WHERE TO BUILD THE NEW HOME

Nearly all old houses in this country stand in valleys. The reason is obvious: It was the matter of water supply. Today there is a craze for building on the very top of hills. In one way this is wise, for naturally the air is fresher. On the other hand such a location is very bleak, and it is difficult to make a garden on a windswept spot, for wind is the worst enemy a house has.

The ideal situation for a house is on the hillside gently sloping towards and south giving, but the greatest of all cleansing and disinfecting agents is the sun. It is in the south at noon all the year round, and sunlight it must be remembered, is not only warming but also dries and kills germs.

Some suits, not necessarily the most expensive, conform to this two-fold standard of perfection; others don't. They neither wear well nor clean well. The reason? Well, you "pussy-footed" them! For two or three months they never had a "drink" or got "dry".

Another aristocratic rancher recently passed through Montreal on a return visit to the ancestral estates in Transylvania, Hungary. This was Baron Josef Casovsky who, with his wife, Mrs. Andra, took over a 1,600-acre ranch last March near Cochrane, Alberta, on the Bow River. Incidentally the Baron was a passenger on the Trans-Canada on its first return trip of the season from Vancouver.

The Indian Day Celebration at Banff, it is announced, will take place as usual this year on the third Thursday and Friday in July. Preparations are already under way for this event, which enjoys an enviable reputation as an Indian show. The Stoney Indians arrive in large numbers from their reservation to take part in the ceremonies, which are the 23rd annual celebration of the function.

Edward G. Taylor, one of the best known game fishermen on the continent is authority for the statement that New Brunswick is losing none of its lure as a fisherman's paradise. Just back from a trip to the Cains River, N.B., Mr. Taylor said salmon were steadily increasing in numbers and size in the province. He added that he had caught on this trip a salmon 42 inches long and weighing 24 lbs. In the autumn such a fish would likely weigh up to fifty pounds.

The following story is told of Sir William Van Horne, first president of the Canadian Pacific Railway and a Major Rogers, who was in charge of the supplies for men working along the track. Van Horne said: "Look here, Major, I hear your men work fast with you, they say you starve them." "Taint so, Van." "Well, I'm told you feed 'em on soup made out of water flavored with old ham canners covers." "Taint so, Van, I didn't never have no hams." -From "Canada's Great Highway," by J. H. E. Secretan.

The Western railways of the United States comprising 67 roads serving Chicago and the West, have petitioned the Inter-State Commerce Commission for permission to advance rates. They state that for the years 1921 to 1924 inclusive, the average rate of return on capital was 3.55 per cent, which they claim is so small as to render it impossible for them to secure working capital for extensions and improvement of service by the sale of stock or issue of bonds at reasonable terms. They ask for rates that would give them a net return of 5% per cent, which it is generally admitted is what railways should have.

A GROWING BOY

McCauley's boy has grown in rank in the savings bank some money stowed away! It's honest money, all his own and not his dad's at all; it's his to keep, invest or loan, it's subject to his call! It's not play-money by contrast, it's earned and had, with question mark and kink; nor is it money which he knows his father will demand to cut some mortgage that he owes or debt upon his land - it's money that he knows is his, the real, the honest thing, not wrapped around with theories nor fastened with a string.

That boy has grown a trip's inch, his chin is tilted high, his glance is straight without a flinch or shifting of the eye! Self confidence is in his smile, his jaw is set and firm, he has a courageous pose, a sure and steady poise, a look about his very clothes that's in many boys! This fellow's dad is very wise a method deed and plan; the lad through faith and mental size is helped to be a man.

A pound of melancholy will not pay an ounce of debts.

Here and There The popularity of the Nova Scotia apple is rapidly growing in Europe. 1,103,980 barrels and 8,693 boxes were shipped in 1924-25 to ports in England, Scotland and Germany. Shipments also went to Newfoundland, West Indies, Central Canada and the United States.

Production of sugar beets in Canada during 1924 amounted to 159,200 tons, valued at $1,922,650, and grown on 17,941 acres, according to the Bureau of Statistics. 6,000 acres have been planted to beets this year in Southern Alberta, due to the establishment of a sugar beet factory.

Milton Sills, the well-known movie actor, with a company of 32 other screen artists, passed through Montreal recently to take scenes in "The Come Back" in which he is featured. The party went to Beauchance, in Northern Quebec. Travelling by another train was a mother skunk and five kitten skunks which will also figure in the picture.

The 286 passengers on the Canadian Pacific S.S. Empress of France completed their 30,000-mile tour of the world on Saturday, May 23, when the vessel docked at New York. At their last stop at Havana, President Machado of Cuba invited the passengers to attend his official inauguration and to witness the unveiling of a statue to the preceding President.

A "COLD" SUMMER

When scientists disagree on weather prospects the usual general follows. Lieut.-Commander Brand believes this to be a cool summer, and 1924 a summerless year. That would be a world catastrophe indeed, and is indicated by ocean temperatures, 2 months or a year or two ahead. The oceans were unusually warm last year and in 1923, yet we had a cool summer in 1924. Then Prof. Cox declares definite scientific forecasts of weather have not come beyond one week, and even then they are not often wrong. We have not yet reached the point where we can, with any degree of accuracy, predict general weather conditions 2 months or a year or two ahead. The weather we have always with us, and experience alone, and astronomical conditions duplicated for centuries past, teach us that the seasons come regularly in their turn, and time, growing time, harvest time and winter in the temperate zones.

These are conclusions that appeal to common sense. The sun rules the days and the seasons. We may be sure it will be on the job this summer and the next and need not worry lest it fall. All experience is that long forecasts are but merely guesses, as the professor says.

Those who wish to find fault can always find a way, says an old adage. Grandma Flake was the cause of the neighborhood in which she lived. To carp and criticize is not difficult, since every one has some weak point, and grandma had her hands - or rather her mouth - full all the time. "She found special fault with young girls who were perverse enough to dress and behave differently from the fashions of fifty years ago, and one girl, Stella Dorsey, was grandma's pet aversion.

One day the censor saw - thought she saw - Stella drive past the house in a buggy with a gentleman, "carryin' on awfully." "I declare to goodness," said grandma, "it was scandalous! Talkin' an' laughin' an' screedin' like all possessed." "I've a mind to tell her mother!" "I wouldn't, grandma," said her granddaughter, smiling. "It's my dooty," persisted the old lady. "No it isn't, especially since it wasn't Stella."

"Land makes I know?" "No you don't. It was Dr. Barnes and his wife. Stella went to Montreal yesterday morning on a long visit." For a moment the old lady was silenced. But she quickly recovered and said firmly: "Well, then, the way Stella would have carried on if she had been there!"

One half hour each day spent in diligent work will keep the lawn and premises surrounding any house in our town in apple-order, and make our little city the garden spot of our fair country. -Justifying a fault doubles it.

Even nowadays we hear of otherwise shrewd Business Men who, if they have to speak with a non-out-of-town customer, think it necessary to go via the gasoline or steam route and see him.

PLEASURES OF BEING AN EDITOR

Yes, the average editor lives a quiet life 'midst peace and plenty. Has he ever occurred to you - That the more he labors to uplift his community, the more are his motives questioned? That if he takes a hand in local politics, he is accused of being crooked? That if he does not, he is accused of being a coward? That if he advocates public improvement, he is condemned and his motives are under suspicion? That if he stands for law and order, he is charged with truckling to the preachers? That if he takes a stand for prohibition, he is denounced as a fanatic? That if he advocates light wines and beer, he is branded as a drunken sot? That if he pays attention to a girl, the gossips say he should know better? That if he roasts the mill-order houses, he is told to mind his own business, that the people have a right to buy where they please? That if he publishes mail-order advertisements, the merchants land on him with both feet, but fail to advertise their own business? That if he loses his temper, he is called a "crank" and "touchy"? That the life of an average editor is indeed made exceedingly pleasant? That if the people would only realize the truth, they would boost the editors? That they are the greatest community leaders we have, though the writer knows he is a poor specimen? That the growth of not only the community but the whole county means your success? That you need him as much as he needs you? That this is enough for this time, but he hopes it will be taken to heart by all and that justice will yet reign triumphant.

After the service one Sunday morning the bishop was approached by an elderly woman who expressed great appreciation of his discourse. "Why, bishop," she said, "you never know what your service meant to me. It was just like water to a drowning man."

Pools make feasts and wise men eat them.
