CUE to the rescue

Continuing University Education is for YOU! Not only the Golden Olden types on Campus!

CUE is a body of people that satisfies the need for mutual support and companionship experienced by those returning to studies after a sojourn doing something else, usually outside the Academic field. If that is your experience, join us!

Originally under the auspices of the Dean of Women's Office, we found the generosity of other bodies on Campus so encouraging, that we eventually became strong enough to try our wings as an independent group.

Many students had been away from the Academic life for years before joining CUE and we experienced problems which simply did not exist for the student coming directly from High School. Enormous changes in the world at large were also

University machine, we found on our return to study. All but the very determined were overwhelmed by

- trying to obtain recognition

- enrollment day, when nobody seemed to realize that We Were Lost, most of the time

- completely altered attitudes and requirements in present day studies.

Only well on into the year did we realize THEY felt WE had all the answers! Then began a good trade - young people have been very generous with time to CUE members, too we had experience to share. It's such a rewarding task building bridges across it from either side simultaneously - productive too.

What is lacking usually is ability of the newcomer to plug in, to ask the right questions of the appropriate person or organization which stands ready, willing and able to help.

This is where CUE really comes in!

Anyone from 25 to 105 who needs to avail him/herself of the myriad services and day-to-day techniques for enjoying a useful University life is welcome to be with us. "The mutual help and support of fellow students with similar problems and experiences to share can help to make your education better the second time around."

Interest and help grew on Campus as the group has become better known. Faculty members aided with bug bears like re-establishing study habits, multiple choice test answers, novel and imaginative solutions to frustrations like "how to cope with English exams while training 5 children at home" and "what to do with the young while Dad completes his Term Paper for Friday" came out of sharing similar difficulties.

Keep fit classes for the Out of Shapes and Others were and are run by Physical Education Volunteers. Debbie Byers, under the direction of Dr. Ruby Anderson, are helping CUE members avoid the Great Canadian Scourge (FAT). Do please join us in the West II Gym (Phys. Ed. Bldg. basement) Every Monday and Wednesday if you possibly can, you will be the better for it!

Library staffs have been a constant source of help for bewildered borrowers and the lectures and tours arranged for us by Peggy Farrell continue to be popular.

Lectures, films, get-togethers, study sessions or just chewing the fat are things to look forward to for 1974-5.

Come along to CUE in Room 260 in the Students' Union Building - share your troubles and halve the load, share your fun and double the smiles on Campus. We hope to see you any Friday between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. at the sign of the Tortoise, where we progress by sticking out our necks!
