

Photo Exhibit in SUB

This month the Students' Union Art Gallery is pleased to display a collection of photographs from two very different Canadian photographers: Mattie Gunterman and Brian Wood.

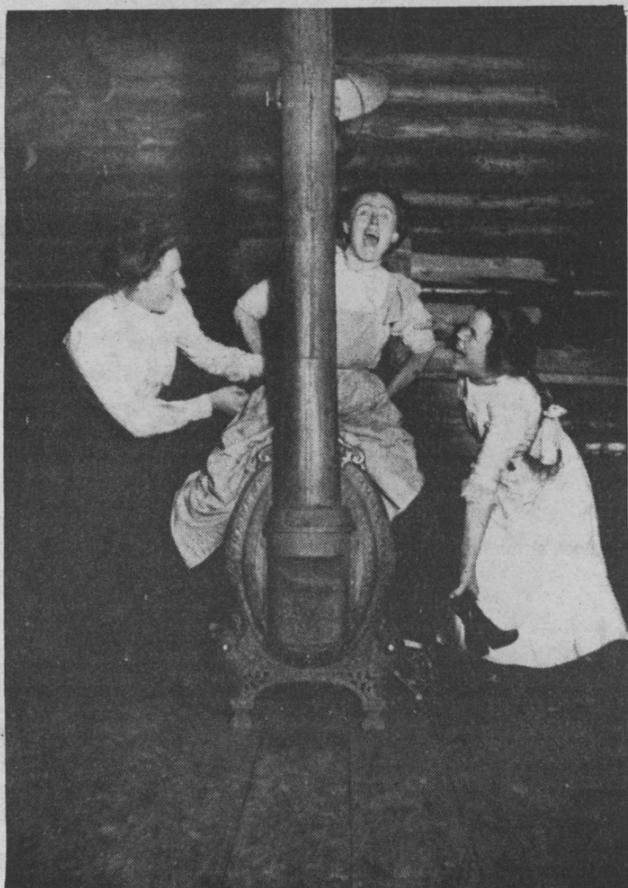

Mattie Gunterman was one of the many pioneers who helped settle the rugged interior of British Columbia during the 1890's. Her experience was partially recorded in her historical and sometimes personal photographs. Gunterman's collection provides the viewer with a rare and emotional insight into Canada's colorful past.

On the other end of the spectrum stands Brian Wood, a native-born Canadian artist now working in New York. Originally a painter from Saskatchewan, Wood has applied his cubist style to his newly acquired medium of photography. Not only has Wood found imagery in the ordinary scenes around him but has reshaped it into a creative and imaginative framework.

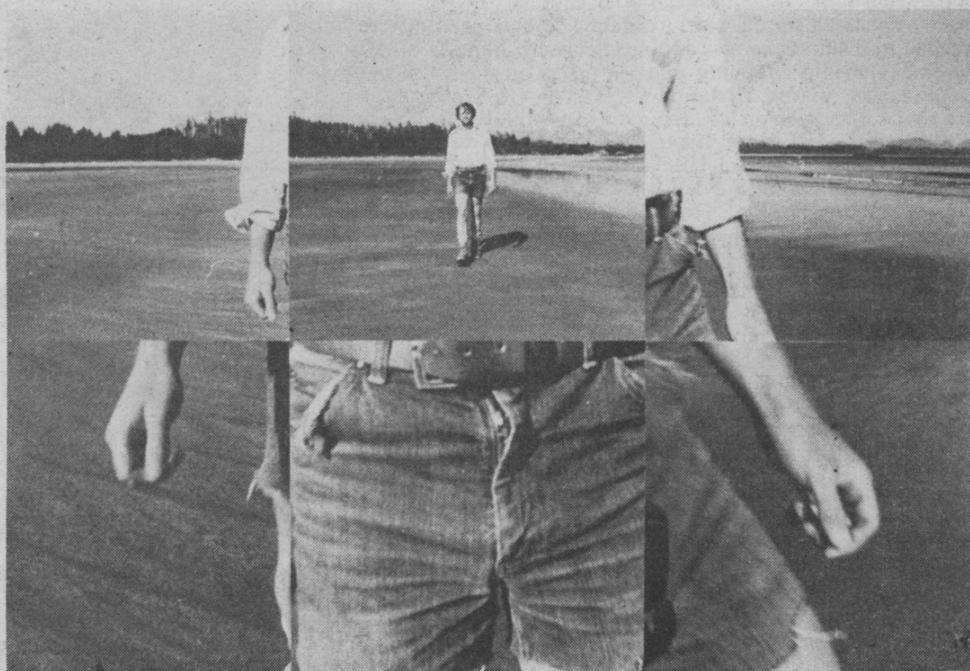

The exhibit can be seen until February 10 at the SUB Art Gallery.

"Grove" (detail) by Brian Wood, 1976.

Mattie Gunterman (on stove) with Rose and Ann Williams at the Nettie-L Mine, 1902.

"Crossing", 1979 by Brian Wood

"CONSUMERS BEWARE"

BE CAREFUL OF PURCHASING PRODUCTS FROM ANYONE WHO IS WORKING OUT OF A TEMPORARY RESIDENCE!

Products may be seconds, of poor quality, or not as advertised and once the temporary retailer is gone you will have no avenue for recourse. Always ask for a sales receipt with the name, address, and phone number.

Check to see if there is a business license in sight. It will identify the company and help in case of problems.

PERMANENT RETAILERS ARE INTERESTED IN CONTINUED SUPPORT FROM THEIR CLIENTELE AND CUSTOMER GOODWILL IS OF PRIMARY CONCERN TO THEM ... IT IS NOT TO THE TEMPORARY RETAILER.

AVOID POSSIBLE PROBLEMS
DO BUSINESS WITH PERMANENT
RETAILERS IN YOUR COMMUNITY. THEY ARE INTERESTED, AWARE, AND SENSITIVE TO YOU AND YOUR COMMUNITY'S NEEDS.

hub merchants assoc.