies and brings to naught his bloody boast, For, crowned a queen among her mighty Verdun's high fame shall ring from coast to coast!

The death of Mrs. Alice Keith Wentworth, of the late H. M. Wentworth, occurred at her home in Lynn, Mass., on June 29, at the age of fifty-nine years. Mrs. Wentworth leaves, besides her husband, three sons, Harry, of Denver, Bliss, of St. Louis, and Wallace, of New York, and three daughters, Mrs. W. B. Keith, of Lynn, Mass., and Judith and Blanche, of St. John. Deceased was a daughter of the late Daniel Keith, of Havelock.

Ontario: About one-third less grain

Named by the Celts of old, a fortress That stemmed the tide of Caesar's bold advance, Full many a year of high and proud romance, Hast thou beheld. The tramp of armed men, Made music round thy moated bastions when The Vandals and The Goth's invading lance Surged o'er the border into beauteous lands, Bringing rude hordes from northern steppes and Fen!

And now to-day another menace nears, Again a self-titled Caesar flings his sword in wrath on thee, scorning futile fears, Defies and brings to naught his bloody boast, For, crowned a queen among her mighty Verdun's high fame shall ring from coast to coast!

The death of Mrs. Alice Keith Wentworth, of the late H. M. Wentworth, occurred at her home in Lynn, Mass., on June 29, at the age of fifty-nine years. Mrs. Wentworth leaves, besides her husband, three sons, Harry, of Denver, Bliss, of St. Louis, and Wallace, of New York, and three daughters, Mrs. W. B. Keith, of Lynn, Mass., and Judith and Blanche, of St. John. Deceased was a daughter of the late Daniel Keith, of Havelock.

Ontario: About one-third less grain

Named by the Celts of old, a fortress That stemmed the tide of Caesar's bold advance, Full many a year of high and proud romance, Hast thou beheld. The tramp of armed men, Made music round thy moated bastions when The Vandals and The Goth's invading lance Surged o'er the border into beauteous lands, Bringing rude hordes from northern steppes and Fen!

And now to-day another menace nears, Again a self-titled Caesar flings his sword in wrath on thee, scorning futile fears, Defies and brings to naught his bloody boast, For, crowned a queen among her mighty Verdun's high fame shall ring from coast to coast!

The death of Mrs. Alice Keith Wentworth, of the late H. M. Wentworth, occurred at her home in Lynn, Mass., on June 29, at the age of fifty-nine years. Mrs. Wentworth leaves, besides her husband, three sons, Harry, of Denver, Bliss, of St. Louis, and Wallace, of New York, and three daughters, Mrs. W. B. Keith, of Lynn, Mass., and Judith and Blanche, of St. John. Deceased was a daughter of the late Daniel Keith, of Havelock.

Ontario: About one-third less grain

Named by the Celts of old, a fortress That stemmed the tide of Caesar's bold advance, Full many a year of high and proud romance, Hast thou beheld. The tramp of armed men, Made music round thy moated bastions when The Vandals and The Goth's invading lance Surged o'er the border into beauteous lands, Bringing rude hordes from northern steppes and Fen!

And now to-day another menace nears, Again a self-titled Caesar flings his sword in wrath on thee, scorning futile fears, Defies and brings to naught his bloody boast, For, crowned a queen among her mighty Verdun's high fame shall ring from coast to coast!

The death of Mrs. Alice Keith Wentworth, of the late H. M. Wentworth, occurred at her home in Lynn, Mass., on June 29, at the age of fifty-nine years. Mrs. Wentworth leaves, besides her husband, three sons, Harry, of Denver, Bliss, of St. Louis, and Wallace, of New York, and three daughters, Mrs. W. B. Keith, of Lynn, Mass., and Judith and Blanche, of St. John. Deceased was a daughter of the late Daniel Keith, of Havelock.

Ontario: About one-third less grain

Named by the Celts of old, a fortress That stemmed the tide of Caesar's bold advance, Full many a year of high and proud romance, Hast thou beheld. The tramp of armed men, Made music round thy moated bastions when The Vandals and The Goth's invading lance Surged o'er the border into beauteous lands, Bringing rude hordes from northern steppes and Fen!

And now to-day another menace nears, Again a self-titled Caesar flings his sword in wrath on thee, scorning futile fears, Defies and brings to naught his bloody boast, For, crowned a queen among her mighty Verdun's high fame shall ring from coast to coast!

The death of Mrs. Alice Keith Wentworth, of the late H. M. Wentworth, occurred at her home in Lynn, Mass., on June 29, at the age of fifty-nine years. Mrs. Wentworth leaves, besides her husband, three sons, Harry, of Denver, Bliss, of St. Louis, and Wallace, of New York, and three daughters, Mrs. W. B. Keith, of Lynn, Mass., and Judith and Blanche, of St. John. Deceased was a daughter of the late Daniel Keith, of Havelock.

Ontario: About one-third less grain

Named by the Celts of old, a fortress That stemmed the tide of Caesar's bold advance, Full many a year of high and proud romance, Hast thou beheld. The tramp of armed men, Made music round thy moated bastions when The Vandals and The Goth's invading lance Surged o'er the border into beauteous lands, Bringing rude hordes from northern steppes and Fen!

And now to-day another menace nears, Again a self-titled Caesar flings his sword in wrath on thee, scorning futile fears, Defies and brings to naught his bloody boast, For, crowned a queen among her mighty Verdun's high fame shall ring from coast to coast!

The death of Mrs. Alice Keith Wentworth, of the late H. M. Wentworth, occurred at her home in Lynn, Mass., on June 29, at the age of fifty-nine years. Mrs. Wentworth leaves, besides her husband, three sons, Harry, of Denver, Bliss, of St. Louis, and Wallace, of New York, and three daughters, Mrs. W. B. Keith, of Lynn, Mass., and Judith and Blanche, of St. John. Deceased was a daughter of the late Daniel Keith, of Havelock.

Ontario: About one-third less grain

Named by the Celts of old, a fortress That stemmed the tide of Caesar's bold advance, Full many a year of high and proud romance, Hast thou beheld. The tramp of armed men, Made music round thy moated bastions when The Vandals and The Goth's invading lance Surged o'er the border into beauteous lands, Bringing rude hordes from northern steppes and Fen!

And now to-day another menace nears, Again a self-titled Caesar flings his sword in wrath on thee, scorning futile fears, Defies and brings to naught his bloody boast, For, crowned a queen among her mighty Verdun's high fame shall ring from coast to coast!

The death of Mrs. Alice Keith Wentworth, of the late H. M. Wentworth, occurred at her home in Lynn, Mass., on June 29, at the age of fifty-nine years. Mrs. Wentworth leaves, besides her husband, three sons, Harry, of Denver, Bliss, of St. Louis, and Wallace, of New York, and three daughters, Mrs. W. B. Keith, of Lynn, Mass., and Judith and Blanche, of St. John. Deceased was a daughter of the late Daniel Keith, of Havelock.

Ontario: About one-third less grain

Named by the Celts of old, a fortress That stemmed the tide of Caesar's bold advance, Full many a year of high and proud romance, Hast thou beheld. The tramp of armed men, Made music round thy moated bastions when The Vandals and The Goth's invading lance Surged o'er the border into beauteous lands, Bringing rude hordes from northern steppes and Fen!

And now to-day another menace nears, Again a self-titled Caesar flings his sword in wrath on thee, scorning futile fears, Defies and brings to naught his bloody boast, For, crowned a queen among her mighty Verdun's high fame shall ring from coast to coast!

The death of Mrs. Alice Keith Wentworth, of the late H. M. Wentworth, occurred at her home in Lynn, Mass., on June 29, at the age of fifty-nine years. Mrs. Wentworth leaves, besides her husband, three sons, Harry, of Denver, Bliss, of St. Louis, and Wallace, of New York, and three daughters, Mrs. W. B. Keith, of Lynn, Mass., and Judith and Blanche, of St. John. Deceased was a daughter of the late Daniel Keith, of Havelock.