My Dear Mr King:-

You have been so good in the past as to speak kindly and in many high places of a certain letter of mine on the coal strike in our west and you have been good enough to write me in very eulogistic terms of this letter and my efforts. This has encouraged me to submit my address delivered by me on the school question and to ask that in your leisure you read and give me a frank criticism thereon. I believe that the system advocated is the only solution of schools for the isolated child, Am I right? In my "splendid isolation" here I am cut off from those whose companionship and counsel would be congenial i.e. I am in a splendid condition to receive your candid criticism.

Let me add my heartiest congratulations to you on the high office you are newly called upon to fill - Such posts offer a wide field for your special study on
